DUCKLINGS MAY BE DROWNED.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

It is essential to keep a plentiful supply of fresh, clean drinking water before young ducks. For this purpose shallow troughs or flat dishes are the best. Deep vessels are dangerous, as if the little ducks fall in, as they often do, they may find it impossible to climb out, and may easily be drowned. An automatic fountain flowing into a shallow trough would be the ideal water supply, since it is not to be regarded as a swimming bath, but mainly as a means by which the birds when feeding can cleanse their nostrils.

YESTERDAY IN THE LAW COURTS

REGISTRATION OF NAMES

A MULLINGAR CLAIM

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

Mr. R. S. Hogan (instructed by Messrs. N. J. Downes and Co.) applied on behalf of Francis Hourigan, Francis Gaynor and Ernest Fenton, all of Castle street, Mullingar, trading as "The Mullingar Motor and Electrical Engineering Works and the Mullingar Motor Works," for relief, pursuant to provisions of the Registration of Business Names Act, 1916, against disability arising under the Act by reason of the applicants' failure to register the business name under which they have been trading since September, 1925.

Counsel said that the applicants carried on the business of motor garage proprietors and motor dealers in Mullingar and had to issue a civil bill against a man for work done. This man raised the defence that the firm had not been registered in accordance with the Act. The registration had since been carried out, but there were other debts, amounting to about £1,000, which had been contracted by customers before the date of registration, and unless the relief sought was granted these amounts could not be recovered by action. The failure to register was due to ignorance of the provisions of the Act.

Mr. Justice Hanna, granting the application, said that it was rather an unusual one, the last order of the kind appearing to have been made in 1918.

"It is very important," he said, "especially at the present time, when so many new concerns are being started in this country, that the terms of this Act should be very strictly complied with, so that the parties dealing with such concerns may have facilities for knowing who the real parties at the back of the business may be."

LOUGHREA SEWAGE WORKS

JUDGMENT RESERVED

The hearing of the appeal in connection with an arbitration between Patrick Dillon, contractor, Glenworth street, Limerick; the Provincial Bank of Ireland, Ltd., and the County of Galway Board of Health and Public Assistance was concluded, and judgment was reserved.

The appeal was brought on behalf of the Board of Health from an order of the High Court that determined that, upon the true construction of a contract for work in relation to Loughrea sewage, dated April 20, 1925, Mr. Dillon was entitled in the arbitration to an award in respect of the work executed by him between the date of the expiration of a notice served on him on September 19, 1927, and May 14, 1928; and that the Board was not entitled to enforce the penalty of £10 a week for delay under the contract.

Mr. Denning, K.C., Mr. Leonard, K.C., and Mr. Art O'Connor (instructed by Mr. Louis O'Dea) appeared for the Galway Board of Health; and Mr. J. M. FitzGerald, K.C., Mr. Carson, K.C., and Mr. W. FitzGerald (instructed by Messrs. W. Fitt and Sons) for Patrick Dillon and the Provincial Bank.

PROPOSAL TO SELL A CANAL

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

Mr. McGonigal (instructed by Mr. Charles Laverty) applied ex-parte on behalf of Monaghan County Council for liberty to issue, for service out of the jurisdiction, four summonses against the Lagan Navigation Company, Belfast.

The summonses, said Mr. McGonigal, were for orders for the sale of a canal in County Monaghan, or rather property adjoining the canal, owned by the Lagan Navigation Company, who owed sums for rates due on the property. The property was in different collecting districts, so that it was necesssary to issue a summons on behalf of each of four collectors.

Mr. Justice Meredith granted the application.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A Commission of the Presbytery of Dublin met for the ordination of additional elders to the Kirk Session. The Rev. A. Gailey, B.A., preached the sermon and presided for the Moderator. Messrs. J. Valentine Beggs and William Browne were ordained, the Revs. R. K. Lyle, M.A., and R. Crossett, B.A., taking the Ordination prayers, and the charge was given by the Rev. J. S. Crockett, M.A.

The Session Committee and choir of Bray made a presentation of a handsome clock to Mr. A. S. M. Imrie, M.A., B.Sc., an elder of the congregation, who is taking up residence at St. Andrews, Fife. The presentation was made by Mr. Beggs, supported by speeches from J. S. Morris, O. R. Williams, the Rev. R. Crossett (pastor loci), and the Revs. A Gailey and J. S. Crockett.

Struck by lightning while driving a small truck at a Birmingham brickworks, yesterday, David Davis, aged 32, was taken to the General Hospital, Birmingham, but after treatment for shock was allowed to go home.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT

INSURANCE POLICY

ADMINISTRATOR'S CLAIM FAILS

(BEFORE JUDGE SHANNON.)

James Brennan, St. Theresa's, Belton Park, Dublin, as administrator of the estate of his brother, Patrick, deceased, sued the Refuge Assurance Company, 105 St. Stephen's Green, for £100, which he claimed to be due by the defendant company under an insurance policy, dated December 1st, 1930, and which was held by Patrick Brennan, who died November 12th, 1932.

Mr. Alec Lynn (instructed by Mr. John F. Murtagh) appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. R. Brereton Barry, K.C., and Mr. R. Hogan (instructed by Mr. M. Kiernan) represented the defendants.

For the defence it was contended that the assured had misrepresented his age at the date of the policy to be 45 years, when in fact he was 53; that he had fraudulently misrepresented that he had been accepted by the Phœnix Insurance Company at first-class rates, six years before the date of this policy; and that he had misrepresented that he had never suffered from any illness previous to the date of the policy on which the claim was based.

Dr. G. Mecredy, Sligo, in reply to Mr. Barry, said that he knew the late Patrick Brennan, whom he attended in 1928. He was suffering from inflamed glands in his neck.

Judge Shannon dismissed the claim with costs.

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS WELL MAINTAINED

LIMERICK, third city in the Irish Free State, hopes to benefit largely by the establishment of the proposed trans-Atlantic airport in the Shannon estuary. The history of the city's foundation goes back to the Danish invasion, and the first of its great public buildings was erected early in the twelfth century. King John's Castle still stands on the banks of the Shannon, and another imposing edifice—St. Mary's Cathedral—was originally built as a palace by the first King of Thomond. The old walls which enclosed the city during two memorable sieges have now virtually vanished, and the little that remains of them is hidden away in a few obscure corners, unnoticed, for the great part, except by those interested in antiquarian research.

Modern Limerick traces its development to the beginning of the last century, and embraces many industrial and commercial concerns. The city's Charter, dating from 1172, is older than that of London.

In industrial activity Limerick has made definite progress within recent years, and instances of this are evident in the trade returns. In 1926 the Harbour Board secured powers for improving the port, and to-day the result is seen in an extension of the dock basin by nearly seven acres. Berthage will in future be provided for four additional ocean-going steamers. This improvement, which has cost the Harbour Board £120,000, will be an added factor in increasing sea-borne traffic. A plan to connect the port with the railway line at a point in the Great Southern system near the Carey's road Goods Dépôt is in the course of construction.

PORT TRADE MAINTAINED.

Despite changing economic conditions and the Government industrial policy, trade at the port is fairly well maintained. Recent returns indicate an increase in exports, notably in cattle, while imports, save wheat and sugar, are up to the average.

Work on the new dock commenced in 1933, but the construction was somewhat delayed when, in the early stages, water burst into the new dock from the old one. In the initial construction the contractors, Messrs. Moran, of Dublin, had to excavate 250,000 cubic yards of clay and rock, and the completed dock contains over 25,000 cubic yards of concrete. The dock walls measure 32ft. from top to bottom, and at their base are 20ft. wide.

In the flour-milling industry two mills have been kept running without intermission. Output has been increased, and normally the number of hands employed is in excess of that prior to the embargo placed on foreign flour. Two new silos have been erected at the dockside for Messrs. Rank (Ireland), Ltd., for the treatment of foreign and home-grown wheat. Each provides accommodation for 6,000 tons. The bacon industry, for which Limerick is famous, is flourishing. Three factories—those of Messrs. W. J. Shaw and Sons, Messrs. J. Matterson and Sons, and Messrs. O'Mara, Ltd.—are giving full-time employment to nearly eight hundred hands, and are handling between them an average of 5,000 pigs a week.

CLOTHING.

The Limerick Clothing Factory, an industry of long-standing, founded by the late Sir Peter Tate, Mayor of the city in the early sixties, is increasing its business week by week, and gives employment to between three and four hundred workers.

Tobacco manufacturing is also an old local industry. Two factories—those of Messrs. C. Spillane and Sons and Messrs. J. Clune and Co.—command a good home trade, and their brands are well known in every part of Ireland. In the tanning industry Limerick occupies a foremost position, and since the restriction of imported leather the firm of Messrs. O'Callaghan and Co. has greatly augmented its staff. There has been a substantial increase in boot and shoe leather, in which they specialise, especially since the establishment in the city of the Shoe and Slipper Factory and Sandals, Ltd. The latter industries are equipped with the most modern machinery, and are giving employment to a large number of skilled workers.

OTHER INDUSTRIES.

Another thriving industry is the manufacture of condensed milk carried on at the Lansdowne Works. This Government-controlled enterprise finds employment for more than two hundred workers, and its products make their way to the most widely-scattered markets. There is a big demand for the milk in Empire countries, as well as by the better-known lines of steamships trading abroad. Another branch of this industry in Limerick is the manufacture of confectionery.

Furniture-making and biscuit-making, and many others, are also among the city's industries, and in the course of the next few weeks Irish Wire Products, Ltd., a new firm, which has acquired a site of four acres at the docks, will commence the erection of a factory. Tenders have already been invited, and the firm will concentrate on the manufacture of screws, nuts, bolts, nails and kindred commodities. Employment it expected to be provided for 200 skilled and unskilled workers all the year round.

It is likely that Limerick will also be the site of one of the two cement factories to be erected in the Free State. The promoters have acquired an option on a piece of ground at the dock-side for this purpose.

Housing, in which the Corporation is playing a prominent part, is being speeded up. Within the past two years 400 houses have been built, and at the moment 100 more are in the course of erection. Before the expiry of the present year the Corporation's contribution to the housing problem is expected to be something like 300. With this object slum-clearance is being rapidly carried through under the supervision of the City Manager, Mr. T. C. O'Mahony.

In the matter of amusements Limerick is well supplied. There are five cinemas in the city, and, following the opening of the new Savoy some months ago, comes the announcement that the Grand Central Cinema is to be completely equipped with the very latest type of sound machinery, and that the theatre is to be completely re-seated, all contracts for the general equipment of the theatre being placed locally.

The racecourse at Greenpark, close to the city, was founded forty-six years ago, and as a jumping course is unrivalled. The St. Patrick's Day meeting held last week created a record from the point of view of the number of horses which competed, as well as the attendance of the members of the public who came to see them. The next meeting is to take place on May 20 and 21, and for this fixture an attractive bill of fare is in preparation. Entries for two of the events have already closed—namely, the Adare Hurdle Race of 200 sovs. with 45 entries, and the Ardnacrusha Steeplechase of 200 sovs. with 40 entries.

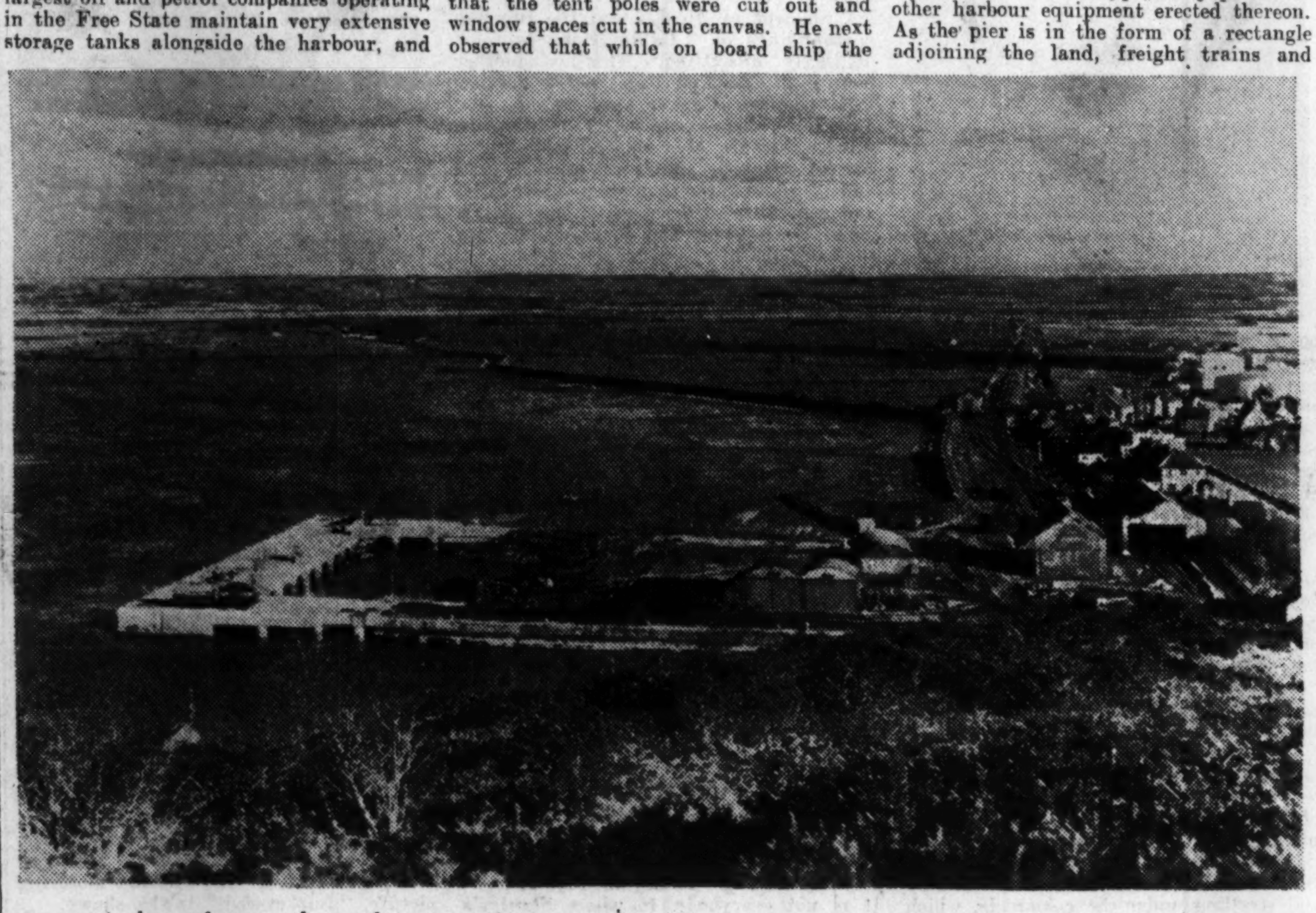
NEW DEEP-WATER PIER AT FOYNES

INSPECTION BY MINISTER FOR INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE

BUILDING-LINK WITH ANCIENT BABYLON

MODERN ENGINEERING PRINCIPLES APPLIED TO AN OLD FORMULA



MR. S. LEMASS, Minister for Industry and Commerce, yesterday visited Foynes, Co. Limerick, where he formally opened the new deep-water pier and inspected the harbour extensions. The Minister's visit—which is reported in detail in another page—forged the last of many links in two separate chains of events. One of these goes back for ninety years, to the days of 1846, when the original harbour at Foynes was built. The second extends back to the time of Nebuchadnezzar, and concerns a modern development of building construction common in Babylon more than 3,000 years ago.

OIL STORAGE.

Foynes lies some twenty-two miles below Limerick, or, roughly, a third of the distance between that city and the spot where the Shannon, by an embrouchere eight and a half miles in breadth, empties into the Atlantic. It is the port to which Lord Derby's Commission, of more than eighty years ago, assigned a place of superiority over all Western naval stations in Ireland; and it has long been recognised as the outport for Limerick. In recent years this recognition has taken the practical form of extension and development and the port has become the oil-distribution centre for a great part of the South and West of Ireland. Two of the largest oil and petrol companies operating in the Free State maintain very extensive storage tanks alongside the harbour, and overseas tankers of many thousand tons discharge their cargoes there each week.

THE AIRPORT SCHEME.

Within the last few months Foynes and its area have been invested with a new importance, for, on the report of technical experts sent over by the British Government and Imperial Airways, a stretch of calm water due north-east of the village has been selected as the site for the experimental European terminal of the Transatlantic air service now being planned by Britain, the Irish Free State, Canada and the United States. It is expected that this development, when complete, will not only materially benefit Foynes, but Limerick, and, indeed, all the towns on the Shannon estuary as well. The site chosen gives a stretch of sheltered waters which affords a three-mile "run" for seaplanes in any direction.

HISTORY.

The history of Foynes has long been associated with the history of the Monteagle family, and almost ever since the time when Edmund Spenser wrote the line

> "The spacious Shenan, spreading like a sea"

there has been a Monteagle to help to foster the prosperity of the area. It was largely through such help that the original Foynes Harbour was built, and as recently as 1918 we find the late Lord Monteagle pleading the cause of Foynes thus before a Commission headed by Sir Shirley Benn:

> "Foynes is almost on a direct line from London to Halifax, via Fishguard and Rosslare. It is connected with Limerick by a 25-mile long railway, built in 1856, with the special view to the improvement of Transatlantic traffic . . . . once the estuary is made the navigation is perfectly free and straightforward."

The control of Foynes Harbour from the time it was built in 1846 until 1890 was in the hands of the Board of Works; it then passed to the present governing authority, the Foynes Harbour Trustees. This body, under the Chairmanship of the late Lord Monteagle, initiated the new extensions, and the present Board has the assistance of another member of the Monteagle clan, Captain the Hon. C. Spring Rice, in its actions and deliberations.

THE CONSTRUCTION.

Work on the new extensions was begun in 1933, the construction being in the hands of Messrs. Delap and Waller, Civil Engineers, of Molesworth street, Dublin. The resident engineer was Mr. R. Waller, M.Inst.C.E., and the contract was placed with Messrs. McCaffrey and O'Carroll, of Limerick, for whom Mr. T. A. Simington, B.A.I., was engineer and agent.

The initial work consisted in the erection of a timber staging in the river bed; upon this staging a crane was next erected to handle reinforced concrete piles which were set in position and driven into the "floor" of the Shannon. Around these reinforced concrete piles hollow "Nofrango" cylinders were placed. "Nofrango" is a word derived from the Spanish and means "I do not break." It is the invention of one of the engineers responsible for the harbour construction, Major J. H. de W. Waller; and the history of his researches over a long period, and the resultant discovery and patenting of Nofrango, are worth recounting here.

WAR-TIME EXPERIENCE.

Major Waller noticed during the Great War that at Salonika, in order to keep the tents sun-proof and less visible from the air, the local military authorities ordered that the tent canvas be coated weekly with clay. On one occasion Portland cement was substituted instead of clay, and in a few weeks the tent had become so rigid that the tent poles were cut out and window spaces cut in the canvas. He next observed that while on board ship the awnings were drenched with water and then painted, with the result that the awning stayed taut. From tents and ships' awnings Major Waller's researches took him to Babylon, where it was found that Nebuchadnezzar had used vegetable fibre for building, by reinforcing his brickwork jointings with rushes, and when some of these were picked out of the 3,000 years' old mortar, and compared with fibres growing on the Euphrates alongside, they were found to be as strong as their descendants after 3,000 years.

MODERN USE.

Applying the principles so discovered, Major Waller carried out practical experiments, in which Portland cement was substituted for Nebuchadnezzar's brick clay, and high quality vegetable fabric for Euphrates rushes. He found from these experiments that the fibres of such fabrics, if stretched while wet and promptly interlocked with a coating of cement concrete, produced a reinforced concrete slab of great toughness and of almost incredible power of resistance, thoroughly waterproof, fireproof and vermin-proof and, for all practical purposes, everlasting.

THE REPORT OF THE OPENING CEREMONY WILL BE FOUND IN PAGE 7.

Details of construction called for careful thought and exhaustive experiments; patents had to be secured in most countries of the world; and practical demonstrations organised with which to convince architects and engineers that something really new and really reliable had at last made its appearance in the field of building construction.

Many buildings are now being constructed in Ireland and elsewhere by this method, and the cylinders used in the construction at Foynes are evidence of the adaptability of the material.

METHOD.

In constructing the cylinders at Foynes a circular timber framework was first erected; jute was then wrapped round this "core," and alternate layers of jute and mortar then laid on, until a shell an inch and a half thick had been built up. As soon as this shell was dry the timber "core" was removed, and the cylinder was lifted by crane and placed in position in the river bed. All water within this shell—that is, within the cylinder walls—was then pumped out, and the cylinder filled with concrete to the top. Over sixty such cylinders were used to form the supporting piers, on which the concrete pier deck was eventually laid.

The construction of the deck itself is interesting on account of the absence of supporting beams. This was made possible by the use of a type or design of construction known as "the flat-slab system," which was used for the first time in Irish harbour work. This system, now very widespread in modern construction in the United States, has only recently been used in the British Isles. The reinforcement used in the deck slabs consisted of steel bars twisted together in pairs, and was supplied by Messrs. T. Pearson and Co., of North Richmond street, Dublin. As soon as the deck was complete railway sidings were laid down on the surface, and bollards of the bean type, lamp poles and other harbour equipment erected thereon. As the pier is in the form of a rectangle adjoining the land, freight trains and goods wagons and trucks can enter or leave from either "leg."

GOOD OLD TIMBER.

The use of reinforced concrete for the erection of marine works has in recent years almost completely superseded the old system of using green heart timber, and in this connection it is not out of place to mention that, while the modern system is infinitely better in every way, the old one had also great powers of resistance to the action of time, water and weather. Thus when the engineers constructing the present extension at Foynes started to dismantle the old wooden jetty which had done service there for many years, they found that the greenheart piles were in a remarkable state of preservation. The timber which they salved from the demolition was of such fine quality, indeed, that the local populace sought after it eagerly for the construction of fishing rods.

The new deepwater pier provides over two hundred yards of berthage for vessels at all times, and ships drawing up to twenty-six feet of water can lie afloat alongside even at the lowest spring tides.

In addition to serving Foynes and the adjacent area, the harbour is used to handle merchandise for many other places, including Newcastle West, Glin, Rathkeale, and, among others, Askeaton. Motor boats are available to make the passage to the Clare shore, and a service of motor barges operates between Foynes and Kilrush on the Clare shore of the Shannon. A floating pontoon is also available in the harbour.

CONTRACTORS.

Messrs. Carroll's (Limerick), Ltd., O'Connell avenue, Limerick, supplied timber and cement.

Messrs. Thomas Pearson and Co., Ltd., 8 North Richmond street, Dublin, supplied the "Coverboard" reinforcement.

Messrs. McCann, Verdon and Co., Burgh quay, Dublin, supplied ropes, wire, cover blocks, etc.

Messrs. W. F. McNamara, Ltd., the Shannon Foundry, Limerick, were responsible for the iron forgings and sundry ironwork.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Slot Machines : A Parnell Film : Parliamentary Manners : Joseph Chamberlain : The Meath Hunt

Joseph Chamberlain

I see that it is proposed to mark the centenary of the birth of Joseph Chamberlain, which occurs this year, by erecting a statue to him somewhere in London. Of all the English Victorian statesmen, the careers of Gladstone and Chamberlain offer the most marked contrast. The former began his political life as a Conservative, and ended as an advanced Radical, while the latter did exactly the reverse. It is curious to think that in the early 'eighties Queen Victoria found it necessary to speak severely to Mr. Gladstone concerning the speeches made by his Radical colleague from Birmingham on the subjects of the "restitution" of land and the "ransom" of property. Only a few years later, in 1886, Chamberlain regained the Royal favour by his uncompromising hostility to Gladstone's Home Rule measures. In the Unionist Cabinet of 1895 he became Colonial Minister, and was responsible for the negotiations which culminated in the Boer War. His advocacy of Tariff Reform and Imperial Preference split the Unionist Party in 1903, and in 1906 Chamberlain retired from active political life owing to ill-health. He died just before the outbreak of the Great War in 1914. In 1919 it was recognised as fitting that it should have fallen to his son, Sir Austen Chamberlain, to give effect to his father's ideal of Imperial Preference. The cartoons of the late Mr. F. C. Gould made the profile of Joe Chamberlain familiar to the world. Perhaps, his modern prototype is Mr. Churchill, who has gone one better than Chamberlain by returning to his first love. Neither of these politicians, however, can be compared in subtlety to Mr. Lloyd George, who has been able to give effect to policies ranging from extreme Conservatism to advanced Socialism without finding it necessary to change his political label.

Parliamentary Manners

A correspondent writes:—The recent leading article in your paper referring to the deplorable lapses in the conduct and bearing of some of the deputies in Dail Eireann in times of stress prompts me to mention a small matter which has always struck me in connection with the pose adopted by deputies when making speeches in the House. Most of them (including many of the Ministers) stick their hands deep in their pockets when speaking, as if to assure the world that they are completely at their ease, and are serenely indifferent to the absurd criticism made by their opponents. The effect on the onlooker is far otherwise—he or she thinks that the deputy—is taking his speech-making much too slackly, and believes that he should be on the contrary poised and intent, leaning forward, with hand and forefinger ready to emphasise and give point—to whatever he has got to say. What would Grattan and Flood think of our Parliamentary gestures and manners of to-day?—Not much, I should think!

Meath Hunt Point-to-Point

Ireland is now in the throes of the Point-to-Point season. To-day the Meaths will hold their meeting at Culmullen, over the same course where their successful meeting was staged last year. Those competitors who "walked" the course yesterday tell me that the going will be perfect, as the few hollows which proved rather rough to gallop over last year have been levelled in. All the fences are in first-rate order, and will undoubtedly prove an excellent school for horses engaged later on at Fairyhouse and Punchestown. A large attendance is expected, and spectators are assured of a good view, as the hill of Curraghtown provides a natural grand stand, from which every fence can be seen. Big fields will rule, and good sport will be forthcoming for the many friends and followers of hunting in Meath.

Not the least interesting feature of the proceedings will be the events in which the lady riders are to participate. Miss Bromlie, of Philadelphia, is riding her American-bred mare, Prehaps, in an open race. This lady, who is very fond of Ireland, came over to hunt here at the beginning of the season. The Earl of Fingall, who is Hon. Secretary to the Committee, is determined to make this a memorable sporting event.

Cloister

Mention of Lord Fingall reminds me that it was his father, the late Earl, who bred one of the Irish horses to make history in the Grand National. I refer to Cloister, an animal that has always been regarded as outstanding among the long list of Irish-breds who shed lustre on this country through his performances. Cloister became a household word after his win in the great Aintree steeplechase. Every sporting home in the country has a painting of him hung on its walls. By Ascetic, out of Grace II., Cloister was really one of the bargain horses who made good; for he was originally sold for £30. Ascetic's Silver, another great Irish-bred, must also be remembered in speaking of the progeny of that sire. He won the National for Prince Hatzfeldt, a noted sportsman of pre-war years.

Station Slot Machines

Without wishing to appear ungrateful to those who provide slot machines on railway stations whereby one may beguile away the tedious waiting for trains by writing one's name on tinfoil at so many letters a penny, testing one's weight, or indulging in small packets of chocolate (usually somewhat damp), it seems to me time some variety should be introduced to stimulate the public appetite.

The luxury of buying one cigarette for a penny is a comparatively recent innovation, and while such smoking can hardly be considered an economical proposition, the smoker who has forgotten to provide himself with cigarettes already is glad to avail himself of the facility. Another scheme which might commend itself to the authorities concerned is the sale of aspirin. Train journeys are apt to provoke headaches, and such a commodity would, I feel sure, be appreciated by the travelling public.

Again one might reasonably expect to find a postage stamp machine at some of the larger stations. If you have never tried to buy a two-penny stamp in the evening when the post offices in the city are closed, I suggest it as an adequate means of filling in a few hours. Short of visiting the G.P.O., sometimes a considerable distance away, the effort generally proves too much for even the stoutest heart.

Manchester Repertory Again

If the plans now under consideration materialise, Manchester will again have a repertory theatre in the centre of the city next season. This time the "rep." will be at the Prince's Theatre, which has a long tradition for good plays, and which is most centrally situated, although not actually in Manchester's theatreland. For some years the Manchester Repertory Theatre has been situated in a converted tramway shed at Rusholme, where considerable success has been achieved by the directors and players; but it has always been the ambition of all associated with the theatre to have the "rep." back in the city proper. If the negotiations now in process come to fruition, the managing director of the Prince's Theatre, Mr. John Buckley, will back the Repertory Theatre, and will share with the present directors in the selections of the plays to be presented. It is extraordinary how the memory of Miss Horniman's gallant experiment in Manchester at the Gaiety Theatre has lingered in the city, and how that memory has urged all kinds of people to try to recover some of the glory of that venture of pre-war days.

A Parnell Film

The play about Parnell, in which Mr. George Curzon and Miss Flora Robson recently appeared in New York, has been purchased by Metro-Goldwyn for filming in the immediate future. The play was banned performance in London by the Lord Chamberlain, but the film version will certainly fare better. Although it did not have a very long run on the New York stage, the play had a good reception from the critics. Another prospective film of Irish interest, which is about to be made by an English company, is Mr. Liam O'Flaherty's "The Martyr." It is proposed that Irish players should be cast for this film, if possible members of the Abbey Theatre company, and that the picture should be made, as far as possible, in Ireland. The climax of this story should provide film "fans" with a thrill greater than any to which they have become accustomed; but it may be doubted whether it would be permitted to be shown in Ireland if presented in its original form. According to a recent report, no fewer than thirteen plays recently seen on Broadway have been selected for filming in the coming months, and many of them will be ready about the end of this year.

QUIDNUNC.

IRISH FOLK MUSIC

COLONEL FRITZ BRASE'S PRAISE

He had made acquaintance with some of the folk music of Ireland, and he had come to the conclusion that there must have been centuries of culture behind it. It would be a pity if all the beautiful old tunes were lost or forgotten. He had learned to admire and love Ireland for its beautiful scenery, and for the charm of its people, and he hoped their musical abilities would be brought to a fruitful stage.

This was a statement made by Colonel Fritz Brase at the Dublin Rotary Club luncheon yesterday.

Mr. Oswald Jamieson, President of the Club, presided, and Mr. Turner Huggard gave a talk on music, in which he remarked that the position of music in Dublin was not satisfactory. Dublin was well equipped with excellent string players, piano players, and a high level of solo singers, but local talent was badly supported by the Dublin people. People made a mad rush night after night for the picture houses, which produced a sort of mental lethargy.

Dr. Ashe also spoke, and on the motion of Major Thompson, seconded by Mr. Alfred Fannin, a vote of thanks was given to the other speakers.

The President welcomed Mr. W. J. Day, Cork; Dr. Ashe, Colonel Fritz Brase, Mr. Huggard, Mr. H. Palmer, London; Rev. H. Carpenter, Oxford; Mr. M. Bland, London.

METHODIST CHURCH

The Youth Crusade in connection with the Methodist churches in Belfast closed with a united rally in Grosvenor Hall, the Rev. W. H. Beales and his band of helpers from England rendered yeoman service throughout the entire effort. As a result of it religion has become a much more vital thing to a large number of young men and women. The lunch-hour services in Donegall Square Church proved so successful that it has been arranged to continue them once a week, every Tuesday from 1.20 to 1.40 p.m. They will be conducted by the city ministers in turn.

The anniversary Services in aid of Overseas Missions are just now being held all over the country. The visiting ministers are the Rev. H. B. Rattenbury, B.A., missionary secretary; the Rev. W. J. Barrett (Leeward Islands), the Rev. A. Oswald Brown (Madras), the Rev. R. Arfon Roberts (Bengal), the Rev. F. Colyer Sackett (Hyderabad), the Rev. R. F. Skinner (Nigeria), the Rev. James Stewart (Rhodesia), the Rev. R. F. Upton (Hupeh, China), the Rev. E. Middleton Weaver (Ceylon), the Rev. Alfred Evans (South China), the Rev. C. W. Ranson (Madras).

Sandymount Church, Dublin, has just held a successful sale of work in aid of circuit and connexional funds; it realised £150. The sale was opened by Mrs. R. C. Crawford, M.A., of Dundalk, the President of the Methodist Church in Ireland presiding. It was re-opened on the second day by Mrs. Rohu, Mr. G. S. Thompson presiding.

Cork Circuit, and, indeed, the entire Methodist Church in Ireland, has sustained a severe loss in the death of Mr. Joseph Wolfe, who was chairman and managing director of a number of well-known business firms in Cork. Mr. Wolfe took a very deep interest in the work of the Church both at home and overseas, and contributed large sums annually to its various funds, his gifts always being given anonymously. The Funeral Service was conducted by the circuit ministers, the Revs. John England and T. McCreacken, B.A., and the Rev. A. McCrea, M.A., Principal Edgehill College, Belfast. The address was given by the Rev. James M. Alley, of Dublin. Mr. Wolfe was father-in-law of the Rev. A. McCrea, M.A. (Belfast), and the late Rev. R. H. Foster, B.A., D.C.M. (Madras), India.

FASHIONS WEEK AT BROWN THOMAS'S

SERIES OF TALKS BY MISS JEANNE KENT

The lure of spring fashions always makes an appeal to women interested in dress, and yesterday afternoon the Fabric Hall of Brown Thomas and Company, Grafton street, Dublin, was filled to capacity with interested spectators when the first of a series of fashion talks was given by Miss Jeanne Kent. Miss Kent is the winner of the British Broadcasting Company personality Voice Competition at the "Ideal Home" Exhibition, and has been fashion commentator at many of London's leading stores.

Miss Kent gave a graphic outline of the new seasons line, the colours which will be most worn, many of which will be in pastel shades showing the prominence of the Chinese influence, while other fabrics are conspicuous for their brightness and boldness of design.

During the talks Brown Thomas's mannequins paraded in the new spring fashions, which admirably illustrated the points which Miss Kent emphasised. A wide range of street wear, afternoon and evening dresses, also sports clothes, and outfits for cruising were among the collection.

A bridal group completed the display. The bride was wearing a dress of oyster satin, and was accompanied by bridesmaids in violet moire dresses, and two child attendants, one in blue and one in pink georgette. Between the talks the mannequins paraded in the modern tea rooms to the music of Miss Lucy Lennane's orchestra.

Very original and unique is the window-dressing of Brown Thomas's this week. A feature of these windows is the new display figures, made to Brown Thomas's own design by a world famous artist.

The talks will be continued every day this week at 3 o'clock and 4.30 p.m.

FILM NOTES

Old Dublin as a Background

Example Set by Other Countries that might Profitably be Followed

By Our Cinema Correspondent.

As a general rule, film publicity "literature" is something to be earnestly avoided by all who love sanity and the King's English. Associated Talking Pictures, however, have presented me with some facts about their Mozart film, "Whom the Gods Love," which I find unusually interesting.

In Salzburg there are still several streets whose appearance has not changed since Mozart, as a boy, passed along them, and I find food for thought in the statement that these streets were closed by order of the Governor of Salzburg in order that pedestrians, coaches and link-boys, in the habit of a bygone age, might take possession of them again as a film "location."

Even the famous Saint Peter's Church, in which Mozart's Masses were originally performed, was pressed into service, and studio lights were installed for the "shooting" of a picture in the interior. The Schloss Theatre of Schonbrunn was given over to the film company for a week, and the Austrian authorities went to great pains to make the interior look pretty much as it did at the first performance of "The Marriage of Figaro," even replacing the electric lights by candles and substituting the seats of the period for the more comfortable accommodation of to-day.

Hint to Irish Producers

To my mind, that is exactly as it should be. A film-producing company of high repute was about to make a picture based on the life of a great Austrian composer, and the patriotic Austrians were determined that, so far as they were concerned, it should be given every possible assistance. That this sentiment was shared by the general public is proved by the fact that the crowds in the picture are largely composed of members of the famous Salzburg Festival crowd, trained by Reinhardt, and wearing in many cases the costumes of their ancestors.

MERLE OBERON.

Now that film production in this country looks like becoming an actuality in the near future, I hope that, when they have grown tired of "Handy Andy" comedy and drama of the Black-and-Tan period they will endeavour to make films based on the lives of great Irish composers of the past—Moore and his "Melodies," Balfe, Wallace, and the rest.

There is still plenty of Old Dublin left to provide suitable backgrounds, provided our authorities are as far-seeing as those of Vienna and Salzburg. Think what a picture could be made of members of the old Irish Parliament driving up to "The Old House in College Green," or standing and strolling under the colonnade, which presents virtually the same appearance to-day as the day it was built.

Utilising Trinity College

If one wanted to depict episodes in the life of the famous sons of Trinity College, there stand the buildings, looking just the same as they appeared to the eyes of Goldsmith and his contemporaries. Dublin Castle, too, could provide numerous exteriors, while the State apartments would afford the necessary interiors, with very little alteration, if any.

Last year a Dublin amateur film society entertained what I considered a most praiseworthy project. They purposed to re-enact episodes in the city's history with the original settings. I have not heard anything of the project since, so I presume that, for some reason or other, it did not materialise. In that case I hope they will have another "shot" at it this year.

The Mozart film at the Grafton is the outstanding picture of this week's Dublin programmes. It is another feather in the cap of Basil Dean, who was producer and director. We have come to expect very polished productions from Mr. Dean, and, in "Whom the Gods Love," our expectations are fully realised. The music has been arranged under the supervision of Dr. Bernhard Paumgartner, of the Mozart Institute, Salzburg, and Ernest Irving; and the London Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of Sir Thomas Beecham, plays the excerpts from "Figaro" and "The Magic Flute," the music being sung by Oda Slobodskaya, Percy Hemming, Tudor Davies, Enid James and Sylvia Nelis.

An English actor, Stephen Haggard, gives a satisfactory picture of Mozart, and Victoria Hopper is admirably suited as the devoted helpmate. Liane Haid is a sufficiently vivid Aloysia, and John Loder a massive, but courtly, philanderer. There are first-class character studies in some of the minor parts, and the crowd types are unusually good.

A Sharp Contrast

I SHOULD advise anybody who has seen the Grafton film to allow at least one day to elapse before visiting the Theatre Royal, otherwise he or she will find the contrast between the courtly, picturesque environment of Mozart and the life and surroundings of "Public Hero No. 1" distinctly unsettling. This is another picture of the American Secret Service, with Chester Morris, very heroic, and Joseph Calleia supremely villainous, whirling scenes of violence, including a convict stampede and "jail break," guns and "wisecracks" popping continually, and general breathlessness. Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone and Jean Arthur vary the emotion.

Variety, in fact, is the keynote of Dublin's film fare this week. Innumerable people will find the film version of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," at the Grand Central, as restfully uplifting as those of an older generation found the stage play. Surprise is still expressed that the author of "Three Men in a Boat" should have selected such a theme, but I have a later three-act work by Jerome, "The Soul of Nicholas Snyders," which might almost be called a morality.

The screen version of the "Third Floor," by Michael Hogan and Alma Reville, is fair enough to Jerome. They have included a steamer trip down the Thames for the Bloomsbury boarders, but the innovation is largely justified. The honours go to Conrad Veidt as the stranger, and Rene Ray as the little maid of all work. Anna Lee and Frank Cellier also figure in a cast of uniform ability.

Triumph of Laughter

LAUGHTER triumphs at the Stephen's Green Cinema and at the Capitol. In the cinema on the Green Stanley Lupino plays the lead in "Honeymoon for Three." It is not everybody to whom Stanley's robust style of fun-making appeals, but his thousands of admirers, doubtless, will consider this one of the most mirth-provoking pictures he has yet made.

Much of the action takes place on a Transatlantic liner, and the music includes three new songs, written by Billy Mayerl, one of these being the melody for a dance on the liner by Lupino and the leading lady, Aileen Marson. Will Hay is the "star" in the supporting picture, a comedy of village life.

Carole Lombard will surprise her admirers by her part in "Hands Across the Table" at the Capitol. She has "broken into comedy" with considerable success, and would do well to essay more parts of the same kind. Fred McMurray is the comedian, and quite worthy of playing opposite Miss Lombard in this film. Ralph Bellamy plays the part of a wealthy man, for whom the heroine angles unsuccessfully. Hectic high lights of Manhattan blaze across the screen, but "true love triumphs," rather, I imagine, to the surprise of sophisticated cinema patrons.

An Unusual "Triangle"

JANE WITHERS, the latest "child star," provides good fun in "Ginger" at the Metropole, with the able assistance of Jackie Searl and O. P. Heggie, but the leading film is "Dressed to Thrill." This is "Romance," adapted from the play, "La Couturiere de Luneville," by Alfred Savoir, with Clive Brook as a somewhat dense hero being fooled joyously by Tutta Rolf.

VICTORIA HOPPER.

The Norwegian lady not only plays the part of a French girl successfully in this picture, but gives cleverly contrasting portraits of the same girl as a humble country dressmaker and as a world-famous dancer.

It is an ingenious version of the triangle drama, with one lady occupying two sides; for dear old Clive is too stupid to realise that the dancer and the country dressmaker are one and the same.

Both the Metropole film and "The Dark Angel" at the Savoy have the root of the story planted in the war zone, but in each case the action takes place in the post-war period for the greater part of the film. At the Savoy Merle Oberon adds to her reputation in an emotional part, tinged with tragedy, but emerging into happiness. Frederic March and Herbert Marshall contribute largely to the success of an excellent film, which should possess considerable popular appeal.

Fast-moving melo-drama is presented in "Atlantic Adventure" at the Corinthian, with Lloyd Nolan, Nancy Carroll and Harry Langdon on the side of the angels, and Arthur Hohl, with John Wray, as the villains. There are remarkable American newspaper scenes. An exciting motoring picture, "Superspeed," is also shown.

KING'S HOSPITAL OLD BOYS' UNION

THE ANNUAL DINNER

Mr. W. F. Harkness presided over a large gathering of Old Boys and guests at the annual dinner, held at the King's Hospital School last Saturday evening.

The toasts of "The King" and "Ireland" having been honoured, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor of Dublin proposed the toast of "The School." He congratulated the Head Master on the continued prosperity of the school, which had been so closely identified with the life of the city for the past three centuries.

The Head Master (the Rev. J. J. Butler) replied in suitable terms.

The President, in response to the toast of "The Old Boys' Union," proposed by Mr. Raymond F. Brooke, vice-chairman of the Board of Governors, stated that the attendance of so many Old Boys at the various functions during the past year augured well for the future of the Union, of which he was honoured to be president for the year 1936.

The toast of "The Guests" was proposed by the Rev. J. B. Neligan, and responded to by Doctor James Ashe, Mr. R. E. Felton and Mr. Rupert W. Jeffares (representing kindred unions).

A most enjoyable musical programme was provided by Mr. W. F. Thompson, the Rev. R. Athey, Mr. G. Quaile, the Rev. J. B. Neligan and Mr. Mervyn Bell.

LUXEMBOURG: Symphony Concert, with Euesco (violin), 9.5.

"THE SHADOW OF THE GLEN," one of Synge's intense plays, will be given in a broadcast performance. The fact that it is well known as a theatre production will tend to increase the number of listeners rather than otherwise. The presentation to-night will be directed by John MacDonagh. The cast includes Máire Ni Shiubhlaigh, who took part in the play when it was first staged.

Dr. Vincent O'Brien has arranged a programme of music, the title of which, at this time of the year, sets one longing. He calls it "Mediterranean Cruise" music, and then proceeds to enumerate items calculated to make one visualise blue sea, sunny skies and soft winds. They include: "Mediterranean Cruise" Suite, by Jalowiez; "Cairo Memories" Suite, by Armandale; "In Sunny Spain" (Elliott), and Schmeling's Suite, "Evening in Aranjuez." Tony Hughes, well-known to Dubliners in light opera, will contribute songs representative of the Mediterranean countries.

The B.B.C. Northern Ireland Chorus and Orchestra are performing Elgar's oratorio, "The Music Makers," and Handel's Sixth Chandos Anthem in the concert beginning at 9. Both works will be conducted by E. Godfrey Brown. The solo part in the oratorio will be sung by Joyce Newton (contralto), and in the anthem—commencing at 9.39—the soloists are Anno Reid (soprano) and James Johnston (tenor). For broadcast in main Regional also.

At 8.15 Denis Johnston and Wilson Guy (better known as Mat Mulcaghey) will debate the question "Is Belfast Ulster?" while at 6.50 a variety programme will be relayed from the Empire Theatre, Belfast.

The Queen Mary's journey down the Clyde to the open sea, which is fixed for this morning, will be described by Mr. George Blake in two separate broadcasts in the B.B.C. National programme. The first is at 10 and the second at 11.50. Mr. Blake, who gave the running commentary on the launching of the great ship, will describe the scenes as she leaves the shipyard; and, while she is being towed down the river, he will go by road some five miles down-stream to Bowling Bend, the last point on the journey to the sea which presents any difficulties, where again he will explain operations and describe the scenes.

Variety possesses the National programme for an hour to-night, in which the star turn is Nosmo King, the comedian, who describes himself as "Iceland's antidote for the deep depression." Kneale Kelly, who is now looked upon as one of the artists in the programme, will conduct the B.B.C. Theatre Orchestra. Kneale, as all the artists affectionately call him, will be missed greatly when he relinquishes this post a few months hence to take up another

A COUNSEL OF CAUTION

PROPOSED CITY EXTENSION

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ATTITUDE

"ANY further extension of the city boundaries other than the absorption of already urbanised areas must entail further extensive development expenditure."

This statement was made by Mr. J. C. M. Eason, Chairman of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, at a sitting of the Local Government (Dublin) Tribunal yesterday, when the views of the Chamber of Commerce were offered in evidence.

"The Chamber," he said, "favours a policy of gradual development, which can take advantage of the trends that may manifest themselves as time goes on; otherwise there might be serious errors in forecast."

Mr. Eason recalled the establishment of the Chamber 150 years ago, and said that when submitting evidence to the Greater Dublin Commission in November, 1924, and July, 1925, the Council of the Chamber supported such an extension of the city boundaries as would make for economical administration in extending the city services to the urbanised districts immediately outside the city boundaries. In developing the areas brought within the city boundaries in 1930 the Corporation had incurred capital expenditure amounting to £260,000. It had also been stated in evidence before the present Commission that there were 1,500 acres of undeveloped land (an area equivalent to approximately one-fifth of the city in 1930), the development of which would take ten years to complete, at a further cost of £200,000.

NEARLY TWO MILLIONS

The Corporation, said Mr. Eason, is already committed to very heavy capital expenditure, viz.:—Additional water supply, £500,000; essential drainage works, £120,000; new destructor, £25,000; baths in Rathmines, £50,000; undeveloped land, £200,000; housing sanctions, £1,090,000. Total, £1,985,000.

If upon the heavy expenditure referred to above for water and housing, which must have the first claim on the Corporation's resources, there is superadded any serious commitments arising from the inclusion of new areas within the city boundaries, or from any extensive development scheme inside the existing areas, it might easily happen that the burden of debt would become too heavy

"The largest proportion of the contemplated expenditure is upon housing, and, in addition to the programme to which the Corporation is already committed, there is a further programme, which will entail an expenditure of from £6,000,000 to £8,000,000. Notwithstanding an arrangement by which the Central Fund bears 33 1-3 to 66 2-3 per cent. of the annual loan charges incurred for housing schemes, the proportion falling upon the Corporation, with the costs of administration and maintenance cannot be entirely recovered from the tenants.

"Expenditure which can never be revenue producing, or even expenditure which is not immediately revenue-producing, means an increase in the poundage rate, and it appears to the Council that the expenditure contemplated is of this character.

"Rates are a first charge upon business, and high rates add to the cost of both manufacture and distribution, and tend to operate as a deterrent to enterprise. For this reason the Council asks you to scrutinise carefully every proposal put before you for alterations in the city boundaries, or for other objects within your terms of reference which involves capital expenditure. This should be done in order to ascertain the total commitments and the burden that will fall upon the ratepayer, and, where a large part of the burden is now borne by the taxpayer, as in the case of housing, how much will fall upon his shoulders.

OPTIMISTIC PROMOTERS

"The Council makes this request," said Mr. Eason, "because many optimistic statements are made by promoters of various schemes which do not take sufficient account of the ultimate burden upon the ratepayer and the taxpayer, and asks you, when considering proposals involving further borrowing, to have regard to the difficulty of raising capital at present and in the immediate future.

"The amounts involved in the published future programme of the Corporation are so large that it is doubtful whether there are sufficient free savings available for the purpose. The Council is also apprehensive as to the results of borrowing on a large scale for objects which do not hold out prospects of being productive of revenue."

The opposition of the Dundrum and District Ratepayers' Association to an extension of the Dun Laoghaire Borough boundaries and a majority desire to be taken under the wing of the Dublin Corporation were supported in evidence by Mr. McKenzie, Secretary of the Association.

Mr. McKenzie recalled the Association's unanimous decision in February, 1935, to oppose the application of the Borough of Dun Laoghaire for an extension of the boundaries on the ground that it would be injurious to the remaining part of the Rathdown Rural area, and of the Dundrum district in particular; and the decision of a meeting in December last in support of Dundrum's inclusion in the City of Dublin, the view being that this would meet the wishes of the people generally, and that the rapid rate of the area's expansion called for control by an urban authority. The Association also suggested that the inefficiency of the present administration made a change of authority not only desirable, but necessary.

The interests of the majority of Dundrum residents, Mr. McKenzie stated, were bound up with the city: to it they looked for their means of livelihood, their amusements and secondary education for their children. The valuation of Dundrum district increased by 45 per cent. between the years 1925 and 1934, and it was their belief that that rate of urbanisation was far in excess of that of the area Dun Laoghaire wished to absorb.

"INEFFICIENT"

Finally, it was the opinion of the Association, the witness said, that the present administration of the area was inefficient. Water, a primary necessity in any community, was the subject of an individual contract between each ratepayer and the Corporation of Dublin. Ratepayers had no statutory right to a continuous supply, the agreement providing for the termination of the contract after seven days' notice. The charge for the water service was 2s. in the £ (meter rent extra), in addition to the County Council rates. Nor was that all. Each ratepayer was responsible for pipe bursts occurring on the public road, where the main had been tapped to provide his service, and such damage was often due to causes over which the ratepayer had no control. During last year the association protested to the Dublin County Council about the matter of water, and the reply they received was to the effect that the present arrangement was the best that could be secured. The County Council had no ambulance or fire-fighting appliances, and an arrangement with Dun Laoghaire existed in this regard. Public lighting was the subject of another protest by the association, failure being frequent of late.

"Dublin County Council," added Mr. McKenzie, "provides our district with fair roads, indifferent footpaths, inadequate public lighting, and a poor scavenging service. It has failed to provide water, fire-fighting or ambulance services, and for the rating year 1935-1936 it has asked the ratepayers for 19s. 5½d. in the £."

Replying to Mr. R. J. Baker, who presided, (Mr. G. Gavan-Duffy, K.C., chairman, having been delayed owing to a family bereavement), Mr. Wood, K.C., for the Dublin Corporation, said that the inclusion of Dundrum in the city was opposed, but, if the Tribunal in its report sought to impose it on the city, the Corporation would not oppose their recommendation in any way.

The Tribunal adjourned till Thursday next.

Mr. "Jimmy" Walker, ex-Mayor of New York, and his wife, the former actress, Betty Compton, have formally adopted the six weeks old baby girl whom it was feared they would have to relinquish owing to the premature publicity. The judge dealing with the case has impounded all the adoption records in order to ensure secrecy as to the child's identity.

CIRCUIT (CRIMINAL) COURT

A BLUE SHIRT FLAG DAY

CROWD THAT CHASED COLLECTORS

MAN WHO GAVE UP HIS SHIRT

(BEFORE JUDGE DAVITT.)

Robert Joseph Pierce, a student, of 60 Grace Park road, Drumcondra, was charged with having on 21st October, 1934, with others, riotously assembled, and as a member of such riotous assembly, damaged the house No. 5 Parnell square. There was a second charge of unlawful assembly with other persons unknown.

Mr. J. A. McCarthy, K.C. (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor), prosecuted.

The accused man was not professionally represented, and at his request the case was conducted in Irish.

Mr. McCarthy said that on October 21st, 1934, Fine Gael were having a flag day collection. At Parnell square the collectors were opposed by a large crowd of people, who chased them until they ran for safety into No. 5 Parnell square. In the crowd following the collectors was the accused youth. The crowd numbered between four and five hundred persons, some of whom attacked the premises, and threw stones and bricks at the windows

BRICK THROWN

Anthony Monahan said that he was in 5 Parnell square on the date in question. About noon a crowd of people came to the hall and attacked it. The crowd were making speeches about the Blue Shirts. There were then no collectors on the streets, as they had taken refuge in the building. Four of five young men in the crowd separated from the main body and approached the premises. They were armed with bricks and other missiles, which they proceeded to throw at the windows and door. A window was broken. He recognised the accused youth, Pierce, as one of the five men who attacked the premises. Pierce was demonstrating and shouting about Blue Shirts. Witness saw Pierce throw a brick which broke a window. He had no doubt about Pierce's identity, as he had known him for ten or twelve years.

After the brick was thown at the window a girl rushed on to the steps of the building and set fire to an emblem representing a Blue Shirt. A force of Civic Guards then came on the scene and cleared the crowd from the front of the building.

There was no further flag day collection made that day.

A SWORD

Cross-examined in Irish by the accused, witness said that on the Sunday morning previous to the Dublin Corporation elections he was one of a party putting up posters for Fine Gael about 4 o'clock in the morning, when a party of men came along in a motor lorry and began to tear down the Fine Gael posters. One of them attacked witness, and the two of them had a free fight. On the Saturday before the general election witness's home was pasted up with Fianna Fail posters. Witness admitted, in further cross-examination, that he had been twice charged before the District Justice—once for having a dangerous weapon, viz., a sword, when the case was dismissed. The second charge was possession of a baton and assault, for which he was fined five shillings

Sergeant H. F. Tapley said that, when charged, Pierce replied in English—"I have no statement to make. I did not do any of them. I was outside the place all right."

Guard J. Hickey (51 C) said that he saw a crowd following a man wearing a blue shirt and trying to get the blue shirt from him. The man took off his shirt, gave it to the crowd and went into 5 Parnell square. He saw the accused youth in the middle of the crowd, but did not see him do anything.

Giving evidence for the defence, Pierce said that he saw a crowd running along the street, and followed them to see what was happening. He saw a lot of stones being thrown, but he denied having thrown any stones himself.

Cross-examined by Mr. McCarthy, witness said that he saw no fight at Parnell square. He only saw people running around and into shops and out again. There was a crowd hostile to somebody. He saw no friend of his in the crowd. He did not know what was happening, and did not know it was a Blue Shirt flag day.

COLLECTION NOT APPROVED

In further cross-examination, Pierce said that the man the crowd were following might have had a collection box, a blue shirt or a knife, because a few months before that a man was charged with having a knife. He was not out to take the Blue Shirt because the wearing of blue shirts was unlawful. He did not approve of 500 persons following one man. The reason he stood in front of 5 Parnell square, he said, was because he wanted to see what was happening.

He saw one or two stones strike a window in the house, but a window there had already been broken. He did not approve of such stone-throwing, because the ratepayers had to pay for the damage, and window-breaking would do no good. He did not approve of a collection for an anti-national purpose.

Joseph Colbert, called for the defence, said that he saw the accused young man in the crowd outside 5 Parnell square. About six months before that the accused man was pointed out to him by some of the people in 5 Parnell square. Monahan (a previous witness) was not one of those who pointed out Pierce.

Pierce was found not guilty on the first charge of riotous assembly and damaging the premises, 5 Parnell square, but guilty of unlawful assembly. He was allowed out on his bail on giving an undertaking to keep the peace for twelve months.

CITY CYCLIST KILLED

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Thomas Doolan, a gravel contractor, of 8 Seapark road, Dollymount, was charged with the manslaughter of James Breslin, 6 Christchurch place, an employé of the G.S. Railways Company, through the negligent driving of a motor car, on May 25th last, on the road between Clontarf and Dollymount.

Mr. J. A. McCarthy, K.C. (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor), who prosecuted, said that Breslin, accompanied by James Kelly, was cycling on the Clontarf road on the correct side, and in front of them was another cyclist. Opposite No. 142 Clontarf road a motor car, which was being driven by Mr. Doolan on its correct side, for some reason or other, struck Breslin's bicycle so violently that Breslin's shoe was torn off and thrown into the garden of 142, whilst Breslin was killed there and then. The motor car proceeded for forty yards before it stopped, but in the meantime it seemed to have gone out some distance on the tram lines and hit another man named O'Connor, wrecking his bicycle.

James Kelly, giving evidence, said that Breslin and he were riding abreast. Witness was beside the kerbstone and Breslin about three feet from him. When passing 142 Clontarf road a motor car, which had come from behind, struck Breslin and knocked him sprawling along the ground. Witness ran after the car, which stopped after having gone forty yards.

Giving evidence, Thomas Doolan, who was examined by Mr. K. Dockrell, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Co.) for the defence, said that the cyclist wobbled into his car as he was passing. Witness pulled up his car as quickly as he could after the accident, and went to the assistance of the injured man. He was travelling at a speed of about 20 miles an hour, and pulled up about 10 yards from where the man fell.

Cross-examined by Mr. J. McCarthy, witness said that prior to striking the man he had blown his horn, but just as he was about to pass, the cyclist swerved and wobbled towards the motor car. The wing of the car struck the back of the bicycle.

The jury found Thomas Doolan not guilty, and he was discharged.

BELFAST HOLD-UP CHARGE

TWO YOUNG MEN SENT FOR TRIAL

CASHIER'S STORY OF ATTACK

CHASE BY MOTOR CAR IN THE STREETS

A DRAMATIC story of a hold-up and chase by a motor car was told at the Belfast Police Court yesterday, when two young men—Thomas J. Stitt and W. J. Rea, both of Penrith street, Belfast—were returned for trial, charged with robbing George Herbert Henry Newman, cashier to the Ulidia Clothing Company, of £198, with violence.

ALLEGED STATEMENT

Constable Hamilton said that Stitt had made a statement in which he said that Rea told him it would be easy to knock Newman down and take the money from him when he returned from the bank. Rea suggested that Stitt should join him in getting the money, and he agreed.

At 8.30 a.m. on March 14th he and Rea went to the vicinity of the Ulidia Clothing Company's premises in Dublin road, and there Rea pointed out Newman to him. Newman was then apparently going to the bank.

When Newman returned Rea went into the entrance to the left of the premises, and he followed. Rea rushed up to Newman and struck him with a piece of rubber tubing. Rea took the bag, and after running a while he gave it to him. He later threw it on the parcels on a messenger boy's bicycle, but the boy would not take it, so Rea took it. A constable followed them and fired. He (Stitt) stopped and Rea ran on.

CHASE THROUGH THE CITY

Hector McDonald Porter said that he was motoring into the city when he noticed a man lying on the road and two men running away. He picked up Constable Hamilton, and they overtook the two men, one of whom was wearing a black moustache.

Stitt was called upon by the constable to halt. The constable fired one shot as Stitt moved off. Stitt eventually halted, and the constable took him into custody. The witness conveyed the prisoner to the police barrack. He identified Rea as the man he saw with Stitt.

CASHIER'S EVIDENCE

Newman, in evidence, described the robbery. He said he was knocked down and kicked, and when he tried to defend himself more blows were showered on him. He had to go to hospital, where he was detained. Rea had been employed by the firm, and left in 1934.

The magistrate refused bail.

WHAT ULSTER HAS RECEIVED

BENEFITS OF BRITISH PARTNERSHIP

The Northern Ireland Government had received direct payments from the British Exchequer, including a sum of £288,000 for milk, £377,000 for beef, £74,000 for wheat, and during the current financial year would receive under the unemployment insurance agreement over £700,000, said Lord Craigavon, in an address to the Belfast Rotary Club yesterday.

Furthermore, the British Government had given them their new Parliament House and administrative buildings, and their Royal Courts of Justice.

"The British Government," added the Prime Minister, "have favoured us with a new telephone exchange, and I believe that we will also have a new General Post Office, or practically a new General Post Office, before very long, and also we have been given the new transmitting station at Lisnagarvey by the British Broadcasting Corporation, if I might refer to something outside the Government.

"Over and above all this, they have preserved three Territorial towns in Northern Ireland, which was much more than our quota if you calculate it, and I still hope that that number will be increased to five before very long."

They also had their aerodrome at Aldergrove, which has recently been greatly increased for the Ulster Bombing Squadron, and the cruiser Penelope had been built in the Belfast shipyards, while they also had a division of the R.N.V.R. established at the port.

"NEARLY TIME TOO—

I told them long ago they should have an Electric Home. Now they've got it—everybody happy. Old man cheerful about the bill—Mother cheerful about the work. The thing that appeals to me is the hot water—no fuss about a bath any more. Great thing too when you come in at night you can heat up something in no time with the electric kettle or one of the other cooking gadgets if you want to. I used to be fed up having to say whether I wanted something kept hot for me. You never know how hungry you're going to be when you get back. Give me the All-Electric idea every time!"

See for yourself the facilities offered by All-Electric Houses at:
2 Tyrconnell Road, Inchicore.
7 Annaville Park, Windy Arbour, Dundrum.
"Ouala," Adelaide Road, Dun Laoghaire.
4 Home Farm Park, Home Farm Road, Drumcondra.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE VAGRANT RACCOON

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I think the following may interest your readers regarding the raccoon caught in Linenhall terrace, Dublin, a couple of nights ago.

It is one of a pair of North American raccoons I got from the Liverpool Zoo in January. A few hours after arrival with me the male escaped by climbing a tree and jumping from a branch over the enclosure's wall. An exhaustive search was made and all neighbours were notified, but nothing was heard of him until now.

I live some forty miles from Dublin by the main road. There are extensive woods around here, and I thought the raccoon would get into them and remain there, safe from human interference. But, not so! He wished to "get before the public eye," so he staged a publicity stunt worthy of a Hollywood film star! Getting arrested for "disorderly conduct" and jailed for his cheek.

I visited Dr. Ferrar at the Zoological Gardens yesterday and identified my raccoon, now a poor thin rag after his wanderings. However, he is in good hands with the doctor and will soon recover.

I apologise for the raccoon's conduct and the trouble he has caused, and I thank the Guards and others who are responsible for his capture.

His mate is still safely with me, and is most affectionate and playful. She allows me to reach into her bed and awaken her, and sometimes she grasps my hand in her hand-like forepaws and, murmuring to me, she clutches it close to her warm, furry body and then goes to sleep again.

When she hears me coming to feed or play with her she calls to me in her funny, purring mew.

What she will do when her jail-bird husband is returned to her I do not like to think. Anyway, I shall remove all missiles from her reach.—Yours, etc.,

(MISS) OLIVE A. BOURKE.

Ballyshemane, Rathdrum,
County Wicklow.

THE VEPREY (SEAPOINT) RELIEF FUND

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—You and your readers will, doubtless, remember that during the recent storm the house known as "Veprey," in Seapoint avenue, Blackrock, collapsed, and the occupants narrowly escaped with their lives. Their furniture and personal belongings were buried in the debris, and the work of destruction was completed by the fire which followed immediately.

Through the kind offices of the local clergy, the St. Vincent de Paul Society and the Borough Manager, the tenants were afforded temporary accommodation and their immediate needs supplied. This assistance did not—nor was it intended to—make good the actual losses they sustained, and it was felt that in view of the peculiar nature of the calamity a fund should be raised to restore those people to the position they were in before the disaster.

With this object in view, a representative committee of residents has been formed, and subscriptions are earnestly requested. Mr. P. F. English, manager, National Bank, Blackrock, and Mr. Sean O hUadhaigh, solicitor, "Glencairn," Dalkey, have kindly consented to act as Trustees, and subscriptions may be sent to them or to any member of the committee.—Yours, etc.,

(MRS.) M. KEADY, Hon. Secretary.

Town Hall, Blackrock, Co. Dublin.
March 22nd, 1936.

AN IRISH WILL

Mr. Samuel Gordon, of 2 Burlington road, Dublin, and of 15 Molesworth street, Dublin, who died on 13th December last, left personal estate in England and the Irish Free State valued at £38,370. Estate duty, £4,607.

SPIRITUAL RENEWAL IN LITERATURE

LECTURE BY MISS EILEEN O'BRIEN

"The Spiritual Renewal of Modern European Literature," was the subject of a lecture delivered by Miss Eileen O'Brien, of the Pro Deo Society of Geneva, at Jury's Hotel, Dublin, last night, under the auspices of the Oliver Plunket Literary Society.

The lecturer said that although that renewal was to be found in all countries it was especially noticeable in Florence. It was rather appropriate justice that Florence, the headquarters of the anti-clerical crowd, should now be in the hands of great Catholic writers. She did not deal with the subject as one who had studied it, but as one who had seen and been influenced by it.

Miss O'Brien took Mauriac, the French novelist, as an example of this revival, and went on to show how, in a Catholic manner, he portrayed man as he actually was, and not the idealised man with no vices, found in the modern cinema, drama and novel. Mauriac, she said, had realised the duty of the Catholic intellectual to shake some sense into modern use. He had influenced thousands of young people who now had realised that the great adventure was to be found in the active life as a Christian. Mauriac, as well as other supporters of his school, took as a principle that "we must first purify thoughts" and that then right action will come of itself.

Although not as highbrow as some of the others, Mauriac had far greater influence for the simple reason that the ordinary man read novels and not text books. He had shown how genius could be made infinitely greater by putting it at the service of God. This simplicity and lack of human respect are the great characteristics of those great philosophers, novelists, or workmen who were to-day sounding the call to action throughout Europe.

Lord ffrench presided, and a vote of thanks was passed to the lecturer, on the motion of the Rev. Father Burke, seconded by Mr. O'Brien.

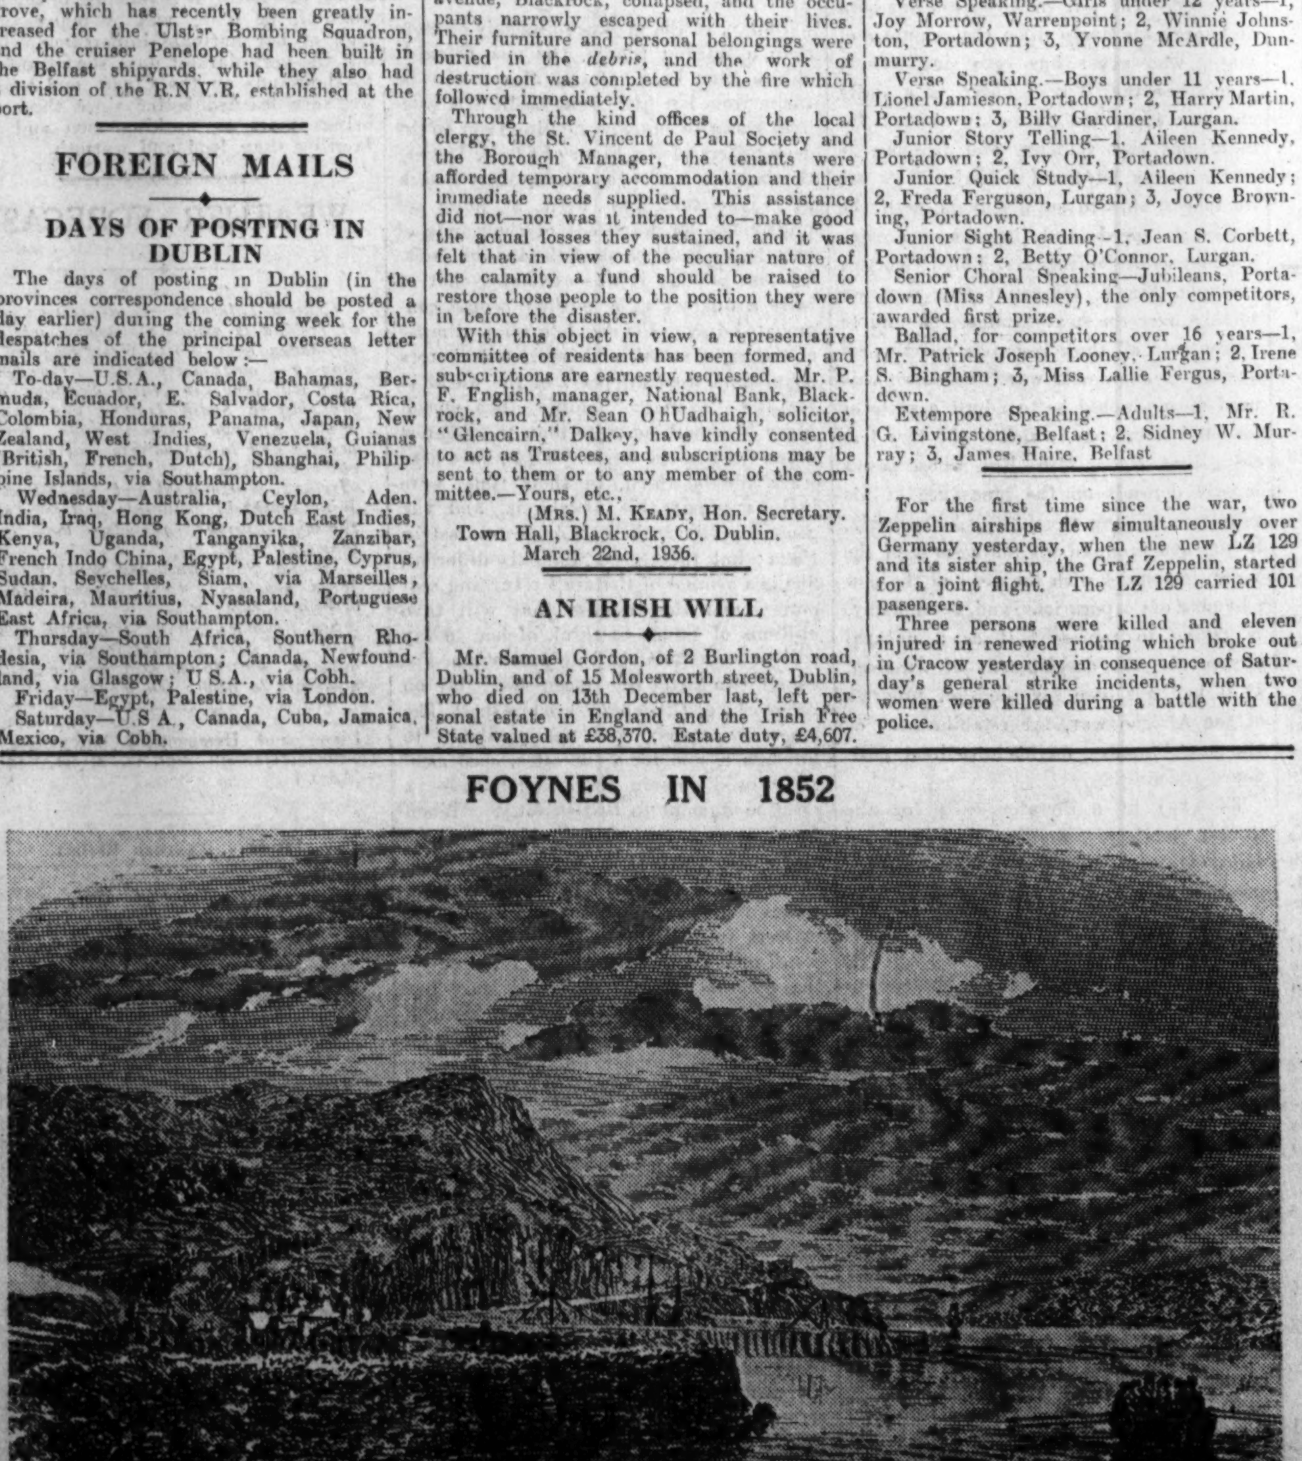
For the first time since the war, two Zeppelin airships flew simultaneously over Germany yesterday, when the new LZ 129 and its sister ship, the Graf Zeppelin, started for a joint flight. The LZ 129 carried 101 pasengers.

Three persons were killed and eleven injured in renewed rioting which broke out in Cracow yesterday in consequence of Saturday's general strike incidents, when two women were killed during a battle with the police.

FOYNES IN 1852



A woodcut of Foynes Harbour, where deep-water extensions were formally opened by the Minister for Industry and Commerce (Mr. Sean Lemass) yesterday, reproduced from an issue of "The Illustrated London News," dated December 4, 1852. In the background is Mount Brendon. An article in the same issue states that Foynes "is the port to which Lord Derby's Commissioners have assigned the superiority for Western navigation over all other naval stations in Ireland."

TRANSPORT WORKERS' UNION

EXPENDITURE ON TRAM STRIKE

Senator Thomas Kennedy, vice-president, Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, speaking at the annual meeting of the Waterford Branch in the Town Hall last night, referred to the passing of the Conditions of Employment Bill, which, he said, would undoubtedly bring very remarkable changes in the lives of the workers of the country. At the same time, he did not want them to think that this piece of legislation, beneficial and all as it was, was going to have any great effect on solving the unemployment problem of the country.

Referring to the union's activities during the year, Senator Kennedy said that the membership showed a steady increase. The union paid out over £11,000 in connection with the Dublin United Tramways Company dispute, and, in connection with another dispute at Goodbody's Mill at Clara, the union expended, roughly, £2,800.

BELFAST CORPORATION SALARIES PROPOSAL

REJECTED BY COUNCIL COMMITTEE

A proposal to increase the salaries of the Belfast Corporation officials by £5,192 was rejected yesterday by the General Purposes Committee of the Corporation.

Increases in salaries were recommended by the last meeting of the Corporation on March 2nd, and the proposals were referred to the General Purposes Committee. This committee met yesterday under the presidency of the Lord Mayor, and a resolution was proposed that the Corporation be recommended not to accede to the proposals, in view of the fact that the second 5 per cent. "cut" had been restored and that the time was not opportune for the further burdening of the rates.

There was considerable opposition to the resolution, but eventually it was adopted by 11 votes to 8.

UNIVERSITY ENGINEERING SOCIETY

A meeting of the Engineering Society University College, Dublin (Civil Section), was held on Friday. Professor P. F. Purcell, President of the Society, presided. A paper on "Filtration and Purification of Water" was read by Mr. D. J Doyle (Hon. Secretary). He showed that of all the elements which affected man water was the most important. His whole life was bound up with it. If water was unsafe, typhoid and cholera were a common occurrence. Cities and towns owed their origin to a water supply. The engineer, in his endeavours to supply the wants of the people, devised such methods as the slow sand filter, the mechanical filter, and the numerous chemical methods.

The speaker showed a number of slides of the latest methods of purification, and told how the older type of slow sand filter was being used in conjunction with the mechanical filter, as in the Metropolitan Water Board, London, a higher degree of purification thus being obtained and the rate of filtration increased.

A discussion took place, and the following spoke:—Messrs. J. McCoy, M. McEntee, W. Hutch, A. Elmes, M. Cantrell.

Professor P. F. Purcell spoke, and said that the degree of purification required at the present day was increasing. He said that Dublin was fortunate in having such a splendid water supply, and that such a supply was the envy of many cities.

ST. MICHAN'S PARISH

The connection of the famous St. Michan's Parish, Dublin, and the City Corporation during the eighteenth century was dealt with by the Rev. Canon E. J. Young, B.D., in a paper which he read to the Old Dublin Society last night.

Referring to the distribution of the city's population, Canon Young said that in the eighteenth century it was accumulated mainly to the North side. In 1718 there were 3,214 houses in the parish out of a city total of 10,000.

At that time the church-wardens of the parish were in charge of the local fire engines and of the collection of certain taxes for the Lord Mayor and Corporation. They were also in charge of certain sewers, and of the "watch," for which they maintained a watch-house at one end of Ormond Bridge. After riots in the city in 1784, when serious damage was done, a regular police force was instituted. Lanterns were maintained by the parish in certain streets, and certain beggars were given badges, by which they were identified.

There were many complaints about the number of foundling children in the city at the time, and in 1730 in the parish 58 young children were sent to the workhouse, and the great majority of these did not live. Women were paid for children they brought to the workhouse, where, in 1730, of a total of 349 inmates 189 were children. This, said Canon Young, indicated the great poverty and crime in the city at the time. Sir Patrick Dun had been a church-warden in the parish in 1697, and in 1790 Samuel Rossborough, one of the founders of the Sick and Indigent Roomkeepers' Society, was buried there.

Mr. T. Kelly, T.D., T.C., presided.

Thousands of ladies keep a box of Martin's Pills in the house. Those who use them recommend them; hence their enormous sale. Price 5s. Sold by all Chemists and Stores, or post free from proprietors, Martin, Chemist, Southampton. —(Advt.)

GAIETY THEATRE

SIR HARRY LAUDER'S RETURN

Sir Harry Lauder tops the bill this week, and received a cordial welcome last night. He seems as young as ever, and kept his audience highly amused by his pawky Scottish humour. The tuneful songs which he sang had all the freshness of their first presentation, and set most of the listeners humming. In response to an encore, he rendered an Irish song with great feeling. He is supported by a very competent company. One of the best items is provided by Linga Singh, a Hindu magician, who apparently defies the law of gravity with the assistance of Miss Lakhsmi. He also does several other things which appear impossible to the ordinary man. Two amusing "turns" are provided by the Agar Young Co., the most laughable being Lulu, the Horse. Roy Tracey is a pleasing American entertainer, while other enjoyable features are those presented by Allan and Gordon, Noyes, Dee and Marion, and Alvarez Brothers.

OLYMPIA THEATRE

"Dazzling Stars" is an entertaining revue in nineteen scenes. Dancing and vocalism of a high order are features of the show, and the comedy supplied by Teddy White and Jack Martyn has a full flavour. The specialised figure dancing of Wolkowsky and Grande and the tap dances and ensemble by the chorus are polished and attractive. Doreen Coburn has a pleasing voice, while Du Cross and Barbette sing other songs well. The old-time methods applied in the comedy number, "Society Drama," are as amusing as ever. The revue is admirably staged, and the pace is well sustained to the finish.

THE ABBEY THEATRE

"Look at the Heffernans," Mr. Brinsley MacNamara's comedy, must be one of the best money-spinners in the Abbey Theatre Company's repertoire, and, judging by the reception which it received from a much-amused audience last night, it will be long before it loses its drawing power. It was a treat to see Michael J. Dolan and Barry Fitzgerald in such great form in their parts as James and Paul Heffernan. F. J. McCormick as Festus Darby, P. J. Carolan as Marks Heffernan, Arthur Shields as Ignatius Crinnion, and May Craig as Alice Heffernan were also very amusing.

It was good to see Maureen Delaney and Denis O'Dea back in the Abbey after their American trip—both of them received a special "hand" on their appearance. Aideen O'Connor and Frolie Mulhern were effective in their smaller parts, and welding all together was Eileen Crowe as the "Widow" Molloy, settling everything and everybody.

THEATRE ROYAL

The variety programme this week is excellent throughout. Jules Bledsoe, the original "Ole Man River," of "Show Boat," and Clarence Johnstone, who for many years was partner with Layton in Layton and Johnstone productions, combined in giving a musical performance of considerable merit. The Three Manley Brothers, Danish entertainers, were both clever and amusing with their musical bells, and the Five Carlton Sisters were expert jugglers. A dancing act of Hibbert, Bird and La Rue was well performed. Alban Chambers at the organ and Jimmy Campbell and the Theatre Royal Orchestra completed the stage part of the bill. The picture was entitled "Public Hero No. 1," with Chester Morris and Lionel Barrymore in leading parts.

TORCH THEATRE

The historical drama of the siege of Limerick, "Sarsfield," by L. McManus, was continued last night. Edward Byrne headed a good cast in the name part. Leslie Sparks (the Duke de Lauzun), Brendan Agnew (the Governor), Paul Lundstrom (Duke of Berwick), and M. Kennedy (Galloping Hogan) are also among the principals.

QUEEN'S THEATRE

"Hello People," a new revue, is being presented this week. It features Jerry Gold, the well-known comedian, whose successes date back to the days of the "Splinters" Company. He is supported by a strong cast, including Juan Sabado and Zady, Shaw and Brady, the Queen's Moonbeams, and the theatre orchestra, under Alex. C. Fryer.

On the screen the film, "Air Hawks," with Ralph Bellamy in the principal rôle, is being shown. Wiley Post, the famous airman, who, with Will Rogers, was killed in Alaska a few months ago, is also in the cast.

£50 REWARD

INTERFERENCE WITH NORTHERN WIRES

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Monday.

The Northern Ireland Electricity Board is offering a reward of £50 to anyone giving information leading to the conviction of those responsible for interference with the overhead high tension line near Moira on Saturday night. As a result of this interference there was a "black out" over a wide area. Portadown, Tandragee, Armagh, Dungannon and Cookstown were plunged into darkness, and the new Northern Ireland Broadcasting Station, Lisnagarvey, was silent for nearly ten minutes.

It appears that two sections of paling wire were thrown over the cable, causing a short circuit, and officials of the Northern Electricity Board believe that the mischief was caused maliciously.

NEWS SUMMARY

TUESDAY, MARCH 24, 1936.

IRELAND

The Dublin coal workers are again on strike, yesterday's conference failing to reach an agreement.—(Page 8.)

Mr. Sean Lemass, Minister for Industry and Commerce, yesterday formally declared open the new £34,000 pier at Foynes, County Limerick, and unveiled a memorial to the late Lord Monteagle, who had done so much for the town.—(Page 7.)

Extensions and improvements in the telephone service in the Free State, which will come into operation on July 1st next, are announced by the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs.—(Page 7.)

Two young men were committed for trial at the Belfast Police Court yesterday charged with robbing George Herbert Newman a cashier, of £193 with violence.—(Page 5.)

ABROAD

Germany has not yet replied to the Locarno Powers' memorandum. It is understood that Italy, Austria and Hungary have agreed not to impose sanctions against Germany in the event of the League decreeing them.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING

At Lincoln yesterday Even So won the Hainton Handicap.—(Page 10.)

Pluvier Dore won the Maiden Hurdle at Colwall Park.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL

London Stock Markets were rather dull all day on the Continental political outlook. Gilt-edged securities were firm, but Industrials lost ground.—(Page 12.)

The dollar was firm in the exchanges. Gold remained at 140s. 11d. per oz., and £95,000 in bars was sold.—(Page 12.)

Dublin Market was busier. Second National Loan fell 1½ to 115. Guinness units rose 1s. 3d. to 156s. 3d. Great Southern Preference gained 2½ points.—(Page 12.)

The Corporate State

Yesterday, on the seventeenth anniversary of the nominal foundation of Fascism, Signor Mussolini announced its forthcoming establishment in fact. Hitherto the Corporate State has had no real existence: the economic structure of modern Italy has been reared on a compromise, rather than on the new doctrine in its completeness. For many years past the government of Italy, for economic purposes, by a Chamber of Corporations has been an article of Fascist faith, but the Chamber itself has not yet come into being. Soon—if we are not reading too much into the words of Signor Mussolini's speech, when, as he hopes, Italy will have attained her object in Abyssinia—it will be constituted, and Italy will have taken her place, with Soviet Russia and Hitlerite Germany, among the chief rebels against the old order of things. The pyramid will be complete. All the Italian industries, grouped into corporations, will be represented in this new chamber, which will have full control, for nearly all purposes, over the nation's economic affairs. It is needless to say that the control will not be absolute. The new chamber will be a body of Fascists, subject ultimately to the authority of the party as a whole—in other words, of the Duce. Its function will be the planning of industry, and all legislation pertaining to industry, with an eye not only upon the welfare of Italy, but upon the glory and perpetuation of the Fascist doctrine of the State. Much can be said in favour of a separate House of Parliament for the administration of industrial affairs. In Ireland, as in England, the functions of the Lower House are manifestly far too diverse, with the result that during recent years there has been an increasing tendency to leave the management of economic affairs in detail to the Government. Signor Mussolini has preferred to divide the State's industrial being from its political being by the creation of a separate House of the Legislature.

Why has Signor Mussolini chosen this moment to announce the final stage in his country's economic evolution? One would think that he would defer so far-reaching a change in the social fabric until Italy should be out of the Ethiopian wood. Are we over-imaginative in assuming that his motive is necessity? Simultaneously with the announcement of the Chamber of Corporations, the Duce reveals that in the very near future the heavy industries of Italy must submit to a high degree of socialisation. During the Great War Mr. Lloyd George realised that the British munitions industry could not supply the needs of the fighting services, and immediately brought them under the control of the State. Signor Mussolini to-day is confronted with the same necessity. The war in Abyssinia has been an inordinate drain upon the resources of Italy, who never has been particularly rich since the War. There is a daily clamour from the forces in Africa for munitions and vehicles, and it looks as if the sorely burdened manufactories are no longer able to supply them with the necessary speed and in the necessary abundance. Accepting Mr. Lloyd George's example, Signor Mussolini now proposes to take over the heavy industries, and to concentrate all their resources on the production of engines of war. To admit this need openly would be to admit a state of national emergency, which is the very last thing that Signor Mussolini, whose power largely depends on the ignorance of his people, is willing to admit. Accordingly, he has synchronised his taking-over of the heavy industries with the news of the new Chamber of Corporations, and, presumably, is trying to represent it as a natural element in the development of Fascism. If it had not been for the slow progress of the African war, the establishment of the new Chamber might have been postponed indefinitely.

The way of a dictator calls for the utmost subtlety. Signor Mussolini invaded Abyssinia in order to bolster up his prestige at home—in order to divert the Italian people's attention from the shortcomings of the Fascist régime. If the campaign is a failure, or if he is compelled by the pressure of the Powers to conclude a dishonourable peace, his reign almost certainly will be at an end. On the other hand, even if he succeeds, the result must be calamitous to Italy. The war already has cost her millions upon millions of pounds, and it is very questionable whether the development of Abyssinia will recoup her for this expenditure for many years to come. Whatever may happen, Italy must prepare herself for a long period of comparative poverty, for a steady decrease in the standard of living, and for harder work than that to which she has been accustomed, even under the iron rule of recent years. If Signor Mussolini hopes to suppress the almost inevitable murmurings of his people he will require to husband the national resources to the last degree; and therein his Chamber of Corporations, manned and directed by the Fascist Party, will prove itself invaluable. We cannot withhold admiration from the great majority of Signor Mussolini's achievements. Thanks to his discipline, Italy's sufferings during the great depression were notably less than might have been expected, and even to-day she is bearing the financial strains of the Abyssinian war remarkably well. Yet a day of reckoning must come, and Signor Mussolini must invoke all his qualities of leadership to meet and overcome it. Even Germany, with her colossal programmes of rearmament and public works, has avoided so terrible a drain upon her resources. By this one misguided step Signor Mussolini has converted his country's excellent chance of continued prosperity into a certainty of financial disaster. Will his new organisation of economics be proof against that disaster, or will he discover that economic principles remain the same whatever new guise they may assume?

Telephone Reforms

During the last week many Dublin people must have noticed, with pleasure and a little surprise, that the number of public telephone call-boxes has suddenly grown. The Department of Posts and Telegraphs, however, makes a far greater concession to the public in the announcement which we publish to-day. From July 1st nearly all telephone charges in the Free State will be lowered. The rates for trunk calls, personal calls and local calls made by subscribers will be reduced, as also will be the charges for rentals. Most welcome of all, perhaps, is the fact that the flat rate of a shilling for night calls, which has been in operation in Great Britain and Northern Ireland for some time past, will be extended to this country. These reductions were badly needed, though they are almost completely unexpected; for in the Dáil last May Mr. Boland gave very little hope that the State would be able to afford them. In fairness to the Department, indeed, it must be remembered how hard it is to reduce the charges for public services to the level of those which operate in Great Britain—merely because the cost of administration in a small country must always be greater, in proportion, than the cost in a large country. The discrepancy, however, was altogether too large, especially in the matter of the telephone service. We are very glad to see that the Government is making a real effort to remove the difference, and the example of Great Britain ought to reassure it that a reduction in charges does not necessarily mean a loss of revenue. When the cheap night rate was established by the British Post Office the immediate result was an increase in telephone calls, which was so great as to be embarrassing. Here the number of telephone subscribers has been growing steadily, but slowly, and the new cheap rates should prove to be a great stimulus. In all its efforts for improvement, however, the Free State Post Office still is saddled with that old man of the sea—the telegraph service. In spite of the fact that telegraphic rates are almost fantastically high in this country, the service is run at a loss, and the loss seems to become greater every year. The Government, we imagine, would be very glad to abolish the Free State telegraphs altogether in favour of the telephone. So far it has been unwilling to take the step, on the plea that the telegraph, uneconomic as it has proved, is an essential public service in the more remote parts of the country. It should not be impossible, however, to find some way out of the difficulty. Already the telephone is being used in many village post offices for receiving and transmitting "telegrams," and the idea might be developed. The telephone has proved its suitability for this country, and it is a pity that its progress should be hampered because the costly and inefficient telegraph also must be maintained.

The Queen Mary

To-day, in the presence probably of more than a million people, the new Cunard-White Star liner, Queen Mary, will be taken from her fitting-out basin at Clydebank down the narrow winding river to the deep waters of the Firth of Clyde. During the last few weeks the Queen Mary's dock at Clydebank has been a place of pilgrimage for hundreds of thousands of persons from all parts of the British Isles. On last Sunday it was estimated that at least a quarter of a million people congregated during the day to catch a glimpse of the great vessel, and interested visitors have come from all parts of the world to see the "wonder" ship. The Queen Mary is something more than the greatest ocean liner in the world. There have been other vessels which, in their time, were just as remarkable as she is, and the general public took little or no interest in them; but the Queen Mary is different. She is a symbol of Britain's returning sea-power, and the impulse that will turn millions of minds to think of her to-day will be an impulse of deep patriotism. For nearly two years the Queen Mary lay on the stocks at Clydebank a mere shell. The necessary money was not available to finish her, and for a time it seemed as if she would remain there indefinitely, a sorry monument to British folly. When the British Government decided that she must be completed, the great ship became an object of national concern. Every citizen felt that he, or she, had a personal interest in the Queen Mary, and every detail of her construction was followed by the general public. She will leave her birthplace to-day, bearing with her the good wishes of all those who have been connected in however humble a manner with her building. She will be missed on the Clyde, where her presence for the last few years has meant a full pay envelope every week for thousands of work-people who now will be idle again. It is hoped generally that the Cunard-White Star Line will be enabled to build a sister ship to the Queen Mary, and that no time will be lost in the placing of another order. It is not likely that ships of the Queen Mary type will be able to pay their way on the North Atlantic service; but British prestige at sea demands that the Red Ensign shall recover its former place on the ocean, and that British ships shall offer Transatlantic passengers a service that is second to none in the world.

Easy Money?

The New York Correspondent of the Daily Telegraph supplies some interesting examples of the high salaries which, in spite of recent efforts to reduce the level, still are being paid to many of the "stars" of Hollywood. Miss Janet Gaynor, for some reason, heads the list with an income of £50,000 per annum; Mr. Warner Baxter is second, with £37,000; and these two are followed by Mr. Frederic March, with £31,000, Mr. Maurice Chevalier, with £30,000, Mr. George Arliss, with £25,000, Mr. Clark Gable, with £19,000, Mr. Charles Laughton, with £13,000, Miss Nancy Carroll, with £10,000, and Miss Claudette Colbert, with £7,000. The most profitable contract of all, however, belonged to Mr. Will Rogers, who, before his death in an air accident last year, was drawing no less a sum than £65,000 a year. When one considers that a man with all the responsibilities of the British Prime Minister obtains a mere £5,000 a year, and that acceptance of the office traditionally precludes him not only from the enjoyment of "side-lines," but from any subsequent source of money-making, the salaries paid to mummers of the screen seem lamentably excessive. The rewards of this earth, however, are not measured by standards of utility. The average public demands little or nothing of its governors: the intelligent observer who should venture to point out that quite a lot depends on the Prime Minister's capacity for his job would be reminded, in all probability, that the Prime Minister was little more than a figurehead, and that dozens of equally good Prime Ministers could be obtained with the least possible trouble, whereas, as all the world knows, film "stars" loom more than life-size in the public view, and must possess qualities and capacities which are denied to every Tom, Dick and Harry. In a word, the public places on the film actor a "scarcity value" which it denies to the politician. Perhaps the public is right.

FROM "THE TIMES"

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

THE QUEEN MARY

In a leading article The Times observes to-day: To-day the great Cunard-White Star liner, the Queen Mary, will leave the Clyde on her first, and what some hold to be her most critical, voyage. The eyes and the minds of thousands will be upon her, the ears of thousands will be listening to the narrative of her progress; publicity has been hers from the first. It began before she was even a number—No. 534 in her builder's yard. The bare idea of her was hotly discussed. Work upon her had lasted but a few months when it was stopped by the financial crisis of 1931. Its resumption, after a long spell of weary waiting, and hoping and suffering, on the Clyde, brought about the fusion of the two largest British companies in the Atlantic trade, and the Government's practical support, which enabled the gigantic task to be resumed, was taken universally as one of the chief symbols and signs given to the world of the nation's returning self-confidence and vigour.

She is the largest British ship yet built, an immeasurable store of knowledge and experience has gone to the making of her, and she will always be remembered for her association with the dawn that drove away despondency.

The Queen Mary is not meant to be the biggest and the fastest ship afloat, adds The Times. She is meant to be the smallest and slowest that will do the work required of her. In the same way, she is not meant to be the most luxurious ship afloat. She is not meant to be a luxury ship at all. It has been made perfectly clear that the luxury will be there for those who seek it, but one advantage of great size in a ship is that room can be made for all sorts of people, and the Queen Mary is not for the rich only. High hopes and keen interest attend her to-day, and will attend her to-morrow and Thursday and half of Friday as she makes her way to Southampton.

Much is expected of her; that is one of the penalties of becoming a popular favourite. To achieve all that is hoped of her she must surpass all competition, and she is not likely to have things all her own way without challenge. More, in fact, is demanded by popular expectation than was ever intended. Yet, if popular feeling has any power, the great ship sets out with a better chance than most. No ship has ever been so rooted by circumstances in the hearts and lives of the people. It is not only that she has been distinguished by the high honour of her name, of the Royal launching, of the recent visit of the King, and by many another sign of her national importance. In all but the very darkest days she meant work to thousands on the Clyde, and work, as we have learned better since those days, brings more to working men and their families than food and warmth.

LONDON LETTER

THE ABYSSINIAN WAR

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

AT St James's Palace this morning the Council Room was given over to the Committee of Thirteen, which is deliberating on the steps necessary to bring the Italian war to a close. The proceedings were in private, but it was stated afterwards that Señor Madariaga, the Chairman of the Committee, and M. Avenol, the Secretary of the League of Nations, had been instructed to approach Italy and Abyssinia. The Committee also passed a resolution deciding to submit the protest of the Abyssinian Government against the use of poison gas by the Italians to the Italian Government and to request a reply. Señor Madariaga will call the Committee together again when he has something useful to report, and when he considers that the Committee's mediation would be useful. A meeting of the League Council was to have been held this afternoon, but it was postponed until to-morrow.

Germany's Attitude

Sir Eric Phipps, the British Ambassador in Berlin, received instructions yesterday from London to make a final appeal to Herr Hitler to agree to the Locarno Powers' proposals for settling the Rhineland crisis. Possibly as a result of this appeal it became known here during the afternoon that Germany's answer will not be an unqualified rejection of the proposals, but will leave the door open for further negotiations. It is thought that the reply will reach London within the next twenty-four hours. That Germany will agree to the placing of an international police force in the Rhineland is regarded as most improbable, and in many quarters regret is expressed that such a proposal was ever put forward. The Cabinet is well aware of the difficulties attendant on the situation, but, as it has done its utmost to bring about a good understanding between France and Germany, it is indifferent to public criticism. It is still the hope that Germany will agree to the concessions required by France. These, in the circumstances, are thought reasonable and moderate, quite apart from the international policing of a Rhineland zone.

Questions in Parliament

During the question hour in the House of Commons to-day Mr. Anthony Eden was asked by several members for information on the European situation. He said that in the course of conversations with Herr von Ribbentrop he had emphasised that the White Paper and the terms in it were in the nature of proposals. He had made it clear that the British Government hoped that the German Government would be in a position to accept them, but that in any event the Government felt that the German Government should assist it in its task by making some constructive contribution to improve the situation. Mr. Eden was to have given a speech at Bristol this evening, but he decided to cancel the engagement and to remain in London. The Labour Opposition in the House of Commons is anxious that the debate on the Locarno Powers' proposal, which was arranged for to-morrow, shall now take place on Thursday, and the suggestion is supported by quite a number of Conservatives, because they are becoming uneasy about some of the proposals. Another incident in the House to-day was of interest. Mr. Tom Johnson handed in a question addressed to the Prime Minister demanding a plebiscite of the electors before the country is committed to that part of the Locarno Plan which provides for consultations between the General Staffs of Great Britain, France and Belgium.

The Reichstag Elections

The elections for the new Reichstag will take place on Sunday next, and it is in connection with these that the present international crisis has come about. It is suggested that General Goering and Dr. Goebbels, both fully aware that the economic situation was becoming most serious, pushed on the Rhineland adventure of Herr Hitler, so that they might get a new Reichstag elected on a foreign policy which would unite the whole country. The decision to take this line was formulated in the inner councils of the Nazi Party, and it is expected that the election will be a sweeping success for Herr Hitler. Quite apart from the proposals of the Locarno Powers, which have offended the national susceptibilities of all Germans, the circumstances reduce the chances of opposition to a minimum. An overwhelming majority, however, is deemed so essential that every Nazi district leader has been told that if the election figures in his district do not reach a total of ninety per cent. he will be liable to dismissal.

Dr. Schacht

The economic situation in Germany is likely to become extremely serious before long, and will probably be heralded by the resignation of Dr. Schacht, who has been repeatedly insisting on the necessity of bringing about an understanding with the Western Powers in the interests of better trade. Dr. Schacht has been very dissatisfied for a long time past, and this feeling was increased when a speech he made recently at Bremen was severely censored. He is very unpopular with the extreme section of the Nazi Party, which is definitely anti-capitalist and favours a huge deflation programme in order to deal with unemployment. His resignation will be welcomed by them, and will be regarded as leaving the field clear for financial experiments.

"Unionist" or "Conservative"?

The use of the term "Unionist" as an alternative to "Conservative" is likely to be dropped on the proposal of the officials of the party headquarters. The word was first used forty years ago by the late Lord Salisbury when he was Prime Minister, and was continued by Mr. Bonar Law when he held office in 1922. For general purposes the "C" returned to the parliamentary reports under Mr. Baldwin, and it has remained in use until now. The first Prime Minister to make use of it was Sir Robert Peel in 1835. Up to then the letter "T" for "Tory" was used. As the Irish question is no longer regarded as a live issue in English party politics, "Unionist" is to be regarded as out of date.

The Queen Mary

The Queen Mary is to leave Greenock on her way to Southampton to-morrow, and it is said that a series of conferences are taking place with the idea of arranging a cruise for the King before the liner starts for New York on May 27th. Up to the present nothing of a definite character has been arranged, but there will be an "officials only" cruise before the start of the voyage. It is recalled that when the King inspected the vessel lately he said that he would welcome the opportunity of seeing her when the work was completed, and the idea in Glasgow is that he may go on the official cruise. During the stay of the Queen Mary at Southampton she will undergo surveys by Lloyds and the Board of Trade, and there will also be an inspection of the hull to see that every Clydeside barnacle has been removed.

The Homeric (34,350 tons), the largest twin-screw steamer afloat, reached Ward's shipbuilding docks, Inverkeithing Bay, Fife, yesterday. Before being broken up she will be open for inspection.

SHILLING TELEPHONE CALLS AT NIGHT

To All Parts of Britain and Ireland

FREE STATE MINISTER'S ANNOUNCEMENT

Reduction of Charges for All Periods

THE forecast published in the "Irish Times" last Friday regarding imminent improvements and extensions in the telephone service in the Free State has been borne out by an official announcement issued last evening.

One of the most important changes is the extension of the system of one shilling night calls, which has been in operation in Great Britain and Northern Ireland for some time. Under the new arrangement subscribers in the Free State will be able to communicate with all parts of Great Britain and Ireland for a fee of one shilling for a three minutes' conversation.

The new scheme will come into operation on 1st July next.

Among the other changes proposed are the following:—

Annual rentals (now £7 10s.) will be reduced to £6 (business) and £5 (residential).

Free mileage will be extended from one to three miles.

Local calls reduced from 1¼d. to 1d.

The 3d. local call from "call offices" reduced to 2d.

Local fee on trunk calls to be abolished.

A general reduction in trunk calls, with a maximum in the Free State of 2s. 6d. for day calls and 4s. to Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Night rate will apply from 7 p.m. to 9 a.m.

The flat rate supplementary fee for "personal" calls will be 1s.

THE OEFICIAL STATEMENT

The official announcement is as follows:

The Minister for Posts and Telegraphs announces that the following reductions of telephone tariffs will come into effect on the 1st of July next—

(1) RENTALS.

Rentals will be reduced to standard rates (£6 10s. for a business line and £5 for a residence line) at all exchanges where existing rentals are now £7 10s. a year.

(2) EXTENSION OF "FREE MILEAGE" RADIUS.

The "free mileage" radius will be extended in all cases from one mile to three miles. This means that the standard rentals will cover the provision of circuits up to three miles instead of one mile, as at present. The existing excess mileage charge of £10 per mile will, therefore, be applied only for the portions of circuits extending beyond three miles.

(3) FEES FOR "LOCAL" CALLS.

The present general fee of 1½d. for "local" calls (up to five miles) from subscribers' lines will be reduced to 1d.

(4) CALLS FROM CALL OFFICES.

The present fee of 3d. for "local" calls (up to five miles) from "coin-box" call offices on subscribers' lines will be reduced to 2d. For calls between five and seven and a half miles the fee will be reduced from 5d. to 4d.

The supplementary "local" fee of 3d. on trunk calls from all call offices will be reduced to 2d. per three minutes.

(5) TRUNK CALL CHARGES—"LOCAL" FEE.

The "local" fee of 1½d. now charged, in addition to the trunk fee proper on trunk calls from subscribers' lines, will be abolished. Only the trunk fee proper will be charged.

TRUNK CALL FEES.

Trunk call fees will be reduced all round. The new rates will be as follows:—

WELCOME SURPRISE

The new proposals are welcomed by the general subscriber and the business-man. Most of these have been too long delayed, and even though some do not go far enough, they are taken as an indication of better things to come later on. Indeed, it is a matter of surprise that the Minister has been able to go so far, when one recalls the note of pessimism which ran through his statement to the Dail in May last, when the Post Office estimate was under consideration.

At that time he was able to announce a small surplus on the year's working of £44 000, but, nevertheless, he held out little hope that any increased facilities could be provided in the near future. He admitted that there had been a substantial increase in the number of subscribers, and he had every reason to believe that this would continue; but he seemed to have some doubt as to the ability of the Department to meet the demand in the laying of the necessary cables.

ECONOMIC POSITION

While he was as anxious as anyone for the extension of the telephone service, he claimed that the economic situation of the time made it undesirable for him to ask the Minister for Finance to grant the large sum that would be needed to finance any large development scheme.

It is gratifying to know that Mr. Boland is not now so dubious regarding the economic position. No doubt, he expects, and will secure, a large number of new subscribers as a result of the concessions now announced.

THUNDERSTORM IN ENGLAND

SCHOOLBOY FATALLY INJURED

AIRMAN KILLED IN 'PLANE CRASH

DURING a terrific thunderstorm yesterday an eleven years old boy received fatal injuries when his school was struck by lightning, and a few miles away an aeroplane crashed to the ground, killing its pilot.

The storm, which raged over the whole of the West Midlands, reached its zenith in Shropshire.

SCHOOL DAMAGED

A crashing of brickwork reverberated through Constitution Hill Senior Boys' School, Wellington, when the chimney of the building was struck by a particularly vivid flash, and Denis Crane, of the Oddfellows' Arms, High street, Wellington, received so severe head injuries from flying debris that he died in hospital late last night.

Several other pupils were slightly injured.

'PLANE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Acting Pilot Officer George Rowland Buchanan, of No. 10 Flying Training School, Tern Hill, Shropshire, was killed last night when his 'plane, which is believed to have been struck by lightning, crashed when about four miles south of Tern Hill.

A Market Drayton resident informed a reporter that a violent storm of thunder and lightning was raging at the time of the crash, and it was thought that the 'plane had been struck.

Acting Pilot Officer Buchanan was under instruction at No. 10 Training School, with priority dating from February 1 last.

"MUST HAVE A NAVY"

DEFENCE OF SOUTH AFRICA

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CAPE T WN, Monday.

An outspoken statement regarding South Africa's obligations towards the Navy and her own coast defences was made by the Duke of Montrose at the annual meeting of the Navy League of South Africa.

The Duke argued that the time had come when the great self-governing Dominions should be asked to look after themselves in the matter of defence measures and costs—at least to share in some proportionate degrees the burdens of others. The people of Great Britain were already taxed to the limit. They could not bear much more.

It was ridiculous for a country like South Africa to say that she could depend upon an Army with thousands of miles of coastline. She must have adequate naval defences.

Will Not Apply Sanctions Against Germany

DANUBIAN CONFERENCE'S REPORTED PACT

Conciliatory Reply from Fuehrer Expected

THERE was no important development yesterday in connection with the Locarno Powers' Memorandum on the subject of Germany's remilitarisation of the Rhineland and the suggested peace conference. Germany has not yet replied to the Powers, and neither has Italy indicated her adherence to the proposals.

It may be significant, however, that the agreement signed yesterday by Italy, Austria and Hungary is understood to contain a clause under which the three countries undertake not to apply sanctions against Germany in the event of the League decreeing them.

Herr von Ribbentrop will fly back to London to-day.

In diplomatic circles, says Reuter's Berlin Correspondent, it is believed that Germany's reply to the London Memorandum is likely to be couched in firm, but conciliatory, terms. It is felt that Germany has, no doubt, been impressed by the amount of understanding for her point of view which has been shown in Britain, and that, far from wishing to offend British public opinion, she would like to back up this understanding, if it can be done without imperilling her right to sovereignty and equality.

A further indication that the German reply is not going to be a wholesale refusal to co-operate is seen in the very long time which is being taken to compose it.

BRITISH OPPOSITION WANTS DISCUSSION

The House of Commons debate on the Locarno Powers' proposals will take place on Thursday, unless something happens in the interval to prevent the Foreign Secretary from being in his place on the Treasury bench on that day.

The Government would like the debate to stand over until after the German reply has been received, but the Labour Opposition desires to discuss the memorandum on Thursday, whether the German reply is available then or not, provided that it is possible for Mr. Eden to attend.

There is a good deal of criticism of the White Paper in Parliamentary quarters. Most of the criticism is to be found on the Government's side of the House, where the proposal to place an international force on German territory is regarded by many members as foredoomed to failure.

LABOUR'S TROUBLE

Labour members appear to be more critical of the arrangements for General Staff conversations than of the proposal to create an international force. There seems to be more support on the Opposition side of the House for strong measures against Germany than on the Ministerial side, where the plea is for the shortest possible cut to realistic negotiations with Germany.

Replying to a question at Westminster yesterday, Mr. Eden, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said: "In the course of my conversations with Herr von Ribbentrop I emphasised that the contents of the document which had been communicated to him were in the nature of proposals, and I made it clear that His Majesty's Government hoped that the German Government would be in a position to accept, and that, in any event, His Majesty's Government felt that the German Government should assist them in their task by making some constructive contribution to improve the situation."

LEAGUE MAY ADJOURN

There is a strong feeling among certain members of the League Council that it will be desirable to adjourn the first session without further delay. This view is especially advocated in French quarters, and M. Paul Boncour is consulting M. Titulescu on the subject.

The French argue that the Council cannot discuss the Locarno proposals (1) because they have not been definitely referred to the Council, and cannot be so until Italy has given her adhesion to them; (2) because, in any case, the rôle of the Council under the Locarno Treaty is confined to the indictment of the aggressor.

MAY AGREE TO HAGUE PROPOSAL

GERMAN REPLY SPECULATION

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Monday.

Foreign diplomats here believe that Herr Hitler, Baron von Neurath and Herr von Ribbentrop, along with other experts, have been examining the memorandum from every angle to see what possibilities of negotiation it offers.

To-night it was being suggested that it was not even out of the question that Germany might accept the Hague Court proposal in some form or other if, for instance, she was assured that her case would be judged not only on a strictly juridical basis, but also one of equity.

Everybody agrees, however, that the one thing Germany will not submit to is the quartering of foreign troops on her territory, but that is the only point on which a flat refusal is certainly expected. The rest of the reply will probably leave the way open to negotiation, but will be couched in terms of some firmness, with insistence on Germany's equal treatment.

In drawing up Germany's reply consideration will have to be given to German, as well as to British, public opinion.

Nothing definite is likely to be made known before to-morrow afternoon at the earliest.

BIG SPEECH TO-NIGHT

Adolf Hitler's speech to-morrow evening in the Deutschland Hall is being looked forward to by political circles as likely to be of the greatest importance for a further development of the international political situation.

All roads along which Hitler will drive to the Deutschland Hall, a distance of about three miles, will be equipped with loudspeakers to give the great masses which are expected to line the roads an opportunity of listening to their Fuehrer's statement on foreign policy and his election appeal

SOVIET AND GERMANY

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MOSCOW, Monday.

The possibilities of an improvement in Russo-German relations were discussed by M. Molotov, Chairman of the Council of People's Commissars, in a recent interview with M. Chastenet, chief editor of the important Paris paper, Le Temps, according to the semi-official Tass Agency.

Molotov said that, although there was a section of Soviet opinion which was irreconcilably opposed to the present régime in Germany, the majority of influential Russians considered that an improvement in relations was possible.

One of the best means to this end would be for Germany to return to the League. But such a return must be conditional upon Germany demonstrating her respect for international treaties. If Germany fulfilled these conditions, her return to the League would be regarded as a victory for peace, and would be favourably regarded by the Soviet.

THE DANUBIAN ALLIANCE

SCHUSCHNIGG TALKS AT VATICAN

ROME, Monday.

The new Danubian agreement between Austria, Hungary and Italy was signed at the Palazzo Venezia this evening. It is learnt on good authority that the agreement contained three protocols, and that it is on the following lines:—

(1) The protocols reaffirm and extend the undertaking of the three countries to consult together on all questions interesting them jointly;

(2) Determination to maintain the independence of Austria is reiterated. It is believed that the adhesion of other Great Powers to this declaration is invited;

(3) The three countries agree not to apply sanctions to Germany in the event of the League decreeing them;

(4) The principle of bilateral, rather than pluri-lateral, agreements is laid down for future negotiation. This point, it is thought, may enable Austria to collaborate more closely with Czechoslovakia;

(5) There is no mention of military agreements:

(6) On the economic side the protocols express the determination of the three

THE PRIDE OF THE CLYDE

80,773-Ton Liner Ready for Sea

MILLION PEOPLE AT THE START

Three Difficult Bends

THE final preparations for the departure of the Queen Mary from Clydebank to Greenock to-day are complete. An army of men was engaged all day in giving her a final polish; in removing all traces that had been left by the thousands of people who visited her during the week-end; in scrubbing her white decks, cleaning her portholes, and washing her great hull, which now shines resplendent in its colours of black and grey, with red funnels soaring high above her snow-white superstructure.

There is no doubt about the enthusiastic send-off which Glasgow will give to the pride of her shipyards when the Queen Mary moves down the narrow waterway to make her débût to the open sea.

The weather outlook is good.

One of the last measures taken yesterday to prepare for the liner's departure was the removal of H.M.S. Southampton, the cruiser which was recently launched, from the fitting out basin, which she has shared with the Queen Mary. In order to give the liner a clear passage the Southampton is accommodated in Rothesay Dock adjoining, where she lies singularly inconspicuous in comparison with the huge vessel soaring cliff-high a little way off.

SUPREME MOMENT

It will be a supreme moment in the history of shipbuilding at Clydeside when at about eleven o'clock to-day powerful tugs will take charge of her.

The tugs will stand by awaiting the signal to prepare almost inch by inch to move the Queen Mary from the fitting out basin to the fairway. The great hawsers will be tightened, and very slowly the stern of the great ship will be turned to point upstream. As the stern moves round, her bows will gradually be canted until they are pointing downstream.

Then for the first time the public, who will be gathered in thousands on the open spaces of the Renfrew shore opposite, will be able to appreciate with some reality the enormous dimensions of the liner.

UNDER OWN STEAM

From this moment the Queen Mary will proceed under her own steam. Two tugs will be ahead of her and two more behind her with hawsers secured to ring-bolts in her side. The purpose of the accompanying tugs will not be so much to tow her as to check her progress down the narrow stream and assist in steering her round the awkward bends which will have to be negotiated until she meets the open water off Greenock. Never before in the whole of their experiences have the Clyde pilots undertaken such a task as that which will face them to-day.

The show-ship of the British Navy, H.M.S. Hood, which was built at John Brown's shipyard with a tonnage of 42,100, is, perhaps, the nearest parallel.

The Queen Mary, the show-ship of the mercantile marine, is twice her size, with a gross tonnage officially announced yesterday of 80,773. But the pilots in charge of her (Captain Duncan Cameron and Captain John Murchie) have no apprehension about their job.

There are actually three bad bends which will have to be negotiated The first is at Dalmuir, which is below Clydebank; the second—and the worst of all—at Bowling, and the third at Garvel.

At some points the channel is little more than 300 feet wide—the breadth of the Queen Mary is 118 feet—so that those who gather near the water-side will be in the position of staring straight up to her vast decks

A MILLION PEOPLE

It is anticipated that upwards of 1,000,000 people will line the gently sloping woods and meadows through which the Clyde flows for several miles from Clydebank towards Greenock.

Every hotel in Glasgow is packed with visitors, and elaborate arrangements have been made for the transportation from an early hour of the huge multitude which will take up their positions on the miles of natural grass-banks which the conformation of the countryside presents.

It is expected that the beginning of the operation of moving the Queen Mary from her fitting-out basin into the fairway will be at a few minutes to eleven. The process of turning the liner so that her bows point downstream will take probably about half an hour. But the total time which the vessel is expected to take to cover the fifteen miles from Clydebank to Greenock will be rather more than three hours.

Sir Edgar Britten, the Commodore of the Cunard-White Star fleet, will be on the bridge, but the responsibility of piloting the Queen Mary to Greenock will rest with Captain Cameron.

Sir Percy Bates, Chairman of the Cunard-White Star, will be on the bridge with Sir Edgar Britten.

Edward Preston Ball, who has been accused of the murder of his mother, Mrs. Lavena Ball, who has been missing for several weeks, was taken from the Richmond Hospital, Dublin, yesterday, to Mountjoy Jail.

MINISTER'S VISIT TO FOYNES

Formal Opening of New £34,000 Pier

PROPOSED TRANSATLANTIC AIR SERVICE

Outstanding Advantages of the Direct Route

THE pleasant little seaboard town of Foynes, County Limerick, was decorated yesterday when Mr. Sean Lemass (Minister for Industry and Commerce) formally opened its new pier, the construction of which has been described as an important engineering achievement.

Speaking afterwards, at a luncheon, of the proposed Transatlantic Air Service, the Minister stated that the geographical position of this country made it the most suitable terminus for such a service. The direct route, he said, offered considerable advantages over the other two suggested routes, and he suggested that the utilisation of the Free State would depend upon the excellence of the facilities available for such a service.

The Government, Mr. Lemass added, had been taking expert advice, and there was no question that this country had available areas capable of being developed into air ports, but, he said, the immediate development of the Transatlantic service was a matter upon which it was not possible now to say anything definite.

IRELAND AND THE ATLANTIC

Mr. Lemass, who responded to the toast, "The Port and Harbour of Foynes," which was proposed by Mr. McCormack, Chairman of the Limerick County Council, said that the development of a trans-Atlantic air service was going to come some time. People who were competent to express an opinion on such matters were unanimous on the point that such a service was feasible now, and the air authorities in France, Germany, Britain and other countries were considering ways and means of conquering the new method of transportation.

In relation to the Atlantic, the geographical position of Ireland made it a most suitable terminus for a trans-Atlantic service. There was proposed a northern route via Iceland, a southern route via the Azores, while the direct route was via Ireland and Newfoundland. From every point of view the direct route offered considerable advantages over the others, having regard to the shorter sea distance and the possibilities for refuelling. If this country was to get the fullest possible advantages from its geographical position, they must not lose sight of the fact that there were alternative routes, and, consequently, recognise that the utilisation of the Free State would depend upon the excellence of the facilities made available for such a service.

GOVERNMENT ALERT

"We must have," said Mr. Lemass, "regard to one consideration only, and that is the suitability of the area chosen, and the purpose of the service which it is intended to operate in that connection. The Government has been taking expert advice, and there is no question that we have available areas quite capable of being developed into airports—whether for land 'planes or for seaplanes—as good as any that exist elsewhere."

The extent to which it would be necessary for them to avail themselves of those areas and the immediate development of the trans-Atlantic service were matters concerning which it was not possible now to say anything definite. It was, however, probable that experimental flights would be made during the course of the present year; but these flights would be made not merely for this country, because other Governments were also arranging similar flights. They could be confident that, irrespective of the results of those flights, the ultimate and outstanding advantage of the direct route would secure that the bulk of whatever trans-Atlantic air traffic was available in the immediate future would be at the disposal of the company operating on the direct route.

DEVELOPMENT OF INDUSTRY

The development of industry was a matter with which the Department of Industry was concerned particularly. It was not the function of the Government to establish industry, however, but rather to create conditions in which the business man could establish it successfully. It was the aim of the Government to secure that industry would be decentralised. Therefore, any proposal to allocate in a part of the country like Foynes an industry of a kind for which there was room in their economic organisation would be welcome and would be encouraged by the Department.

The whole programme of industrial development, however, rested, to a large extent, on the prosperity of agriculture. But it was not the desire or the function of the Government to get out of one form of specialisation and into another. Therefore, their aim in regard to agriculture was to make prosperity to their farmers secure, so far as it was possible to do so, on the basis of a home market. There would be always a surplus production in certain agricultural products. That surplus would be necessary to pay for the goods that must be imported, but they hoped to develop agriculture in such a manner that the prosperity of those who engaged in it would be protected, irrespective of the changes that might take place in world conditions.

AGRICULTURAL PRICES

There was only one thing wrong with the farmers, and that was that the prices for their products were too low. Therefore, they asked for the co-operation of industrialists in the development of a public opinion that would make possible a revision of agricultural prices on a basis fair to the farmers. That public opinion was necessary for the reorganisation of the industry.

Referring to the tourist industry, the Minister said that there was required, both here and abroad, advertisement of the facilities available here. There must be scenery to attract, but there must also be good accommodation and a reasonable amount of enjoyment also provided for visitors.

ENGINEERS AND CONTRACTORS

Captain the Hon. Spring Rice, who proposed the toast, "The Contractors and Engineers," said that there was an immense future for the tourist industry, and it ought to be developed on strictly local lines. He paid a tribute to the contractors and engineers.

Mr. D. McCaffrey, the contractor, responding, said that he was very proud of the new pier. It had been built with the aid of workmen whose work had been as satisfactory as anyone could wish. The engineers also had been as generous as they could be, and he hoped that his name would be thought of when the air base at Foynes was to be built. He congratulated the Minister on identifying himself with the project. The presence of Mr. Lemass was an encouragement to the area.

Paying a tribute to the engineers, he said that to Mr. Tom Simington ninety per cent. of the credit for the building of the pier was due. The Harbour Commissioners also had given him much help, and they deserved to be congratulated on their efforts in bringing the project to fruition. He believed that there was a great future for the town, a future that would be made possible by the men who were on the Harbour Trust.

Mr. A. Delap (Messrs. Delap and Waller), responding, said that the engineers' function was to get the work done. The construction of the pier had been an extremely pleasant one. He was satisfied that through the efforts of Mr. McCaffrey and Mr. Simington a sound job had been done.

ADMIRAL OF THE SHANNON

Dr. A. Nolan proposed the toast, "The Guests." He said that the work had been carried out by able workers, both skilled and unskilled.

In responding, the Mayor of Limerick (Mr. J. Casey) said that one of his titles was Admiral of the Shannon, and he hoped that in the near future he would be able to have as his flagship an air boat moored at Foynes

MINISTER'S ARRIVAL

THE OPENING CEREMONY

On his arrival at Foynes the Minister, who was accompanied by Mr. L. O'Brien, his secretary, was received by the Chairman and Trustees of the Harbour. He was taken to a platform at the end of the pier, which he formally declared open.

Mr. H. M. V. O'Brien, Chairman of the Foynes Harbour Trustees, in introducing the Minister, referred to the close connection between the harbour and the Monteagle family. In 1846, he said, the first Lord Monteagle was responsible in Parliament for the inception of the harbour, and contributed £4,000 to the cost. The second Lord Monteagle obtained the powers necessary to set up the Trustees, and acted as their chairman for 36 years, during which two jetties were built and the annual income grew from £100 to £3,000. It was owing to the thoroughness and foresight of the third Lord Monteagle, who was chairman for eight years, that they owed the smoothness with which the work they were now inaugurating had gone through.

"We hear," said Mr. O'Brien, "of new projects from time to time which might affect us. There has always been talk of American liners coming here, and now there is talk of air liners. We believe we could offer good accommodation to both."

NO LABOUR TROUBLES

He added that no vessel loading or unloading at the port had ever been held up by a labour dispute. The trade of the port consisted principally of imports of motor spirit, paraffin, coal, cement, timber and manures. The total tonnage of these commodities amounted to 62,000 tons in the year 1934-'35. They exported 15,000 tons of motor spirit, paraffin and coal during the same period, and the revenue for that year was £5,676. He thanked the Minister for Industry and Commerce for providing the guarantee for the £23,000 loan for the construction of the pier.

In conclusion, Mr. O'Brien paid tribute to the contractors and to the engineers who, he said, had carried out a very fine job.

The previous pier, he said, had stood for forty-five years, and he believed the present one would last for ten times that period.

MINISTER'S SPEECH

In reply, Mr. Lemass said that it was, of course, a matter of national importance that works of that nature should be undertaken so that the nation would be properly equipped to deal with all the problems that were associated with its industrial and commercial activities. The members of the Board of Trustees who had conceived and carried out the enterprise deserved the thanks and congratulations not merely of the inhabitants of Foynes, but of those who were interested in the work of national reconstruction.

After paying a tribute to the engineers, the contractors and the workers who had been concerned in the building of the pier, which, he said, was a fine piece of work, the Minister said that it was extremely probable that the construction of the pier and the making available of substantially improved harbour facilities would have reactions on the prosperity of the town, and would induce people who were interested in the Government's industrial revival to give consideration to the facilities available at Foynes for their industries.

The selection of Foynes for new industrial enterprises would not be overlooked by enterprising business men anxious to establish their concerns to the best possible advantage.

MEMORIAL UNVEILED

When the Minister had concluded his speech the Very Rev. Canon Rea, P.P., Shanagolden and Foynes, blessed the pier.

Mr. Lemass then was presented with a miniature silver anchor by Mr. McCaffrey on behalf of the contractors.

Afterwards he unveiled a memorial to the late Lord Monteagle, who had done so much in the interests of the town. After he had performed the ceremony a group of local school children, with their satchels in their hands, sang "A Soldier's Song" in the Irish language.

A luncheon afterwards was given at a pavilion in the vicinity of the pier.

The attendance included:—Captain the Hon. C. Spring Rice, Mr. J. M. Casey, Mayor of Limerick; Mr. T. F. Laurie, Irish-American Oil Co.; Mr. C. S. Kenny, D.J.; Mr. D. R. O'Brien, Mr. H. S. G. HISTORY OF THE HARBOUR

Foynes Harbour has been designed by nature, but it was not until 1846 that the work of building the quays was undertaken. Under the Shannon Navigation Act the Board of Works, in the period 1846 to 1850, built the stone pier slip and breakwater at a cost of £10,000, of which the first Lord Monteagle gave £4,000. In 1852 and 1860 the basin was dredged, but it silted up again until only one berth was available. In 1890 the second Lord Monteagle obtained the Foynes Harbour Order, constituting the Trust, and the timber extension at a cost of £2,000 was then built, Lord Monteagle providing half the cost. This jetty was pulled down after forty-five years.

At that time the revenue was under £100 a year. In 1901 it had increased to £108, in 1910 to £251, in 1920 to £1,001, in 1930 to £5,000, and in 1935 to £5,676. In [illegible] the British Petroleum Company came there, and they were followed twenty years later by the Irish-American Oil Company. Just before the Great War another extension to the pier was planned, but owing to the war the work was limited to the erection of a 150 feet quay, which did not reach deep water.

THE NEW PIER

In 1931 it was recognised that the jetty could not last much longer, and plans were prepared for the present pier. Powers were obtained from the Dail in the shape of a Provisional Order and the construction of the work began in October, 1933. The work occupied twenty-seven months. The designers and engineers for the new pier were Messrs. Delap and Waller, of Dublin, and the engineers in charge were Mr. R. F. Waller and Mr. T. A. Simington. The contractors were Messrs. McCaffrey and O'Carroll, of Limerick.

While the harbour cannot take steamers of larger draught than before, the berth can be dredged to take larger vessels. The cost of the new work was £34,000. The trade at the port—which formerly had been used for the taking off of emigrants to America and as a refitting centre for British war vessels—consists principally of motor spirit, paraffin, coal, cement, timber and manures, the total tonnage in 1934-35 being 6,200 tons. The exports total 15,000 tons. The revenue for that year amounted to £5,675, and the largest vessel entering the port was the Raila of 8,770 tons.

PRESIDENT DE VALERA'S DEPARTURE

President de Valera left Dun Laoghaire last night on board the mail steamer for Holyhead, en route for Zürich, where he will consult a specialist with regard to his eyes.

A considerable number of people assembled to see him off, among whom were several Ministers, including Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, who will act as President in his absence. Others were Mr. Frank Aiken, Mr. Thomas Derrig, Mr. Conor Maguire and Senator Joseph Connolly. The President's two sons—Mr. Vivian de Valera and Mr. Eamon de Valera—were also present.

Officials of the President's Department present included Mr. J. P. Walshe, Mr. Sean Moynihan, Mr. John Hearne and Miss O'Connell.

The President was received on the boat by Mr. A. Broughton, Assistant Irish Traffic Manager of the L.M.S. Co., and Captain Cassidy, Harbour Master.

The President will be accompanied to Zurich by Mr. Denis Devlin, of the Department of External Affairs, and Captain Sean Brennan, A.D.C.

ESTIMATES IN THE DAIL

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THIS WEEK

QUESTION OF REGISTRATION OF SHOPS

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

THE Dail will meet to-day, Wednesday, and Thursday. For the present it is not proposed to hold any Friday sittings. The business will be mainly concerned with estimates for the various departments of government. Defence will be taken first, and will be followed by Education, Post Office, Agriculture and Local Government. The Dublin Fever Hospital Bill will probably be the first item on the Order Paper.

At question time to-day, Mr. Pattison (Labour, Kilkenny) will ask Mr. Lemass, Minister for Industry and Commerce, when he proposes to introduce legislation with regard to the registration of shops.

Mr. W. Davin (Labour, Offaly) will question the same Minister regarding the reorganisation of the Prices Commission, and ask whether he will include in his bill provisions empowering the Commission to deal promptly with profiteering.

General Mulcahy (U.I.P., North Dublin) will put a series of questions to Mr. Lemass on the subject of the new Turf Bill and the new Coal Committee.

In a question, not for oral answer, Mr. W. Norton (Labour, Kildare) will ask the Minister for Justice to state whether between 1922 and 1936 any application was received from the British Government, or from any other interested parties in Great Britain, for permission, to remove the remains of British soldiers from the territory of the Free State for re-interment in Great Britain; the number of such applications granted and refused, and if any were refused the grounds for such refusal.

The Senate will meet to-morrow, when a number of bills which went through the second stage last week will be further advanced.

CREDIT TO REICH BANK

STATEMENT IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Ellis Smith (Labour, Stoke) asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer what credits or loans had been given or made to the German Government or to German banks by His Majesty' Government, the Bank of England or other English banks or banking houses in the last three years, and whether any such further credits were in negotiation or contemplation.

Mr. Morrison (Financial Secretary to the Treasury) replied that in December, 1934, the Bank of England granted a credit of £750 000 to the Reich Bank in order to expedite the liquidation of outstanding trade debts to United-Kingdom creditors.

"As the Chancellor of the Exchequer informed the House at the time in reply to a question, this credit was given with his full approval," he added. "It has since been repaid. No other credit or loan has been given or made to the German Government or to the German banks by His Majesty's Government or the bank in the last three years, and no such credit or loan is in negotiation or contemplation." (Cheers.)

"He is not aware that other British banks or banking houses have in the last three years given or made or have in contemplation any such credit or loan, apart from short-term credits for commercial transactions."

Dr. Dalton (Labour, Bishop Auckland)—Will he represent to the Chancellor of the Exchequer that His Majesty's Government will greatly ease many fears prevailing here if they will state that they definitely and emphatically disapprove of, and, if necessary, will take steps to stop any loans or credits to Germany at this time?

Mr. Morrison—No doubt anything Dr. Dalton says will come to the notice of the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

VENIZELOS LEAVES PARIS

BODY ENTRAINED FOR BRINDISI

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

Paris to-day bade farewell to M. Venizelos in the great hall of the Gare de Lyon. The station was draped in silver and black. The body of the veteran Greek statesman, who died here in exile last Wednesday, is being taken by train to Brindisi. Thence it will be carried to Athens in a Greek warship. Later it will be buried in Crete, M. Venizelos's native island.

Among those present at the ceremony were members of the dead statesman's family, Marshal Franchet Desperey, Commander of the Allied Forces at Salonika during the War; General Gouraud, Military Governor of Paris; M. Politis, the Greek Minister; M. Nicolle, the French Minister for Public Health (representing the Government); General Georges (representing the General Staff); the Greek Archimandrite, and many other notabilities.

As the coffin, covered with the blue and white flag of Greece and surmounted with a cross of white roses and parma violets, was placed on its catafalque, General Lassere, commanding the troops, gave the order for the present arms. The troops next filed past the catafalque as the military band played a funeral march. General Lassere saluted with raised sword.

The coffin was then borne to a black-draped railway coach.

MOTORIST TO PAY £4,400

DERRY MOTORING ACCIDENT

William Andrew Greene, of Reid's terrace, Coleraine, Co. Derry, who stated that, following a car smash, his powers of concentration and memory were affected, and his sense of taste and smell gone for ever, was awarded £3,500 damages at Londonderry Assizes yesterday.

Miss Mary F. Edmiston, of Coleraine, a passenger in his car, was awarded £900.

Greene alleged negligence in the driving of a car by James Boyle, an auctioneer, of Antrim road, Belfast.

A counter-claim by Boyle against Greene was dismissed, and he was ordered to pay the costs.

Boyle said that he had had only two small ports and a small gin before the accident, and stated that Greene's car swerved into his.

COAL TRADE DISPUTE

MEN AGAIN ON STRIKE

WORK HELD UP AT THE PORT

THE Dublin coal workers are again on strike. They were called out at 4.45 p.m. yesterday, following a breakdown in the negotiations between Irish Coal Importers, Ltd., the Irish Seamen's and Port Workers' Union and the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union.

Representatives of the Irish Seamen's and Port Workers' Union, a body which has about 1,000 members involved in the dispute, visited the various coal yards and the vessels discharging in the port immediately the strike call was made, and by 5 p.m. all work was stopped.

Normally the banksmen work until 5.30 p.m. and the boatmen employed on cross-Channel vessels until 9 p.m. Carters work at normal rates until 6.30 p.m., at which hour overtime rates begin. When the men were called out a number of bellmen were in the yards awaiting supplies of coal. These men proposed to load their own vehicles. They were told that if they did so they would be regarded as strike-breakers and would not be supplied with coal when the dispute concluded. In some cases the bellmen insisted upon loading their vehicles, but in other cases they agreed not to do so.

FUEL FOR PUBLIC

Shortly after the strike began a Dublin firm of coke importers approached the unions with a view to making an agreement and carrying on the export of coke and coal. The unions informed the firm that they were prepared to facilitate it providing its representatives signed the agreement covering the wages and conditions demanded by the coal-workers. It is understood that this will be done to-day, and that as a result supplies of fuel will be available for the public.

Conversations which had opened last week regarding a workers' co-operative coal supply during the stoppage were continued between representatives of the Irish Seamen's and Port Workers' Union and interested parties last night, and an early decision on this point will be taken.

Representatives of the Workers' Union of Ireland were informed of the position immediately the negotiations broke down, and pledged their support to the strikers. Members of this union employed in the trade have taken sympathetic strike action.

THE CONFERENCE

The parties met in conference, under the auspices of the Department of Industry and Commerce, at 11 a.m. yesterday, at 51 Dawson street, Dublin. Before that hour a meeting of the members of Irish Coal Importers, Ltd., was held at the offices of the Ministry, and three delegates were elected to represent the association at the meeting with the unions. These delegates had instructions not to agree to negotiations until the strike notices were withdrawn. The unions' representatives had instructions not to withdraw the strike notices.

Mr. D. Sullivan, on behalf of the Department of Industry and Commerce, endeavoured to bridge the gulf, and eventually it was agreed that the conference would stand adjourned until 3.30 p.m., in order to enable the Association's representatives to report back to the general body. When the conference reassembled it was found that the members of the Association were not prepared to depart from their original attitude.

UNIONS' ATTITUDE

The Minister's representative made a strong plea to both sides to continue the negotiations, and then requested the unions not to take any action before the Minister returned to Dublin to-day. The unions, however, held that the employers were deliberately seeking to delay the crisis until the immediate trade in coal had been exhausted, and refused to entertain suggestions for any further delay. The parties separated finally at 4 p.m.

Messrs. Carroll, McAllister and Daly represented the association; Messrs. Ellis, Byrne, Dixon and two rank-and-file representatives the Irish Seamen's and Port Workers' Union, and Messrs. McCabe, Kelly, Carroll and two rank-and-file delegates the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union.

Mass meetings of the workers have been called for 7.30 this morning to arrange for the posting of pickets.

OBITUARY

MR. OSCAR ASCHE

Mr. Oscar Asche, the famous actor, who made a fortune of £200,000 out of "Chu Chin Chow," and lost it, died suddenly yesterday at Marlow, Bucks, aged 65. His wife, Miss Lily Brayton, the actress, arrived home just after he died. He had been ill since Christmas when he contracted bronchial pneumonia, which left heart weakness.

John Stranger Heiss (Oscar Asche), actor and dramatic author, was born at Geelong, Australia, on January 26, 1871. Of Norwegian descent, he studied for the stage at Christiania, and made his first stage appearance at the Opera Comique Theatre in March, 1893. Once he slept on the Thames Embankment, and picked up odd coppers by fetching cabs for theatre-goers.

In his autobiography, "Oscar Asche—his Life," published in October, 1929, he told the story of his fight for fame, and then how when he had won it he lost thousands of pounds in greyhound racing and farming in Gloucestershire.

Shortly after he arrived in England his father's bank failed, and young Asche, at the end of a tour with the Benson Shakespearean Company, found himself penniless in London. A spell of "dossing it" on the Embankment, then a little more work, and he was again on the Embankment. After a time Oscar Asche rejoined the Benson Company, with whom he spent many happy years, playing from "super" to the leading rôles.

He described in his book how a wet day inspired him to write "Chu Chin Chow," which took between £3,000,000 and £3,500,000 from the public.

"I must have drawn well over £200,000 in royalties, and everybody connected with it made a fortune. Some kept it; I didn't," wrote Mr. Asche.

He also disclosed that he made £12,000 out of the musical show, "Cairo," which he called the heaviest and most elaborate production ever put on the English stage.

He had spent, he said, according to his pass-book, £100,000 on and through the farm.

MR. J. H. McCARTHY

The death is announced of Mr. Justin Huntly McCarthy, the dramatist, novelist and historian, at his home in Putney, at the age of 75. He was the eldest son of the late Mr. Justin McCarthy, M.P. Educated at University College School and at University College, London, he began writing over fifty years ago. He had published many successful stories and plays. He attained a wide measure of popularity with "If I Were King," which had its première in London over thirty years ago, Henry Ainley, then an unknown young actor, playing a minor rôle.

The late Mr. McCarthy also devoted much time to journalism, and travelled extensively. He sat in Parliament from 1884 to 1892 as a Nationalist.

MR. R. R. BASKIN

The death took place in a nursing home in Dublin last Saturday of Mr. R. R. Baskin, at the age of 71. Mr. Baskin, who had been audit accountant of the Great Northern Railway Company (Ireland), retired about eleven years ago, having completed forty-five years' service with the company.

MR. GEORGE JAMESON

The death of Mr. George Jameson took place on Sunday last at his residence, Bettyglen, Raheny, Dublin, at the age of 81. Mr. Jameson, who qualified as an engineer, was a director of Messrs. John Jameson's distillery, from the board of which he retired about three years ago. Mr. Jameson was well known in business and engineering circles in Dublin.

DUCE'S DRASTIC DECISION

EVERYTHING FOR WAR

STATE CONTROL OF INDUSTRY

ABOLITION OF THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ROME, Monday.

THE time when Italian industry will be so busy on military construction that it will be unable to supply private individuals was foretold by Signor Mussolini in his speech to the National Assembly of Corporations to-day.

Many Italians see in his words special reference to the motor industry. The demands on Italian motor works for lorry and aircraft construction for the Army have been so great that they may have to stop supplying the private motorist altogether—at any rate, for a time. Italy has 15,000 lorries on the Eritrean front alone, and the wastage is considerable. In addition, the military authorities have envisaged the possibility of having to evacuate large numbers of people from towns threatened by air or sea bombardment in the event of war. This would have to be done by lorries and 'buses, to a large extent.

NATIONALISATION

Mussolini announced the virtual nationalisation of the great industries necessary for the defence of the nation.

Other decisions which were announced were the abolition of the Chamber of Deputies and a vigorous search for raw materials to enable the nation to be free from dependence on foreign supplies.

The industries which will be subjected to State control or management under Signor Mussolini's national defence plan include the following:—Iron and steel, ship-building, the motor industry, water, gas and electricity. Most of these industries are already under a considerable degree of control through the Institute of Industrial Reconstruction. This Government body was formed to help industries hit by the crisis of the last six years. It owns a large part, in some cases the greater part, of their capital.

"NOT SOCIALISM"

Experts to-day emphasised that the kind of nationalisation envisaged by Signor Mussolini did not resemble Socialism. "What we are doing is not to start a sort of five-year plan on the Russian model," one of them said. "Our plan is nearer to that which the British Government is supposed to be contemplating for the reorganisation of industry for national defence."

Signor Mussolini said in his speech: "The Fascist régime does not intend to put under State control and still less to bureaucratise the whole economy of the nation."

It is expected that the abolition of the Chamber of Deputies and the creation of the "Chamber of Fascists and Corporations" will follow the successful conclusion of the Abyssinian campaign. The present Chamber, elected in 1933, has still one year to run. Signor Mussolini said in 1933, "I have never liked the Chamber," and its abolition was thereafter awaited with certainty.

The new body will mark the last severance of Italian Legislature from the pre-Fascist régime. It will be elected by the twenty-two corporations in their professional capacity.

THE SIEGE

"We are in a time of war—that is, in a time which is harder and more exacting on the life of the people," said the Duce. "Another event increases the solemnity of the gravity of this hour—the siege which fifty-two nations have decided against Italy, which one single State desired and imposed."

At this veiled reference to Great Britain there were murmurs and hissings from the audience.

"Others, after having voted it, did not apply it, but obeyed the voice of their conscience. Three States—Austria, Hungary and Albania—rejected it. It was contrary to their obligations, but they revolted still more in shame at the procedure which placed Italy, the mother of civilisation, on the same level as a medley of races irremediably barbarous, such as Abyssinia."

THE GERMAN SITUATION

countries to continue to increase trade relations with each other;

(7) It is possible that a fresh attempt has been made to solve the difficult problem of payments. Exporters in all three countries complain of the delay and difficulty of getting payment for their goods under the clearing systems at present in force.

Some significance is attached to the fact that Dr. Schuschnigg had a conversation of three-quarters of an hour with Cardinal Pacelli this morning before seeing the Pope. Altogether, he spent nearly two hours at the Vatican. Cardinal Pacelli, as Secretary of State, is in charge of the Vatican's foreign policy. Dr Schuschnigg represents the extreme clerical section of Austrian opinion, which is resolute in opposing Austrian union with Germany.

REJECTED IN ADVANCE

PARIS, Monday.

The French Government has no intention, in any circumstances, of going back on the agreement reached in London between the four Powers which have remained loyal to the Locarno Treaty, it is stated in authoritative circles here tonight. M. Flandin is credited with the statement that the proposals made to Germany must be accepted as a whole or rejected. He is said to have decided not to return to London to discuss any German counter-proposals.

A French Foreign Office official, who was present when M. Flandin made his statement, emphatically later denied to Reuter that the Foreign Minister said anything so categorical as is attributed to him.

CLASH BETWEEN PEASANTS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MEXICO CITY, Monday.

In a sanguinary clash between peasants of the villages of San Pedro and Ajalpa, in Puebla State, over the question of the possession of land, carbines, pistols and knives were freely used, and eight peasants were killed and thirty wounded. Troops were called out, and finally restored order. At the same time it is reported that ten bandits were killed by Federal troops after a long encounter near the village of Taxicoringa, Durango State.

IRISH LABOUR IN BRITAIN

REFERENCE TO FREE STATE

NO BAN ON BRITISH SUBJECTS

COLONEL HENEAGE asked the Minister of Labour, in the House of Commons yesterday, how many labourers and how many foremen employed at the aerodrome at Manby were from Southern Ireland, and why local workmen were not employed.

Lieut.-Colonel Muirhead (Parliamentary Secretary)—I understand that four foremen and 27 unskilled work people employed in connection with this aerodrome are Irish, but I do not know whether they come from Southern Ireland or Northern Ireland. In all 299 men are at present employed on the work, most of whom are local men.

Mr. Marklew (Lab., Colne Valley) asked if the Minister had yet received a report from the representative of the Department, who was at Manby on Friday, and, if not, had he any information which would enable him to confirm a suggestion that the failure to employ local labour on this contract was very largely due to the contractors' anxiety to let sleeping huts on the premises and to secure tenants for a canteen, and would the Minister consult the Ministry of Transport and the Ministry of Air, who were very largely responsible for the employment of Irish labour.

Lieut.-Colonel Muirhead replied that this was a rather long supplementary question, of which he must have notice.

IRISH IMMIGRANTS

Sir William Davison (C., Kensington S.) asked the Minister of Labour whether he could inform the House as to the number of Southern Irish immigrants who had recently entered Great Britain with a view to obtaining employment; what action he proposed to take to prevent unemployment being thereby caused to British workers; and, what, if any, steps are being taken to prevent such immigrants from becoming a charge on national funds in the event of their losing their employment while in Great Britain.

Colonel Muirhead (Parliamentary Secretary), who replied on behalf of Mr. Ernest Brown, Minister of Labour, said that no precise figures were available with regard to the first part of the question. With regard to the second and third parts, he would remind Sir William Davison that there was no power to restrict the entry of British subjects into the United Kingdom.

Sir William Davison—Are there any reciprocal privileges given to workers of British origin in the Irish Free State, and is it not desirable that there should be, or that the matter should be dealt with owing to the number of British workers who have been put out of work.

Colonel Muirhead—They have no power to restrict the entry of British subjects, and no special arrangements are made.

THE LOBSTER WAR

MUIRCHU AT KILMORE

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

ROSSLARE HARBOUR, Monday.

Coxswain James Wickham, of Rosslare Harbour lifeboat service, told me that the Fisheries Protection cruiser Muirchu passed Rosslare at one o'clock to-day, steaming at full speed for Kilmore, where for the past week the "lobster war" has been proceeding between Irish fishermen and French poachers.

Mr. Frederick Stanner, of Kilmore life-saving service, told me that no signs of the Frenchmen were observed off the coast to-day, but that they were possibly behind the Saltee Islands. The strong southerly wind prevented the Kilmore men from putting to sea.

Mr. M. C. McGinn, chief preventive officer, Customs and Excise, Rosslare Harbour, said that in all 78 pots and 39 buoys had been seized from the French boats and piled up on the quay at Kilmore Intense indignation at the action of the French in firing at the Pride of Helvic prevails among fishermen along the Wexford coast.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

MOTOR ACCIDENT NEAR DROGHEDA

Stewart Johnston, 31 Cicero Gardens, Belfast, was charged before Judge Comyn at the Drogheda Circuit Court with the manslaughter of Patrick Byrne (24), of 96 Chord road, Drogheda, by knocking him down with a motor car at Killineer, about two miles outside Drogheda, on January 28.

Mr. McGivern, B.L. (instructed by Mr. J. B. Hamill, State Solicitor), prosecuted.

Johnston said he had nobody representing him. He explained that his insurance company had instructed him to pay £25 for his counsel by 10 a.m. on Friday. When he went after 10 o'clock they told him it was off.

Mr. Hamill said that, in fairness to the solicitor and counsel who represented accused man at the District Court, he would like to say he had been informed that accused had withdrawn retainer from them.

Garda J. F. Cooney, Drogheda, said he examined the car which was driven by Johnston when the accident occurred. It was in good mechanical condition. The dynamo, however, was only charging intermittently, and the car was not in a fit condition to be driven on the road after lighting up hours.

Miss Sheila Flanagan swore she was walking with the deceased man along the Killineer road. She heard the engine of a motor car coming behind. No horn was sounded. She knew the car was going to pass, but she knew nothing more until she saw Byrne falling some yards in front. The lights of the car did not light up the road as well as the lights of other cars did.

Garda J. Grieve said he was walking about 600 yards from the scene of the accident when he noticed a car passing him with very dim lights. He endeavoured to get the number of the car, but failed by reason of the bad lights.

The accused man, who pleaded not guilty, said when he left Belfast the car, including the light, was in perfect working order. Coming near Dundalk the lights failed. He put out the spot light and the other lights got bright again. They remained so until just before the accident, when they began to dim again. His greatest speed was between 15 and 20 m.p.h.

Alexander Gibson, Shaw street, Dublin, the owner of the car, said that when he handed over the car to the accused man it was in such a condition that it was fit to travel on any road.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty, with a very strong recommendation to mercy. The Judge imposed a suspensory sentence of twelve months, fined accused £20, and revoked his licence in the Free State for five years.

The Judge said the jury had been very merciful to the accused man. He was lucky he had not somebody representing him, or he might have got a couple of years in jail.

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

ADDIS ABABA, Monday.

FIFTEEN persons are officially stated to have been killed and 83 wounded in yesterday's bombing of Jijiga by 27 Italian 'planes, which dropped over 25 tons of explosives in an hour and twenty minutes. Among the injured are several Arabs who are British subjects. Thirty houses were destroyed, including the British Mohamed Ali Store, valued at £15,000.

A field hospital run by the Finnish Red Cross suffered considerably. One patient is reported to have been killed and six wounded. A detachment of the Ethiopian Red Cross also suffered, losing several tents and medical kit.

This morning four Italian 'planes carried out another bombardment, but caused no casualties. One hut was destroyed and an operating tent of the Egyptian Red Cross at the Catholic Mission, half a mile from the town, was fired upon with machine guns.

BIG "PUSH" COMING

It is belived that the increased aerial activity shown recently by the Italians on the Southern Front presages a determined push by General Graziani as soon as the southern rains end in May. The objective of such an offensive is expected to be Jijiga and Harar, with the Berbera-Harar road.

The Italians are now at Gorahai, about 200 miles southward, so that their mechanised columns could reach Jijiga in two or three days, provided the ground was hard and the Abyssinians were to put up no stouter resistance than did the motley army of Ras Desta before Dolo three months ago.

The Abyssinian Government has protested formally to the Foreign Legations in Addis Abba against the alleged use by the Italians of asphyxiating gases, contrary to international agreements.

No further news has been received of the flank attack which the Abyssinians are reported to be making upon the Italian front in the north.

LITERATURE IN SMALL NATIONS

VIEWS AT P.E.N. CLUB

"I think it is absurd to protect boots, which people wear on their feet, and not to protect the producers of literature: we do nothing to protect the 'head,' but take great pains to protect the 'feet' of the nation," said Mr. Aodh de Blacam at Jury's Hotel, Dublin, last night, when members of the Irish Centre of the P.E.N. Club discussed "Literature in Small Nations." Lord Longford presided over the large gathering, which included some distinguished visitors. Mr. Stein Bugge, of the National Theatre in Oslo, came specially from London for the meeting.

Ireland, said Mr. de Blacam, should strive to create a public opinion, to see to it that their leaders and other persons would give literature recognition by means of opening various callings to writers. The two questions facing writers in small nations was whether they could make a living, and produce sincere or immortal literature, and, secondly, whether there was any inspiration for a writer in a small country. In his opinion it was the small, or ordinary, nation which produced great men, who were not found in the great nations given over to industrialism. If Ireland wished to attain a great intellectual future she should avoid cosmopolitanism: they had something unique in their own ancient heritage.

Mr. Stein Bugge said that he had been immensely pleased to visit Ireland for the first time; for he had always felt that there was some strange connection between Norway and Ireland.

Referring to criticism generally, and written criticism in particular, he said that there was a very bourgeois feeling in small countries. People at the street corners apparently knew everything about literature, and could tell everybody else about it. (Laughter and hear, hear.) Success depended upon how the writer was received by the so-called critics, who were, he said, "queer people who never developed.". If anybody came out with a new venture it was as if they had committed murder. As a result the "poor author" was up against something which might be a dominating factor in his life—the lack of understanding on the part of his judges. The critic in a small country created a darkness and obscurity; a kind of wall of authority which was devoid of authority. It took an extremely long time for a critic to accept a new idea, and when he did so he never let it go.

Major Paul Ruzicka, Consul-General for Czechoslovakia, spoke of modern Czech literature and of the contribution which his small nation had made, and was making, to the literature of the world.

Dr. Charles J. Benziger, Swiss Consul-General, spoke of the linguistic divisions of his country and effect on their literature.

Mr. W. G. Lyon, of the Talbot Press, presented the publishers' point of view, and said that publishers in Ireland did not depend merely in literature.

A general discussion followed.

DISPOSAL OF CATTLE SURPLUS

QUESTION IN THE COMMONS

Mr. Johnston (Lab., Stirling and Clackmannon Western) asked the Minister of Agriculture, in the House of Commons yesterday, if he will make available to members of the House in the library a copy of the Slaughter of Cattle and Sheep Act, 1934, as approved by the Dáil in the Irish Free State; what particulars he has available as to the working of the scheme under that Act, whereby the 60,000 head of fat cattle, said to be surplus to ordinary market requirements, have been acquired by the State and supplied gratis, or at greatly reduced prices, per pound, to persons in receipt of public assistance or unemployment relief; and whether, in view of the success of this experiment, he will consider arrangements for the similar disposal of food and fish surplus to ordinary requirements to the needy consumers of Great Britain.

Mr. Elliott—I have arranged for copies of the Slaughter of Cattle and Sheep Act, 1934, and the Slaughter of Cattle and Sheep (Amendment) Act, 1935, to be made available to members in the library.

As regards the second part of the question, I would refer the right hon. member to the debates on these measures in the Free State Dáil on August 2, 8, 9, 22 and 23, 1934, and on July 18 and 31, 1935. Copies of the relevant official reports already are filed in the library, but I am sending copies to the right hon. member for his perusal.

In reply to the last part of the question, I would ask him to await the reply which is being given to his later question by my right hon. friend, the Prime Minister

THE NAVAL TREATY

WHITE PAPER TO BE ISSUED TO-MORROW

Mr. Baldwin, replying to Mr. Alexander (Lab., Hillsborough), in the House of Commons yesterday, said that a Naval Treaty, as a result of the London Naval Conference, would be signed on Wednesday of this week. The text would be published as a White Paper within a few hours of signature. If there was a general desire in the House for a debate on the Treaty the Government would give careful consideration to such representations.

INDIA'S TRANQUIL WATERS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW DELHI, Monday.

Warm tributes to the work of Lord Willingdon in India were paid at a farewell dinner here, at which 250 persons were present to fete the retiring Viceroy, who sails for England in April.

Sir Maneckejee Dadabhoy, President of the Indian State Council, spoke of Lord Willingdon's Viceregence as five crowded years of political turmoil, social upheaval, administrative complications and constitutional conundrums, through which, however, Lord Willingdon, like a seasoned pilot, had steered the ship. He had brought India into more tranquil waters.

Lord Willingdon referred to the restoration of peaceful conditions in India as a result of the measures taken to put down civil disobedience.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT

ALLEGED ASSAULT

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE

Richard Sadies (25), was charged that, between 11 p.m. and midnight on Saturday last, he assaulted John Griffin, a youth, of 12 Linenhall street, by striking him with his fist in the face, kicking him while he was on the ground, and inflicting injuries, as a result of which he had to be treated in Jervis Street Hospital. There was a further charge against the defendant of assaulting Joseph Reilly, 4 Arbour place, Stoneybatter, on the same occasion.

Guard Rogers said that Griffin reported to him that he had been assaulted in North King street, and pointed out the defendant as the man who had made the assault. After the defendant had been taken into custody he made a statement saying that he was with a friend near the Richmond Hospital, when Griffin accosted him, and said that he had a week ago near the hospital called a woman friend of his (Griffin) a prostitute. The defendant added that he apologised, and said that he had not been within miles of the hospital a week ago. Griffin attempted to hold him, and when the defendant's friend told him to go away Griffin struck at the latter. The defendant then ran to his car, called a number of friends, and when he came back his friend was lying on the ground and was being beaten by three people. In the statement the defendant also denied that he had touched the complainant in any way.

Griffin, in evidence, said that he was walking home from the Mary Street Picture House with Reilly when the defendant called him over. One of the men asked the witness what he wanted, and witness was shoved, fell to the ground, and was, he said, struck in the eye and kicked by the defendant while he lay on the ground. About five persons altogether attacked the witness and Reilly, and both of them went to the Jervis Street Hospital for treatment.

The District Justice asked why Reilly was not present, and was informed that he had gone to a pig fair.

The defendant, in evidence, said that he did not go near Griffin.

The District Justice said that Griffin had made a very unconvincing statement, and Reilly, who had put his name to the charge sheet and got a man into the dock to answer a charge, had not thought it worth his while to attend at the court. He dismissed the charges.

ALLEGED LARCENY OF MOTOR CAR

"NO. 1" AND "NO. 2" REMANDED

Two youths who had refused to give their names or addresses to the Civic Guard, and who during the Court proceedings were referred to as "No. 1" and "No. 2," were remanded in custody for one week, charged with stealing a motor car, the property of Mr. Robert Holmes, draper, Raglan road, Dublin. The youth called "No. 2" was charged also with being in possession of a revolver and ammunition.

Mr. Holmes said that his motor car disappeared from outside All Saints' Church, Blackrock.

Guard Flynn said that he saw a motor car bearing the number of the car that had been reported missing being driven towards Dalkey by two youths. He got on a tram and followed, and when the motor car stopped he approached and caught them. When he took them to the station both refused to give either their names or addresses, and a fully loaded .45 bulldog revolver and some ammunition were found in a waistcoat pocket of "No. 2."

The Dalkey station sergeant said that when the charges were read over to "No. 1" he said that he had nothing to say. When they were read to "No. 2" he replied: "I refuse to recognise the charges. As a member of the Irish Republican Army, and as I consider those the armed authorities of this country, I refuse to recognise the police of this country or its Free State Tribunal." He signed the statement "J. C."

The station sergeant then produced a document which had, he said, been found on "No. 2," and, after handing it to Mr. T. Clarke (Chief State Solicitor's Office), prosecuting, it was given to the Court clerk.

No further evidence was offered, and the defendants left the dock without speaking.

A STOLEN SAFE

THREE MEN FOR TRIAL

Thomas Flannery (22), George Brack (23), and Arthur White (39), all of no fixed address and no occupation, were returned for trial on bail, charged on remand with breaking and entering Dean's Grange Cemetery offices and stealing a safe, value £20, which contained £69 cash and £59 in cheques and postal orders; with breaking and entering the Marble Works, Dean's Grange, and stealing tools value about £2.

Brack and White were also charged with the larceny of three motor cars, owned by the Rev. Richard Bird, M.A., South Circular road; Robert McDonnell, Catherine's avenue, and Mr. H. Byrne, South Circular road.

The Rev. Mr. Bird, in evidence, said that on 12th inst. he was driving his motor car towards his garage when he noticed two men attempting to start another motor car. They were about forty yards away from his house. He offered to assist them.

Detective Sergeant Moran — Can you identify either of those two men?—Yes; I think one of them was like Brack, but I am not sure.

Detective Sergeant Moran—Do you now know whose motor car they were attempting to start?—Yes; it belongs to Mr. McDonnell. (Laughter.)

VICK BRAND VAPOUR-RUB

STOMACH PAINS ARE WARNING SIGNALS

Never dismiss lightly a twinge of pain or a feeling of discomfort in the region of the stomach. Nature is trying to tell you that all is not well with you. If you do not heed her warning, you may have to pay very dearly for your neglect and delay. Nearly all stomach pains arise from acidity. Call it what you like—wind, gas, flatulence, distension; you can trace them to excess acid. The real danger is that neglect of an acid condition results in gastric and even duodenal ulcers and, as most people know, the surgeon's knife becomes a very real threat.

Sure and speedy relief can be obtained, even in long standing cases, by taking Maclean Brand Stomach Powder after meals. This powder, known as the "signature" brand because every bottle carries the signature "ALEX. C. MACLEAN," has been the salvation of thousands. Never a day passes without a fresh tribute to its benefit being received by Macleans Ltd. Don't delay another day if your stomach is causing you anxiety. The "signature" brand will soon put you right. 1/6, 2/3 and 5/3, in bottles in cartons. Powder and tablets. Never sold loose.

BROCKLESBY STAKES

Tap Dancer Fancied for First Important T.Y.O. Race

TO-DAY'S feature at Lincoln, the Brocklesby Stakes, is not of the same importance as before the War, when it invariably attracted some of the most promising juveniles in training. Nowadays the tendency is to keep useful class two-year-olds for more valuable events at the Craven meeting at Newmarket and elsewhere during the early part of April.

At least half a dozen of the twenty odd probable runners are reported to be smart. I anticipate that the betting will provide a fairly good guide to the prospects of Jack Jarvis's trio—namely, Bold Alan, Robeson, and Clive. The Park Lodge trainer won the race last year with Tetrazone, whose jockey, E. Smith, will ride Bold Alan. This son of Bold Archer has shown good speed in his gallops, and I should not be surprised to see him prove the pea.

Tap Dancer, who has been left in to the exclusion of Royal Tor, may start favourite on the strength of his second in a four and a half furlongs trial last week. He showed distinct promise in running a three-year-old to a length and a half. Cymbeline or Lovely Lady, whichever does duty for Basil Jarvis, Helena's Isle, and Fledernaus are others favourably mentioned in the training reports. Helena's Isle, who will be the mount of Gordon Richards, is on the small side, and, therefore, has not needed a lot of work to attain fitness. I sum up in favour of and Helena's Isle, and the former is my choice.

Tetrazone and Sharnbrook, who finished first and second in the Brocklesby Stakes last year, will be in the field for the Batthyany Handicap. Both are reported to have come to hand early again. Tetrazone, who has great speed, won four good races last year before he appeared to train off a little towards the end of the season. Sharnbrook, who missed an easier race yesterday, has done extremely well. Connections of Hobbema tried to engage Gordon Richards, so it looks as though she is genuinely fancied. She wound up last season with a victory at Lingfield Park in November. Eastward Ho, who defeated Tap Dancer in the trial previously mentioned, may be a profitable each-way investment, especially as W. Wing will be able to claim the allowance. I have most faith in HOBBEMA.

Several horses who have been jumping are due to run in the Northern Welter Plate. I fancy one of these—namely, whose stable had a winner yesterday.

NORMAN KNIGHT,

ISORE,

who is said to be very fit, may win the Chaplin Plate.

NEWMARKET NOTES

Sea Bequest in Splendid Trim : Selections for Lincoln

NEWMARKET, Monday.

THIS morning Digby, the trainer, rode Whyteleafe, who, with Morar, Pry II., Watertight (Mitchell), Decorator, and Prince Manna (H. Foster), had a nice-pace mile and a quarter gallop. Watertight won the Netheravon Handicap at Newbury last June, and he finished third to Meldrum and Shining Cloud at Doncaster in September. A minor race should come his way when the going is suitable. Whyteleafe was backward last season, and she ran only once. She is now doing well and, with ordinary luck, may pick up a long-distance event.

Whitaker gave Laureat II. and Storm Petal a nice mile spin, and then sent Priok a sharp five furlongs gallop. He next went to the jumping field, where Hillsbrook (C. Harrison), Shannon Breeze (J. Peckett), Knuckleduster (C. Jenkins), and Under Bid practised over fences. No fault could be found with the Grand National candidate, Hillsbrook.

H. Leader gave W. Rickaby the mount on Heavy Weight, who, with Bouldnor (C. Jelliss), had a good-pace mile and a half gallop. I am prepared to see Heavy Weight make a bold attempt to win the Liverpool Spring Cup on Thursday.

In view of his engagement in the Batthyany Plate, Tetrazone, with Ancient, had a good mile spin. He is well up in the weights and we may have to wait a little before finding him at his best. The Lincolnshire Handicap candidate, Sea Bequest, looking a picture of health and fitness, was given a couple of five-furlong canters.

Captain Hogg gave similar exercise to Screamer and Emborough. I am of the opinion that Screamer may run better on Wednesday than his trial would suggest.

Newmarket stables will have nearly forty runners at Lincoln to-morrow. Mrs. Goodsort and Tango should be our best for the Sudbrook Selling Plate, and I pin my faith to TANGO.

Barred Umber and Generous Gift are due to contest the Blankney Selling Plate, and has my vote.

Whole Schoolday gelding, Sorais colt, Tap Dancer, and have come through their preparation for the Brocklesby Stakes with credit, and the last-named should win.

It will be no easy matter to find the winner of the Batthyany Plate. Tetrazone is well up in the weights, and it is not thought that he is at his best yet. I prefer Waterferry to Mrs. Atkins, Lavery, and Grand Duke. Of those lower in the weights, I like Nunnery and Eastward Ho. Nunnery may prove to be the danger to my selection, who has been well galloped recently, to capture the Chaplin Plate.

ACCIDENTAL.

I shall look to

QUEEN'S SHILLING,

THE START OF FLAT RACING

Features of the First Day's Sport at Lincoln : Easy Victory for Grand Warrior

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LINCOLN, Monday Night.

THE first two days of the season at Lincoln are in the nature of a penance that must be paid for pleasure to come. It was, perhaps, less penitential than usual to-day, for the weather was fine and mild, and we had none of the blasts of snow and rain that are so common on the Carholme in March. The racing began in what was really good going—especially good for Lincoln.

It was poor sort of featureless racing, but that is what one always expects here. To J. Marshall, who won the Derby on Trigo, fell the first race of the season, the Trial Selling Plate, which he won on Marathon, whom Mr. J. Bisgood trains. Marathon, a six-year-old son of Manna, only ran twice last season—once in the Lincolnshire Handicap, and a month later in a selling plate, in which he dead-heated. He had no difficulty in winning by a length from Bint Anath, and was then bought in for 105 guineas.

Carslake's Turn

Then it was the turn of Carslake, who, now that Childs has virtually retired, is the most senior of the jockeys. He is not long back from India, where he has been riding with success, and he rode his usual strong finish on one trained by Frank Hartigan, Blue Car, before he beat Irenicon and Sarah Churchill (who had made most of the running) by three-parts of a length and a neck in the Brocklesby Trial Plate. The favourite, Farmer Giles, lost ground at the start and ran unplaced.

Then came the first two-year-old race of the season, the Tathwell Auction Plate, which drew the usual miscellaneous assortment of rabbits, those known as the "small and early sort" that have their brief hour early in the season, and then, for the most part, relapse into obscurity. The best one here was Penance, a little filly by Mr. Jinks, owned by Mr. George Cloke, who is so much addicted to the pony racing habit and trained by Rupert Laye.

After Shangai Lil had hung on to her and got the worst of the exchanges, she beat the French filly by two lengths. The greatly fancied Apple Dumpling filly finished third, a length off. The winner was bought in for 270 guineas.

Promise of Probus II.

Mr. Basil Briscoe, who trains the Apple Dumpling filly, had his turn in the next race, the Welbeck Handicap, which he won for his friend Mr. G. R. C. Foster, the owner of the Cambridgeshire winner, Commander III., with Grand Warrior, who was a very "hot" plater last season. Hawcroft claimed the 5lb. weight allowance under the new rule, and he was a comparatively easy two lengths' winner from the Black Abbess, who just got up to keep the top weight, Probus II., out of second place by a short head. Probus II. ran a capital race, but was just not able to give all the weight. He looks a likely winner soon, unless I am much mistaken.

Solenoid's sister, Souchong, owned by Mr. Rank, made a good deal of the running, being lengths clear after they had gone two furlongs and then dropped back and just missed a place.

On occasions, as last year, Gordon Richards can go through the Lincoln meeting without riding a winner, but one turned up for him on this first afternoon. This was Mrs. Martin Hartigan's Even So, who has been hurdling, in the Hainton Plate.

A Strong Finish

He became second to Duplicate as they made the turn into the straight, and, although Sir Charles Hyde's horse took some catching, he eventually beat him by a length and a half, Red Messenger finishing third. The winner is by the French sire, McKinley, who had a season in England when he stood at Sir Richard Brooke's Abberley Stud in Worcestershire.

Some of these maiden plates at Lincoln now and then produce good horses, and the Cesarewitch winner, Near Relation, began his upward career by taking the Canwick Maiden Plate last year. The three-year-olds in to-day's race did not seem a distinguished lot, and the best-looking of them, Blue Train, who started favourite, had the misfortune to have his saddle slip as he was coming to challenge Ferniehurst, who is trained at Malton by Easterby. The latter won comfortably from Partagas and Grecian Goddess

Good News of Screamer

I see that at the call over in London this morning Law Court displaced Screamer and became a clear favourite for the Lincolnshire at 10 to 1. Over Coat was advanced to the position of joint second favourite with Boethius at 100 to 8, while Sea Bequest was at only half a point longer odds. Screamer went to 100 to 6, and I must add that Capt. Hogg, his trainer, told me on the course to-day how well Lord Glanely's colt is, and that he much expects him to win. The "order of the knock" was given to Priok, who has knocked out to 18 to 1, and even these are shorter odds than I would care to take.

The "springer" in the market was The Blue Boy, who came to 100 to 6, and I believe that 15 to 1 was taken about him on the course. He seemed to lose his form last year, but, then, he also lost his handicap weight, and has been dropped so much that he could win easily if he were in his old form. I lost faith in The Blue Boy last season, and am not recovering it now.

Golden Miller was a clear favourite for the Grand National at 11 to 2, with Reynoldstown at 13 to 2, and Avenger at 10 to 1. Keen Blade shortened to 18 to 1. Even now I cannot say what will start favourite here on Wednesday. Possibly Law Court, of whom I continue to hear the most flattering accounts.

Selections

The Brocklesby is the best race to-morrow, and two-year-olds likely to be fancied, from what I hear, are Cymbeline, Bold Alan and TAP DANCER. I select the last-named. The Batthyany Plate may be won by SHARNBROOK, who was second in the Brocklesby last year, and the Northern Welter by STARTLER.

Stud News

At the Ongar Stud Farm, Clonsilla on 20th March, Lord Lonsdale's Waif dropped a chestnut filly foal by Royal Lancer, and goes to Solenoid.

Bagatelle II. Scratched

Bagatelle II., the American steeplechaser, who was sent to England in the hope that he would win the Grand National, will not run in the race after all. He was scratched from the Grand National at 11.43 a.m. yesterday. Bagatelle II., who qualified to run at Aintree by finishing second in the International Gold Cup in the United States, has displayed moderate ability as a steeplechaser over English-built fences.

Uncle Batt's Jockey

Uncle Batt will be ridden in the Grand National by T. McNeill, and not by Mr. R. C. Petre.

Cabinteely at Lincoln

The only Lincolnshire Handicap candidate to have arrived on the course yesterday was the Irish-trained Cabinteely. He was well liked in a canter over six furlongs in the morning.

COUP DE ROI TO RUN AT LIVERPOOL

Mr. H. T. de Vere Clifton's Sojourner, in the Lancashire Hurdle at Liverpool on Thursday, and the same owner's Ardanew, in the Champion Steeplechase on Saturday, will not be sent from Mr. J. J. Parkinson's training establishment at the Curragh to fulfil their engagements

Sir Percy Loraine's Coup de Roi has left Mr. R. More O'Ferrall's stables at Kildangan to contest the Lancashire Hurdle on Thursday. He will be ridden by E. M. Quirke.

THE LINCOLNSHIRE

Screamer No Longer Favourite : Latest About Big Race

LORD GLANELY'S Screamer is no longer favourite for the Lincolnshire Handicap, which will be run to-morrow at Lincoln. He was on offer at 100 to 6 at the "call-over" at the Victoria Club, London, yesterday. Last Wednesday he was backed to win about £10,000 at 10 to 1. No fewer than eighteen of the thirty-seven probable starters were backed to some extent.

S. Donoghue will ride Mistral III. for Sir Charles Hyde to-morrow. Donoghue claimed that he had been engaged to ride Priok, and he appealed to the Stewards of the Jockey Club, who, after hearing evidence in London yesterday, decided against him. Priok will be ridden by M. Beary.

H. Wragg has been engaged to ride Yorkshireman in place of Nevett, who received an injury to the left eye whilst playing football. It is not so serious as was at first believed, and he will leave to-morrow the nursing home to which he was taken. He will be fit to ride next week.

The latest scratchings from the race are Braemar, Hot Fight and Royal Flush.

T. CULLINAN'S "TIPS"

"Tips" for the Grand National and the Lincolnshire Handicap were given to the guests at the marriage yesterday at Kettering of T. Cullinan to Miss Noreen Stella Barlow, the only daughter of Mr. Gladstone Barlow, head of a Kettering confectionery firm. The guests included Messrs. Jack Anthony and Owen Anthony. Lieutenant C. J. Forbes, R.N., son of Vice-Admiral Forbes, was best man. At the reception Cullinan "tipped" Royal Ransom for the Grand National and Cabinteely for the Lincolnshire, while Owen Anthony favoured Golden Miller and Double Crossed each way.

LONDON BETTING

HEAVY WAGERING ON LINCOLN

LAW COURT BECOMES FAVOURITE

The wagering on the Lincolnshire Handicap at the Victoria Club, London, yesterday, was heavy, considering that there will be another call-over to-day, the eve of the race. Law Court, the new favourite, was backed to win £6,000 at 10 to 1. Boethius and Over Coat were each noticed to win £5,500, and Sea Bequest was supported to win £10,000. He closed firm at 13 to 1, after £1,000 to £80 had been laid many times.

The Blue Boy was also in strong demand, being backed to win £11,000, while Priok was noticed to win £6,000 at 18 to 1. Tom Bowling and Cabinteely were in most request of the others.

Golden Miller's price for the Grand National has shortened, and no longer odds than 11 to 2 were obtainable about him. He closed firm after four bets of £1,100 to £200 had been laid. Keen Blade and Emancipator were backed to win £7,000 each. Minor sums went on the others quoted. Prices:—

RUGBY FOOTBALL

JUNIOR SCHOOLS' SEMI-FINALS

CLEVER FOOTBALL BY BLACKROCK

BLACKROCK COLLEGE 17
ST. MARY'S, RATHMINES 0

Blackrock College juniors followed the example of their seniors by reaching the final of the Schools' Cup, beating St. Mary's, Rathmines, by a goal and four tries (17 points) to nil at Donnybrook yesterday. In doing so they gave, perhaps, the best display of football seen in either the senior or junior competitions this season. The forwards got the ball back perfectly to the scrum-half, both from tight and loose scrums, and the three-quarters handled splendidly, both wings showing fine speed and dash; yet so good was the St. Mary's defence that on only one occasion did an orthodox movement yield a score.

Unfortunately for the losers, their full back, Pratt, was continually getting into difficulties through his lack of pace and anticipation, and his last-minute attempts to clear near his own line cost St. Mary's four tries against quick following-up by the Blackrock backs. Pratt tackled well, and he was unlucky to see his errors so heavily penalised. Apart from Hooper, who was closely marked, St. Mary's could make no ground in attack, but they did tackle pluckily. Hooper doing splendid work in this respect too. Blackrock were well served by Mongey, their full back, who got great length into his touch kicking, and the halves and three-quarters worked together very smoothly, McCarroll, the small left wing, being particularly hard to stop.

Gilvarry and Neary scored in the first half, Mulcahy converting the former's try, and in the second period Brown, McCarroll and Boland added further tries. Teams:—

Blackrock College—B. Mongey; J. Brown, J. Gilvarry, M. Neary, F. McCarroll; D. Perkins, P. Reynolds; F. Mulcahy, J. O'Driscoll, J. Meagher, J. Collins, L. Skehan, K. Murray, O. Lynch, J. Boland.

St. Mary's—F. Pratt; L. Keegan, N. O'Connell, F. Scott, S. Adye-Curran; M. Hooper, B. Scott; C. Kelly, G. Halahan, C. Aliaga-Kelly, C. Warren, S. Coleman, B. Quane, F. Becker, P. Quigley.

MASONIC'S SPLENDID DISPLAY

CASTLEKNOCK COLLEGE ... 8
MASONIC SCHOOL 8

Outweighted in every department, Masonic School gave a wonderfully plucky display in the second semi-final, and held Castleknock College to a draw of eight points each, getting two dropped goals to a goal and a try. Their first dropped goal, coming five minutes after the start, gave them confidence, and they tackled like demons against opponents who became badly upset as the game went on. All Castleknock's efforts to score from passing movements and individual bursts broke down against relentless tackling, and sheer weight gave them their tries. On each occasion, from a tight scrum five yards from the line, they pushed the Masonic eight over and just collapsed on the ball, the defence having no chance of stopping them either time.

Against a bigger and faster team, Masonic, after the first minute, had no chance of crossing the Castleknock line; but their kicking and covering in defence were remarkable, the forwards spreading out and tackling as keenly and skilfully as the backs. It would be unfair to single out any individual as playing better than the others, but the halves, Hanlon and Ferguson, and McBride, the full-back, do deserve special mention.

Castleknock showed signs that they could be a scoring force if they were allowed to settle down; for McCann, the scrum half, gave his passes very well, and Cosgrave and Doyle are two fast and hefty centres, but both of them, and Grant, the out-half, held on far too long. The forwards played their part well, and they are a big and lively pack, but the Masonic eight held them manfully.

In the first minute Masonic would have scored had Hanlon turned his pass better, but within five minutes they were in front, Ferguson dropping a fine goal from the "25," and they held this lead to half-time. They defended desperately for some time in the second half before the Castleknock pack got their first try, which Cosgrave converted; but, gradually working down the touch-line, Hanlon got the ball at the "25," and judged his left-foot drop kick to perfection from a difficult angle. Shortly afterwards the Castleknock forwards forced their way over again, but the kick was too difficult this time, and they had to be content with a draw. The replay will take place next Monday at 4.15. Teams:—

Castleknock—J. Lee; O. Murray, D. Doyle, T. Cosgrave, L. O'Rafferty; J. Grant, C. McCann; J. McEntagart (capt.), F. McCrystal, S. O'Flynn, J. Clancy, T. Halpenny, D. Boland, B. Fagan, L. McKnight.

Masonic—F. McBride; N. Notley, G. Roberts, S. Leitch, J. Newell, J. Hanlon, W. Ferguson; B. Lyttle, F. Long, J. Murray, H. Strong, J. Gallagher, J. Baird, C. Cooke, J. Harte.

ST. ANDREW'S OLD BOYS' WIN

PAST .... 23 PRESENT.......... 10

St. Andrew's College held their annual Past v. Present match at Stillorgan road, yesterday, the Past winning by 4 goals and a try to 2 goals. The school more than held their own in the first half, and led by two goals to one, but weight told in the second period, and the Past scored four times, converting three of the tries. Allen scored from a rush by the Present, and Stringer converted, but Past at once drew level, Mark running through; for Barron to add the points. Stringer then got over for the college, and Brooks converted. Early in the second half Past were level again, McDougald sending Balch in, for Barron to add the points. Then Past did a lot of pressing, and B. Kearon scored, for Barron to convert, and near the end Mark scored an unconverted try.

For Past, Bowles, Hoy, Barron, Mark and McDougald (backs), and Fisher, B. Kearon, McCaughey and Horne (forwards), were best, as were Ruskill, Hemingway, Brooks and Stringer (backs), and Collen, Beattie, Lawrie and K. Kearon (forwards), for Present. Teams:—

BADMINTON

SEASON NEARING AN END

Midland Branch Cups : Progress of the Game in Dundalk

In another fortnight the 1935-36 Irish badminton season will be brought to a close. But a lot has to be done, and the close of the term is more interesting to Dublin players than any in recent times. This is in great measure due to the excellent management of League and Cup competitions by the Hon. Secretary of these departments, Mr. J. W. McMullan. The competitions are now given all possible publicity; thus supporters have an opportunity of gauging the progress of their fancies in comparison with rivals. A further excellent thing has been that of making up programmes of several important matches, and playing them all on the same day at Elm Park. This is a great improvement on the former practice of playing League and Cup semi-finals at various venues on different dates. Players have the advantage of first-class conditions, and the public, who have attended on these big occasions in satisfactory numbers, have had a choice of good matches, and have been agreeably impressed.

Full use was made of free time on St. Patrick's Day, when all the Midland Branch Cups were decided at Elm Park. The afternoon was devoted to the semi-finals of the Provincial Towns' Cup, and the standard of play throughout showed that progress in the provinces is gratifying.

A notable feature was the absence from this stage of Mullingar, who won the Cup on the two occasions that it had been contested. This time they were eliminated in an earlier round by Longford, who thus removed a team which had hitherto proved a stumbling block to the ambitions of Dundalk, having beaten that team in the semi-final last year, and in the final the year before.

Carlow, who were beaten in last year's final by Mullingar, reached that stage this year by defeating Longford in the semi-final, the decisive factor being the superiority of the Carlow ladies, of whom the Misses E. and G. Carty particularly distinguished themselves in this tie and in the final. In Doris and O'Reilly Longford have a pair who are close to first-class level, and their defeat of the Carlow men, Stephens and Livingston, in straight sets was a very fine performance.

Dundalk went through to the final by beating Athlone in the semi-final. They won two men's doubles and two women's doubles, but dropped two mixed doubles, the Athlone pairs, Webb and Mrs. Reid, and Scott and Mrs. Dolan, having good wins.

A WELL-FOUGHT FINAL

The final, between Dundalk and Carlow, was well fought. Dundalk won, 5-3, and thus for the first time got an inscription on the Cup. There can be little doubt that the honour was well deserved. They have a very fine and evenly-balanced team, and the great numbers playing in this district suggest that the time is not far distant when they will get on even terms with Dublin, Belfast, and Derry. The only thing necessary to make Dundalk the most important centre of the game in this country is an adequate hall. Situated midway between Dublin and Belfast, it is obviously a convenient venue for big matches.

The Misses E. and G. Carty once more showed their value in the Cup Final, having a hand in the three successes gained by Carlow. In the women's doubles they beat the Misses M. Ramsey and Moore. The latter pair deserve credit for bringing them to 18-14 in the first set. Miss G. Carty was concerned in another straight set win in the mixed doubles with Stephens, and her sister, with Livingston, also won in straight sets.

The Pembroke Club is having a good season. They have reached the final of the All Ireland Senior Cup; are in the final of Section A of the Midland League, and on St. Patrick's night won the Midland Branch Junior Cup, their second team beating Epworth, last season's League champions, in the final. One of the most interesting contests was the women's doubles, in which the Pembroke pair, the Misses N. and P. Conway, beat the junior champions, the Misses S. and V. Gillespie, in three hard sets. The Misses Conway also came against the Misses Gillespie in their mixed doubles, and were again on the winning side each time. These four girls are all fine players.

On the same evening Clarinda 2nd won the Intermediate Cup, beating Bray in the final, 5-3. The teams were quite as closely matched as the score suggests, and the contest was most exciting, the issue remaining in doubt to the end.

Malahide, who are sweeping all before them, beat Woodbrook 3rd in the final of the Minor Cup, winning easily by seven rubbers to one. They, undoubtedly, have a very strong team, which merits considerable promotion next season.

THE LEINSTER JUNIORS' VICTORY

Another big night's play was staged on Saturday, when the Junior Interprovincial match between Leinster and Ulster was the chief event. Last year the Ulster Juniors won. They have, on the whole, had a balance in their favour in recent years, so the victory was welcome to the home team, and goes to show the active policy of the Midland Branch is giving a quick profit.

G. Paltridge, who has this season been the outstanding junior player in the Midland area, won the first singles in straight sets, but he and Killen, who have been nearly invincible in the League, were beaten in the men's doubles by Cuddy and Woods in a desperately hard-fought match. Brewster and Wilson, who have at times shown form up to the best standard of Paltridge and Killen, won the men's doubles in impressive style, but they had to go to three sets. The Misses S. and V. Gillespie had an easy win in the women's doubles, combining better than the Ulster pair, the Misses Hall and Millar. The Misses Ramsey, of Dundalk, and B. Good, of Sandford, were at a disadvantage through being unaccustomed to playing together, but they beat the Northern pair, the Misses Love and Dickson, in three sets. The programme was completed by the inclusion of several Midland League semi-finals. Pembroke "C" had an unexpectedly decisive win over Dalkey (6-2) to qualify for the final of Section B, and Hibernians went through to the same final, beating Caledonians. This match was very close, and was decided on a count of games at 10-9. This was a notable performance by Hibernians, who were promoted at the beginning of this season from Section C, while Caledonians came down from Section A.

Rathmines Y.M.C.A. qualified for the final of Section C, beating Central 6-2, and Malahide passed on to the final of Section E, beating Oxford 2nd 8-0. The finals of Sections C, D, E and F will be played at Elm Park next Saturday, and on the following Tuesday (March 31) the finals of Sections A and B will be played, thus concluding the Midland League.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week the Ulster Open Championship tournament will be held at the Sans Souci Hall, Belfast, the international match between Ireland and Wales being included in Thursday night's programme. The Irish team is expected to turn out as announced last week, and will be as follows:—T. H. Boyle, I. C. Maconachie (captain), J. W. McGarry, M. McGarry, T. Orr, J. L. Rankin, Miss N. Stoker, Mrs. Swann and Miss O. Wilson.

The finals of the All-Ireland Senior and Junior Cups will be played at Elm Park, Dublin, on Saturday, April 4.

ST. ANDREW'S OLD BOYS BEAT KING'S HOSPITAL O.B.

The Old Boys' Unions of the King's Hospital School and St. Andrew's College met in a match of eight-a-side at St. Andrew's College, Stephen's Green, last night. Only doubles were played, St. Andrew's winning by 5 matches to 2.

HUNTING

TIPPERARY FOXHOUNDS

On Monday, 16th inst., these hounds met at Lanespark, the home of Mr. W. P. Hanly. The first draw was the bog; a fox left almost immediately at the far end and ran almost to New Birmingham, when he swung right-handed over the main road up the hills. It was the bitch pack, and they "flew," which meant that the field had all they could do to keep them in sight. On reaching the top of the hills they swung right-handed, and ran on to the Ballynunty hills. They swung left-handed short of the Glen, and passed Delaney's into Ballyphilip. They then ran a left-handed circle to within half a mile of Colebrook; then left-handed again almost to the Ballynunty hills, and again left-handed back to Ballyphilip, where they marked to ground in a disused coal pit. The fox was viewed, very tired, just fifty yards in front of them going into the coal pits. This was a fine hunt, 4½-mile point, 12 as they ran, and the time was 1 hour 45 minutes.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

ACCIDENT TO CORK'S GOALKEEPER

During Sunday's Cup semi-final against Drumcondra Harrington, the Cork goalkeeper, severely injured his thumb. An X-ray examination is to be made. Meanwhile his place will probably be taken by T. Tully in to-morrow's League match against Bray Unknowns.

CYCLING

THE I.R.C. INTER-CENTRE 50 MILES RACE

The conference of the Irish Road Club has arranged to hold the inter-centre 50 miles scratch race on the 20th of June over a County Meath course. This annual event is virtually the championship of Ireland. The respective teams will represent the pick of the fastest fifty-milers in the North and the South. The event will, of course, be held under the accepted rules and regulations recognised by the road racing clubs of the British Isles. The Irish Road Club is the only national organisation to uphold these conditions, thereby making possible a correct comparison of the speed capabilities of the roadmen of each country.

The conference also adopted the following motion:—"That the office of President of the Irish Road Club shall be held in alternate years by a member of each centre."

Mr. Shafto Kerr, the President of the Northern Centre, was thereupon acclaimed unanimously President of the Irish Road Club for 1936.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY

ULSTER JUNIORS SHINE

VICTORY FOR LEINSTER SCHOOLS

By Our Special Correspondent.

Saturday last was a blank day so far as senior hockey in Dublin was concerned, none of the pitches being considered fit for play. The Senior Cup final was postponed until Wednesday, when it will be played at Y.M.C.A. ground, Claremont road, at 5 p.m. The junior and schools' interprovincial matches, however, were played earlier in the day, Ulster defeating Munster 5-1 and Leinster Schools' XI. winning against Munster by 3-2.

The Ulster junior team were too strong in every way for the Southern XI., who were never a match for the speed and clean hitting of the winners. Munster had the better of the opening ten minutes, but made very poor use of good opportunities. After that Ulster took up the attack and, playing good hockey, turned over with a 3-goal lead. Ulster went ahead twice after the interval, and it was only in the closing stages that Munster got through for their solitary score.

A CLEVER FORWARD

Miss Tollerton was splendid at centre-forward for Ulster, and, apart from scoring two of the goals, was also an excellent leader. Miss Cooper showed a fine sense of position at centre-half and was always useful in attack and defence. Miss Kirkpatrick was the sounder back. The Munster defence, with the exception of Miss Twomey (left half), were rarely able to cope with the opposing forwards, while the forwards were badly at fault when they got within scoring distance.

The Schools' match at Milltown was very closely contested. Munster gained a lead after ten minutes' play, but almost immediately Leinster equalised, and five minutes later they went ahead. Before the interval, however, Munster brought the scores level again. Leinster held a slight advantage in the second half, and midway through gained a lead, which was maintained to the end.

OUTSTANDING PLAYERS

Miss M. Strahan (Muckross) was outstanding in the Leinster forward line, while Misses Kerr and FitzPatrick were splendid at half. The backs were not so good as usual, but Miss McCutcheon played well in goal, although she was outshone by the Munster goal-keeper, who gave a magnificent display. The Munster defence was very fine all round, and Miss Duke (inside left) was their outstanding forward.

During last week the final of the Senior Schools' Cup was decided, the trophy going to Wicklow, for the first time. The match was very keen, and Muckross only went down 2-1, after a hard fight. Actually the hockey played by the losers was of a higher standard, but Wicklow undoubtedly made better use of their opportunities. Miss G. Ryan played a fine game in the Wicklow goal, and Miss FitzPatrick was outstanding in the half line. Of the forwards, Misses O'Beirne and Tench were prominent.

The Muckross goal-keeper, Miss Keane, was in good form, and both backs showed to advantage. Misses Brannigan and Walker were sound at half, and Miss M. Strahan, although playing out of position, was the pick of the forwards. Had Miss Strahan been playing in her own place at right wing I think that Muckross would have had better scoring chances.

On Friday two Junior Interprovincial matches were decided, Ulster defeating Midlands by 4-1, and Leinster drawing 2-all with Munster.

On Saturday next the Irish XI. play their last International match, against Wales, at Colwyn Bay. Judging by the results of the two countries' encounters with England we are justified in anticipating a good win, as Wales went down by an overwhelming score of 10-2; whereas the Irish XI. held the champion country to 3-1. However, form is not always reliable in these matches, and Saturday's game may turn out to be a very hard struggle.

LACROSSE

PIONEERS' TOUR ENDED

HOYLAKE .... 10 PIONEERS 8

Pioneers ended their successful English tour when they played a strong Hoylake team, who defeated them by 10-8. The touring team led by 6-4 at half-time, and in the second half by 8-6 until a short time before the end, when the home side scored four goals in quick succession. Several opportunities to score were lost by Pioneers through the attacks holding on too long, while the defences were inclined to try the rather dangerous tactics of intercepting instead of close marking. Scorers for Pioneers were Misses R. Cox (5), A. Darley (2) and M. Leonard. Of the four matches played, two were won and two lost, while the goals scored totalled 40 for and 32 against.

IRISH LADIES' TEAM TO PLAY WALES

The Irish women's lacrosse team to play Wales at Cardiff to-morrow will be:—Misses D. Maguire (Belfast), J. Millar (Pioneers, Dublin), B. Garrod (Belfast), E. Magowan (Belfast), J. Brice-Smyth (Belfast), B. Scott (Pioneers), J. Lombard (Pioneers), E. Brice-Smyth (Belfast), D. Young (Belfast), S. Dunlop (Pioneers), M. Wilson (Pioneers) and C. MacGeach (Belfast).

Miss Maguire plays instead of Miss L. McDonnell, who was in the team against England, and Miss Lombard is a new international, replacing Miss A. Darley. The match will complete Wales' international engagements.

SWIMMING

THREE NEW RECORDS BY MRS. WINGARD

NEW YORK, Monday.

Four new world's records for women were established to-day, three of them by Mrs. Wingard, better known as Miss Lenore Kight, the American Olympic swimmer. She already held the records. Mrs. Wingard, competing at Cincinnati, swam 700 yards in 9 mins. 16 8-10 secs., 800 yards in 10 mins. 28 2-10 secs., and 880 yards in 11 mins. 39 9-10 secs. The previous records were 9 mins. 28 1-10 secs., 10 mins. 53 2-10 secs., and 11 mins. 57 secs., respectively.

At Hollywood (Florida) Miss June Burr, of Coral Gables, Florida, claims to have beaten the world's record for the 300 yards medley swimming. She returned a time of 4 mins. 12 9-10 secs. as compared with the official record of 4 mins. 14 2-10 secs. established by Miss Kathleen Rawls, another American Olympic swimmer, in 1934.

GOLF

MRS. J. B. WALKER ONE OF THE L.G.U. EIGHT

THE BRITISH TEAM FOR CURTIS CUP MATCH

The 1930 Irish Champion and Internationalist, Mrs. J. B. Walker, whose Irish club is The Island, Malahide, is rated one of the Ladies' Golf Union's first eight players.

Six will be required to represent Great Britain in singles and foursomes against America for the Curtis Cup at Gleneagles on May 6th, and yesterday the union announced the names of the eight from whom the team will be selected as follows:—

Mrs. J. B. Walker (Island, Malahide), Miss J. Anderson (Craigie Hill), Miss P. Barton (Royal Mid-Surrey), Mrs. M. Garon (Thorndon Park), Mrs. A. Holm (Troon), Miss W. Morgan (Rochester and Cobham), Miss B. Newell (Cavendish Buxton), and Miss P. Wade (Meyrick Park).

These players, with Miss K. Garnham (Naze), Miss Fishwick (North Foreland), Miss N. Baird (Prestwick St. Nicholas) and Miss E. Corlett (Royal Lytham and St. Annes) took part in trials last week.

The non-inclusion of Miss Fishwick, former lady and English champion, is one of the surprises of the nomination, but in the trials she was beaten by Miss Corlett by 5 and 3, and by Miss Barton by 4 and 3. In the list are the names of three players who were in the losing team against U.S.A. at Chevy Chase, Washington, two years ago — Miss Barton, Miss Morgan and Mrs. Walker. Miss Morgan, the holder of the Ladies' Championship, was in the side which lost at Wentworth, Surrey, in 1932.

It was known during the trials last week that a good deal of attention was being given officially to probable foursomes pairings, and it is possible that that point will be given consideration before the selection of the players who will oppose America.

The players chosen by America are:—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare (capt.), Mrs. O. S. Hill, Mrs. L. D. Cheney, Mrs. J. D. Crews, Mrs. F. Goldthwaite, Miss Marion Miley, Miss Charlotte Glutting and Miss P. Berg.

THE £2,000 TOURNAMENT

The final stage of the £2,000 Tournament will be decided at Bramshot, Hants, on March 31st, and following days. Two professionals qualified from the Irish Free State through the "Foreign Section" last week—W. Nolan and P. Mahon—and S. Fairweather secured the one place allocated to Northern Ireland.

In the pairings Nolan (Portmarnock) plays with S. S. Fields (South Beds), and Mahon (Royal Dublin) with W. Hughes (Clacton). Fairweather (Malone) is partnered with R. Dornan (South Staffs).

ROWING

A RECORD ROW BY THE DARK BLUES

Police were yesterday called to investigate damage which had been done during the week-end to Oxford University Boat Club's launch at Putney. She had been left at her moorings on Saturday, and an hour before practice began yesterday it was discovered that the float chambers of the two carburettors had been removed. Spare parts were telephoned for, and the launch, which had been in use only a few weeks, was out later in the day.

Oxford rowed from Chiswick steps to Hammersmith Bridge in 3 mins. 42 secs., which is 3 secs. faster than the times of Oxford in 1912 and Cambridge nine years later. The best feature of the row was that the crew kept their length and rhythm all the way. They had very smooth water, but there was a cross-wind at the finish of the row, which was unpaced.

Cambridge paddled from Putney to Chiswick in their first outing in the new boat, which they will use in the race. They also had a new set of oars. Everything was satisfactory, although a few minor adjustments had to be made to the boat. Later they paddled back to Putney. They went from Chiswick to Crabtree Wharf in one piece, and then picked up a scratch crew of Cambridge College men, who are to act as pacemakers. Clive Lewis, who was in the University boat in the earlier training, and Evan Williams, the Light Blues spare man, were at stroke and No. 7. In a minute's row off Putney Cambridge gave the scratch eight a short start, and striking 36 were about a canvas up at the end.

BOXING

PARDOE LEAVES THE RING

One of the most surprising finishes seen to a boxing contest was at the Stadium Club, London, last night. Tom Pardoe (Birmingham), former A.B.A. fly-weight champion, left the ring in the third round, and his opponent, Pat Warburton (Wales), was declared the winner. The bout was to have been over ten rounds, and in an even first Pardoe was spoken to by the referee four times. In the second the official, Mr. Wilfrid Smith, did not speak to either boxer; but in the third he addressed Pardoe. Immediately the Birmingham man jumped away from the middle of the ring, ducked under the ropes, and went to his dressing room. There was much shouting among the onlookers as Warburton was announced the winner. Pardoe afterwards said:—"It was no good going on like that. He warned me every time we clinched."

BILLIARDS

THE WORLD'S SNOOKER CHAMPIONSHIP

Sydney Lee (London), the former amateur billiards champion, and Clare O'Donnell (Canada), who is making his first appearance in England, are contesting the first heat of the world's professional snooker championship, which began at Thurston's Hall, London, yesterday. The event, which has been won by J. Davis every year since 1927, attracted a record entry of thirteen. The heats are the best of 31 frames, extending over three days. O'Donnell led on the first session by three frames to two, the scores in his favour being 49-39, 46-60, 58-48, 69-61, 51-62. Lee, however, had the best break—34—in the fifth frame. Interval—O'Donnell, 3 frames; Lee, two frames.

O'Donnell won in succession at night 70-41, 77-9 and 64-36, and Lee took the two remaining frames, 71-22 and 58-12. Close of play—O'Donnell, six frames; Lee, four.

A shipment of 483 Canadian cattle arrived yesterday morning, and will be on sale during the week. On offer, 120 Irish cattle and 240 lambs. In the dead meat section trade was slow for both beef and lambs. Choice small sides of beef realised 5½d. to 6¼d., heavy sides 5¼d. to 5½d., Irish hoggets 8¼d. to 9¼d., and spring lambs 1/2 to 1/3 per lb. (all on) for the carcases.

WOOL

BRADFORD.

Quotations keep very firm at fully late rates for all qualities of tops. Users are well covered, and business is quieter, but policy of top makers is dictated by strength of the raw material position. A firm quotation for 64's warp is 34d. Yarn prices keep very firm, with hardening tendency.

SPIRITED BIDDING AT MELBOURNE.

DUBLIN BUSIER

GUINNESS IN DEMAND

GREAT SOUTHERNS ADVANCE

Markets opened on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday with a slightly busier appearance, and locally a firm tone prevailed, but leading Industrials were easier for choice.

Amongst Free State Funds, the Second National Loan fell 25s. and the Third Loan dropped to 110⅝, but the Fourth Loan hardened to 98½. Land Bonds and War Loan held their previous levels. Dublin 5 per cent. 1950-'70 rose a point to 111.

In Banks, Nationals eased to 51s., but Provincial Old recovered to 53s. 6d.

Guinness Units came into request and rose 1s. 3d. Distillers Ord. declined to 99s. 3d., and Dublin Distillers "A" eased the turn.

Great Southern Rails were mostly buyers, and the Pref. jumped 2½ points to 53, and the Guaranteed advanced to 83.

Dublin Tram Ord. moved up to 11s. 3d., and in Draperies, Pim Bros. Pref. rose 2s.

Dublin Brick Ord. were 2s. 6d. higher, and Irish Sugar Pref. hardened to 23s. 9d., but Associated Chocolate Deb. and Parkes Deb. tended lower.

B.A.T. Ord. on strong demand spurted 2s. 3d., and Imperial Tobaccos were several pence higher. Coats Ord. fell 1s. and Courtaulds gave way to 50s. 6d.

Dunlop Rubbers closed 1s. lower, and Ford Motors drooped to 35s. 6d., but Imperial Chemicals held 39s. 6d. and Vickers Ord. were slightly better.

LONDON SUBDUED

GILT-EDGED CLOSE FIRM

Political uncertainties again overshadowed sentiment on the London Stock Markets yesterday, and in consequence the second week of the account commenced in subdued fashion. At the outset some Industrials were better on a continuance of favourable company statements, but subsequently this group became irregular, and prices in most other sections were inclined to ease. A small amount of speculative selling was noticeable, but the downward trend of quotations was attributable mainly to the fact that the majority of operators adhered to the policy of awaiting further clarification of the international situation before enlarging commitments. In the closing stages, however, a slightly better tendency developed, and eventually Gilt-edged stocks were firm, while trans-Atlantics, which displayed weakness at first owing to the disappointing news from Wall Street and the flood area, regained the greater part of initial losses. Industrials also closed above the worst levels, but, nevertheless, movements generally were against holders.

BRITISH FUNDS.

Quiet conditions existed in the Gilt-edged market, but a small amount of investment buying just before the close was sufficient to cause firmness, and at the finish War Loan and Conversion 3½ p.c. were a trifle better on balance, while others were maintained. India Stocks were quietly steady.

FOREIGN BONDS.

The chief point of interest in Foreign Bonds was an inquiry for Greek Bonds, which gained a point all round. Germans were less active, and the Potash Sevens dropped a point to 74, while French issues also weakened. On the other hand, Czecho-Slovakia Bonds were bought, and provided a bright feature. Outside the European group, Chinese issues encountered support, but Japanese were idle and dull, and Brazilians showed no decided tendency.

RAILS.

British Rails, although still quiet, kept firm, and, apart from shrinkages in L.M.S. Ord. and Southern Defd., values were not materially altered. Transactions in Foreign Rails resulted largely from selling orders, and the few movements were adverse. Argentine Great Western were notably dull, while Cordoba Central 1st Debs., Central Argentine Ord., and one or two others shed ½. Colonials, apart from a fresh decline in Canadas, were steady, but American Rails were usually a point down.

INDUSTRIALS.

Changes in Industrials were generally unfavourable, but the hope that international relations in Europe will improve prevented any marked fall in quotations. Tobacco, Stores, Electrical Equipments, and Motor issues were among those which finished fairly steady, while Aircrafts, in spite of paucity of business, were mostly maintained. In the Iron and Steel group profit-taking following publication of Firth and Brown's results caused a set-back in John Browns, but others were not appreciably changed. A notable movement in the Textile department was a further rise in Patons and Baldwins, the demand being in anticipation of good results for the current year. Elsewhere, Building issues were dull, and British Oxygen, Dunlop and several other leading Miscellaneous descriptions lost ground.

MINES.

The turnover in Mines was not large, and Diamonds, which were much quieter, were affected by profit-taking. Kaffirs were depressed by selling by operators, who preferred to secure profits rather than await the effects of the South African Budget statement to-morrow. West African and other Gold shares were mostly steady, and base metals were harder in places.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET

QUIET, BUT FAIRLY STEADY

Trading in the Industrial market yesterday remained on a small scale in all sections, operators not being disposed to initiate fresh business pending further developments in the international situation. Home descriptions, although quiet, seemed fairly steady on the whole. In some cases, however, values were allowed to sag owing to lack of interest.

After a dull start, the trans-Atlantic counters improved somewhat on receipt of supporting orders from Wall street. There was, however, little doing on this side, although prices finished fairly firm.

Cable and Wireless Stocks remained under the influence of the traffic index, the Pref. receding.

Among film shares, Associated British Pictures were inquired for on interim dividend expectations.

MOTORS DECLINE.

Business in Motor shares was on only a moderate scale, but owing to the paucity of demand prices in several cases moved to lower levels. Thomas Tillings were dealt in ex the scrip bonus of 25 per cent., allowing for which a decline of 9d. was recorded at 62s. 9d. The new shares were dealt in around the same level. Falls of 9d. were also shown by Austins and Fords. Standards gave way 1s.

Aircraft and kindred descriptions presented nothing of special interest. Faireys and British Aircraft closed easier, but slightly higher prices ruled for Hawker and Handley Page Participating Prefs.

Electrical Equipments commanded little attention, and price changes were unimportant.

IRON AND STEEL DULL.

Despite the excellent results announced over the week-end by Thomas Firth and John Brown and Vickers, Iron and Steel descriptions generally had a dull appearance. Firth and Browns declined and John Browns fell 10½d., while Vickers were unchanged at 26s. 3d. Swan Hunters became easier following the statements at the meeting, the price giving way 7½d.

Owing to the fears of an anthracite coal strike, Coal shares were dull.

Breweries moved within narrow limits, and showed no decided trend. Guinness came in for moderate attention on encouraging trading reports, closing 1s. up.

Among Tobaccos, Copes came in for attention in anticipation of the annual results, the price advancing ⅛. The rest had a dull appearance.

PATONS AND BALDWINS SUPPORTED.

Patons and Baldwins came in for support on improved trading prospects. The shares rose 1s. 6d. Fine Spinners Preference also were very firm, as were Calico Printers Preference. Coats, however, gave way, and Sewing Cottons, Bleachers, Spinners Ord. and Bradford Dyers were dull spots.

There was a sharp fall in Brocklehurst-Whiston, following the deferring of the Preference dividend until the full accounts are available. The Ordinary were marked down 2s. 6d., while the Preference gave way. Courtaulds were unchanged, but British Celanese issues lost ground.

There was little doing in the Stores section, apart from British Home Stores, which advanced to 39s.

In the Provision and Catering group, Cerebos were inquired for. Tate and Lyle were a few pence higher, as were Crosse and Blackwell Preference, and Lovell and Christmas.

Shipping descriptions remained on the quiet side. R.M. Realisation finished easier at 46s. 6d.

Only a small volume of business was transacted in the Miscellaneous section, and prices generally showed little change from the previous close.

OILS QUIET

In common with most other sections of the Stock Exchange, the Oil share market had a quiet appearance yesterday. For the greater part of the day, this section was uninteresting, and absence of demand rather than any pronounced selling pressure led to lower prices being quoted for the leaders, the more speculative descriptions becoming easier in sympathy. There was little doing in international counters on Continental account. The idleness of the earlier part of the day was relieved to some extent towards the close when rather more interest was displayed in the leading counters, a moderate demand leading to a recovery in prices. On balance, however, price changes were nearly all against holders, exceptions being provided by Burmahs, which registered a good improvement; by Anglo-Iranians, which also closed higher on balance, and by Shells, which made good an initial loss.

RUBBERS STEADY

Although the firmness of the commodity failed to stimulate any marked increase in general interest in Rubber shares yesterday, the market preserved a steady tone, and was not without bright features, as a few of the better class issues received good support and changed hands freely at enhanced prices. The chief movements were gains of 1s. 3d. to 34s. 4½d. in Kuala Lumpur and 1s. to 11s. in Pataling. Quiet business was effected in a steady commodity section, with spot rubber selling at 7½d. per pound. United Kingdom rubber stocks were reduced by 1,512 tons last week. This brings the total holding down to 150,409 tons, compared with 164,140 tons at the end of 1935.

LONDON "STREET" MARKET

Very little business was transacted in the street market last evening and dealers soon dispersed. Internationals as a whole had a better appearance. Nickels improved ¼ to 50, Steels were ½ higher at 64½ bid, and Radios closed ⅛ harder at 13 7/16. Canadas changed hands around 13 7/16, while New York Centrals were quoted at 35⅛. Chryslers finished around 96⅞, General Motors had buyers at 64½, and Packards were dealt in at 11⅛. Anaconda put on ⅛ to 7 7/16, American Celanese hardened to 5 15/16, and International Telephone were bid for at 16⅛.

Conditions were unchanged in Lombard street yesterday, short loans being in moderate demand at ½ per cent., and the three months' bill rate steady at 7/16 to 15/32 per cent. Only £95,000 of gold was available in the bullion market, and this was disposed of at the previous price of 140s. 11d. per fine ounce. Continued selling pressure on the French franc resulted in fairly active conditions in the London Foreign Exchange market yesterday. The flight of funds from Paris and a number of other Continental centres to London and New York received fresh impetus from reports circulated that the German reply to the Four-Power proposals would prove unfavourable. The London "Control," however, kept its usual grip on the market by "pegging" the sterling-franc exchange soon after the opening of the market, and subsequently maintaining the franc at a slightly lower level than on Saturday last for the remainder of the day. It was also reported that the American authorities intervened in the market with sales of dollars towards the close in an endeavour to check the steady rise in the dollar resulting from the flow of funds to New York. In consequence, after showing a steady appreciation through the morning, the dollar reacted later, to close slightly weaker in terms of the £.

Malta gave a great welcome and send-off to Admiral Fisher, Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Fleet, who stopped for a farewell visit on his homeward voyage to England in his flagship, Queen Elizabeth.

That's a load off my mind..

★ Life was pretty good to me . . . nicest wife in the world . . . and the youngsters. But I'd very little saved, and if anything were to happen to me . . . That was my one haunting dread.

Now I've put that right, definitely and finally. I've taken out an "assured income" policy with the Canada Life. This wonderful policy covers every possible contingency. I pay quite modest premiums. At the end of twenty years I get the capital sum (with generous bonus added if I have not already drawn my bonus when allotted).

Should anything happen to me before the end of the twenty year period a regular monthly income will be paid to my wife for the balance of the twenty years, and at the end of the period the full capital sum will be paid over.

No wonder I've stopped worrying. I've made the future absolutely secure. You can do as much. Post the coupon below.

CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO. Assets over £51,000,000

THIS COUPON WILL BRING YOU FULL DETAILS

To J. J. McConnell, Manager for I.F.S., Canada Life Assurance Co., 9, 10, 11 Grafton Street, Dublin.
Please let me have details of your "Secured Income" policy.

LONDON MINING MARKET

HESITANCY IN KAFFIRS

With the political outlook still very uncertain, considerable nervousness existed among investors and speculators, and consequently the volume of trading on the resumption of business yesterday was small. Most markets were awaiting developments, and, as regards Mines, Kaffirs were to some extent held back pending to-morrow's Budget statement by Mr. Havenga. This is expected to show a surplus, apart from mining taxation, of some £2,800,000, and this surplus, it is stated, will be utilised in debt redemption and for internal purposes generally. It is believed that the present complicated profits tax will be consolidated into one based on a sliding scale, and that the normal income tax, which was raised to 20 per cent. during the depression, will be restored to the old basis of 15 per cent. In any case the opinion is widely held that the new basis of taxation will materially relieve those companies which have been suffering from the incidence of the present impositions. There was, however, little enthusiasm in the market, and prices moved irregularly within narrow limits. In the Australian section Wiluna recovered Friday's decline, but the other leading counters were idle. Closing prices:—

Swedish Timber and Pulp

Hambros Bank report from Stockholm is as follows: "Timber: Business is brisk, and about 410,000 standards were sold at the middle of the month. Although sale of chemical pulp has now proceeded very far, and many buyers seem to have covered their requirements for a longer time ahead than has been usual in recent years, interest in new business is apparently still considerable," says Svensk Pappersmassetidning. "Sales of mechanical pulp have been improving, and fairly large contracts have been made for delivery both this year and in 1937. There is consequently good reason to think that the still unsold portion of the 1936 production of Swedish and Norwegian mechanical pulp will be disposed of; the Finnish mills have generally sold the whole of their output for this year."

Coming Announcements

Many important statements are looked for within the next week or two. Included in these are the following:—Imperial Chemical results, Ford and Morris Motor results, Rolls-Royce dividend, Albion Motor dividend, Bank of Scotland report, Coltness Iron accounts, Associated Electrical accounts, Insurance Company dividends, Cinema Company interims, Smart Brothers results, Tharsis Sulphur and Copper dividend, Marconi International Marine dividend, Union Corporation results.

London Trading in Cocoa

All the principal grades of cocoa are dealt in on the London market. West Africa, Bahia, Ceylon, Central America and the West Indies are the chief producing areas. An improvement in the price of cocoa would have an important effect on all the trading companies operating in or trading with West Africa (writes The Financial Times). Well known in this connection is the United Africa Company, which last week reported a jump in profit from £538,779 to £1,424,300. The company reported that, except in the case of cocoa, produce prices had shown a distinct improvement throughout the year, resulting in increased purchasing power in the West African colonies. An improvement, or otherwise, in United Africa's fortunes is reflected in the experience of the African and Eastern Trade Corporation, whose principal asset consists of 2,200,000 £1 shares in United Africa. The bulk of the cocoa shipments from the west coast is carried by Elder Dempster Lines and vessels of the United Africa Company. The number of uses of cocoa is steadily increasing. Well-known users are manufacturers of cocoa, chocolate biscuits, cakes, confectionery and ices. All cocoa and chocolate manufacturers are not experiencing good trading results. But Rowntree and Company continues to do well and reports very favourable figures for last year. Net profit in 1935 was £192,359, the highest level since 1929. The total dividend is raised by 2½ per cent. to 10 per cent. The current price of the commodity is 24s. 6d. per cwt. ex warehouse, London, which is practically unchanged on a year ago.

General Refractories

Evidence of continued expansion is shown by the report of General Refractories for 1935. Early in the month it was announced that the dividend for 1935 would be 15 per cent., as compared with 12½ per cent. for 1934 and 10 per cent. for 1933. For 1931 and 1932 there was no distribution. The gross profits for the past year from trading and investments amounted to £55,392, an increase of £12,720. Out of available balance £7,000 has been allocated to an income tax reserve (which has been separated from the general reserve), £1,000 to bad debts reserve, and £4,000 to depreciation reserve, while, after providing for the Ordinary dividend, a sum of £20,963 is carried forward, as compared with £15,265 brought into the year. In the previous twelve months £1,000 was placed to bad debts account. £3,000 to depreciation reserve, and £5,000 to consolidated income tax and general reserve account. During the past year £85,580 was received in share premiums, which sum was placed to various reserves, and, with the substantial amount thus at the disposal of the board, it was decided to allocate £20,000 to a propaganda development and research fund. It is proposed to increase the authorised capital by 300,000 10s. shares, and to offer to existing holders 70,000 of these in the proportion of one new for every ten held, at below market price, at the discretion of the directors. The issued capital will then consist of 770,000 shares, and of the unissued balance 130,000 shares will be required in connection with the merger with the Glanvoig Union Fireclay Company and another concern with whom the company is in negotiation. The existing 10s. shares are quoted at 30s. x.d.

Experimental Rubber Paving Fails

New Bridge street, E.C.4, will be repaved this year—with wood. Behind this announcement lies the admission that the two experimental stretches of rubber-paving have failed to prove themselves superior to the existing wood-paving in New Bridge street. The white rubber, laid near Tudor street, was first put down in 1926, but more than 75 per cent. of it has had to be renewed during the last ten years, whereas a large section of wood-paving has been down since 1916.

Midland Bank

The Midland Bank announces that Mr. Thomas Greenwell, formerly an assistant general manager, has been appointed a joint general manager.

Big German Shipping Lines Reorganise

The financial reorganisation of the two biggest shipping companies in Germany—the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg-Amerika Line—will be decided upon at their special general meetings convoked for April 23rd and 24th, respectively. These meetings will be asked to sanction a reduction of the share capital by about 80 per cent. and a subsequent increase.

Pease and Partners

The general run of Iron and Steel shares has attained a high level, and it is difficult to find a share now offering reasonable chances of capital appreciation. A leading Stock Exchange house, however, draws attention to the prospects of Pease and Partners, who are reported to be receiving large orders for hematite iron for armament purposes. In November, 1932, the company underwent reconstruction, the Ordinary shares being written down from £1 to 10s., and being now quoted around 9s. Taking the credit notes as a prior charge, the issued capital of the company is now estimated at £2,618,653 in prior charges and £939,179 in Ordinary shares, a total capitalisation which it is considered will not look excessive when regard is had to the present volume of the company's business.

SHOWING THE NEW WORLD SOMETHING

The newest world has something to show to the new. American visitors to Southern Rhodesia have been impressed by the Victoria Falls, which dwarf Niagara. One visitor from New Jersey, who lives, as she put it, "on the other side of the world," said of the Colony's product: "I think they are terrifying. Niagara can't be compared with them." Victoria Falls are 420 feet high and one mile wide, compared with Niagara's 158 feet height and half-mile width.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS

Ayer Panas Rubber.—Final dividend of 5 per cent., making 7½ per cent. for the year (against 10 per cent.).

Brocklehurst-Whiston Amalgamated.—Half-year's payment on 7 per cent. Preference shares postponed until end of financial year.

British Insulated Cables.—The full report of British Insulated Cables (Ltd.) for the year ended December 31st, 1935, states that the profit on trading, dividends on investments, interest, transfer fees, etc., amounts to £672,591, against £558,759. To this has to be added the balance brought forward, £301,386, making a total of £973,977, against £859,484. From this falls to be deducted the items detailed in the profit and loss account amounting to £195,117, against £191,431, leaving a disposable balance of £778,860, against £668,053. From this the following appropriations have been made:—Depreciation on buildings, plant, machinery, etc., £125,000, against £100,000, and reserve account £100,000, against £100,000. The payment of a further dividend of 10 per cent. on the Ord. share capital is recommended, making, with the interim dividend already paid, a total dividend of 15 per cent. for the year ended December 31st, 1935, and, in addition, a cash bonus of 5 per cent. (both subject to income tax), which absorbs £250,000, carrying forward a balance of £303,860, compared with a sum brought in of £301,386. The directors report that the substantial increase in profit is a result of increased turnover, new plant and buildings, and increased efficiency.

British Power and Light.—The report for the year ended December 31st last of the British Power and Light Corporation states that revenue received together with interest and sundry receipts, amounted to £178,583 and after deducting expenses there remains £173,016. Provision for income tax required £37,000, and the Pref. dividends for the year £46,500. The directors now recommend a final dividend on the Ord. shares of 4 per cent., less tax, making 6 per cent., compared with 3½ per cent. for the previous year, leaving a balance to be carried forward of £41,195. For the year 1934 revenue received amounted to £100,373, and, after deducting expenses, there remained £93,991.

Mr. James Dwyer, who has been elected Chairman of Eustace and Co., Ltd., Cork, and Francis Spaight and Sons, Ltd., Limerick, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. John Dinan. Mr. Dwyer, whose father was one of the original directors of Eustace and Co., Ltd., is Chairman and Managing Director of Dwyer and Co., Ltd., Cork, and Director of the National Bank, Ltd., and other companies.

Canadian Western Lumber.—The report for the year ended December 31 last states that the net operating profit before providing for depreciation, depletion of timber limits, and income tax, amounted to $673,270. Income from investments brought in $507, interest (net) $36,944. After providing for fixed and other charges the net profit was $300,679 and $71,545 was brought forward. Payments to trustees for 5 per cent. Debenture stockholders for sinking fund purposes absorbed $124,497, and the balance at December 31, 1935, payable to trustees carried to balance sheet amounted to $247,727. For the previous year the net operating profit was $380,571, when the net profit amounted to $150,245.

Canadian Pacific Railway.—The report for 1935 shows that the net earnings declined $1,586,499 to $22,397,524. Working expenses, including taxes, amounted to 82.73 per cent. of gross earnings, as compared with 80.58 per cent. in 1934. The report refers to the measures that have been taken towards a closer co-operation with the national system. The arrangements previously in force have continued (says the report), and certain others have advanced sufficiently for the preparation of formal agreements. In some of these line abandonments will be involved, which will require the approval of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada. The total annual economy to be derived from the arrangements already in effect and from those recommended to the Joint Executive Committee has been estimated at slightly less than $1,600,000, one-half of which will accrue to each company. At the meeting to be held in Montreal on May 6 stockholders are to be asked to approve the issue of $65,000,000 of Ordinary Capital Stock to be issued from time to time as the directors shall decide.

F.M.S. Rubber Planters.—The directors recommend a final dividend of 3½ per cent., making 6 per cent. for 1935, which compares with a total distribution of 7½ per cent. for the preceding year.

Ordinary dividend 3½ per cent., first since 7 per cent. for 1929, £10,500; to general reserve £14,597; forward £7,617.

Mazawattee Tea.—Trading profits are up by £7,440 to £13,438; £2,500 (against £5,000) is transferred from tax reserve. The full 5½ per cent. is paid on the Pref. shares, but no Ord. distribution is to be made. The last payment on the latter shares was 10 per cent. for 1933.

Midland Electric Corporation for Power Distribution.—The accounts for the year ended December 31, 1935, show that the net profit for the year amounted to £108,862, and £34,509 was brought in. After making allowances for income tax and loan and Debenture interest, and the transfer to reserve account of £20,000, the directors recommend the payment of a further dividend of 5 per cent. upon the Ordinary shares, making 8 per cent. for the year, leaving to be carried forward £36,243. The above net profit compares with £95,668 in the previous year, when a similar dividend was supplemented by a capital bonus of 33 1-3 per cent.

Northern Securities Trust.—Dividend of 6 per cent. actual, less tax, on the Ordinary stock for the year (against 5 per cent.).

New Vaal River Diamond and Exploration Co.—Profit £3,702, or nearly double the 1934 figure; £2,138 is written off to depreciation, and, after providing for the 2½ per cent. dividend (the same as in 1934), the carry forward is raised from £5,305 to £9,414. The report says that the improvement in the diamond market previously referred to has been sustained.

Nundydroog Mines.—Total sales of bullion during 1935 totalled £783,685, and after deducting £38,727 royalty payable to the Mysore Government, there is a net revenue for the year of £749,531, against £737,909 in 1934. Expenditure, including £52,926 additional royalty payable to the Mysore Government totalled £431,967, leaving a profit of £317,563 compared with £320,875 for the preceding year. THE AMERICAN MARKETS

ALL THE CHIEF GROUPS FINISH HIGHER

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Even in face of the rather confusing developments in foreign affairs, the strength of Farm Implement issues encouraged the sentiment of the Stock Exchange as a whole, and all the chief groups quietly hardened. The turnover was relatively small at 1,680,000 shares.

The buoyancy of the Farm Implement group was an early feature of the market, Deere rising 3 and Case 8 points before mid day.

Notwithstanding some late profit-taking, prices finished around the day's best levels, and the market closed firm. Gains of fractions to one dollar were registered by the Industrial, Mining, Steel, Utility, Oil and Motor divisions. Particular buoyancy was shown by Union Pacific, Youngstown Sheet, Western Union and Harvester, while Case ended with an advance of six dollars. Allied Chemical was also strong.

Prime paper was quoted at ¾ to 1 per cent. Open market discount rates were unchanged at 3/16 per cent. bid and ⅛ per cent. asked for ninety-day Bank bills, and ⅜ per cent. bid and 3/16 per cent. asked for six months bills.

Sterling exchange opened ⅜c. down at 4.95⅝, but improved during the morning to 4.96. The rate dropped to 4.95½ in the afternoon, but finally rallied and closed ⅛c. lower, compared with the previous close at 4.95⅞.

Silver was unchanged at 44¾c.

THE U.S. FLOODS

CITIZENS FLEE FROM CINCINNATI

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

With 171 known dead, hundreds injured and nearly half a million persons homeless, due to the flood disasters of the past week, a vast task of restoration confronts the Eastern States of the U.S.A. Damage to property is estimated at 500,000,000 dollars (£100,000,000).

Portsmouth and Cincinnati (Ohio) are still menaced by the swirling waters of the swollen Ohio River. Hundreds of citizens in Cincinnati are deserting their homes, and in Portsmouth guards are anxiously watching the 60ft. dyke protecting the town, which is now less than twelve inches above the surface.

In New England and Pennsylvania, however, the floods have receded, and life is gradually returning to normal. Mr. Harry Hopkins and six other prominent officials of the W.P.A. (Federal Relief Organisation) are leaving for the flood areas to-night to direct relief operations in person.

M.P.'S WIFE INJURED IN ACCIDENT

CAR FALLS DOWN EMBANKMENT

Lady Fildes, wife of Sir Henry Fildes, National Liberal M.P. for Dumfries, was gravely injured near her home last night in a motoring accident.

Soon after she had left her home, Endon House, Kerridge, near Macclesfield, driving alone, her saloon car went through a hedge on a steep hill, and fell fifteen feet down an embankment.

The car overturned, a door was wrenched off, and Lady Fildes was flung out, receiving severe head injuries.

Lady Fildes was taken home, where her condition late last night was reported to be serious. She is a magistrate. Her husband formerly represented Stockport in Parliament.

JUMP IN MOTOR INDUSTRY'S PROFITS.

The Dow-Jones Service says that a gain of at least 35 per cent. in the aggregate net profits of the automobile industry—exclusive of the Ford Motor Co.—now appears to be likely for the first quarter, compared with the corresponding quarter of last year, when the amount was $38,000,000. Moreover, if the maximum possibilities are realised the first quarter's net profit may approach close to the 1935 peaks of about $62,000,000 for the second quarter and $66,000,000 for the final quarter.

NEW 4 PER CENT. CONVERTIBLE BOND ISSUE.

Bonds maturing on July 1st this year. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has agreed to take any of the new bonds which are not subscribed. The Great Northern announced on March 4th that stockholders would be privileged to subscribe to the new 4 per cent. Bonds on a basis of $40 principal amount in bonds for each share payable either in cash or in the 7 per cent. bonds maturing in July 1936.

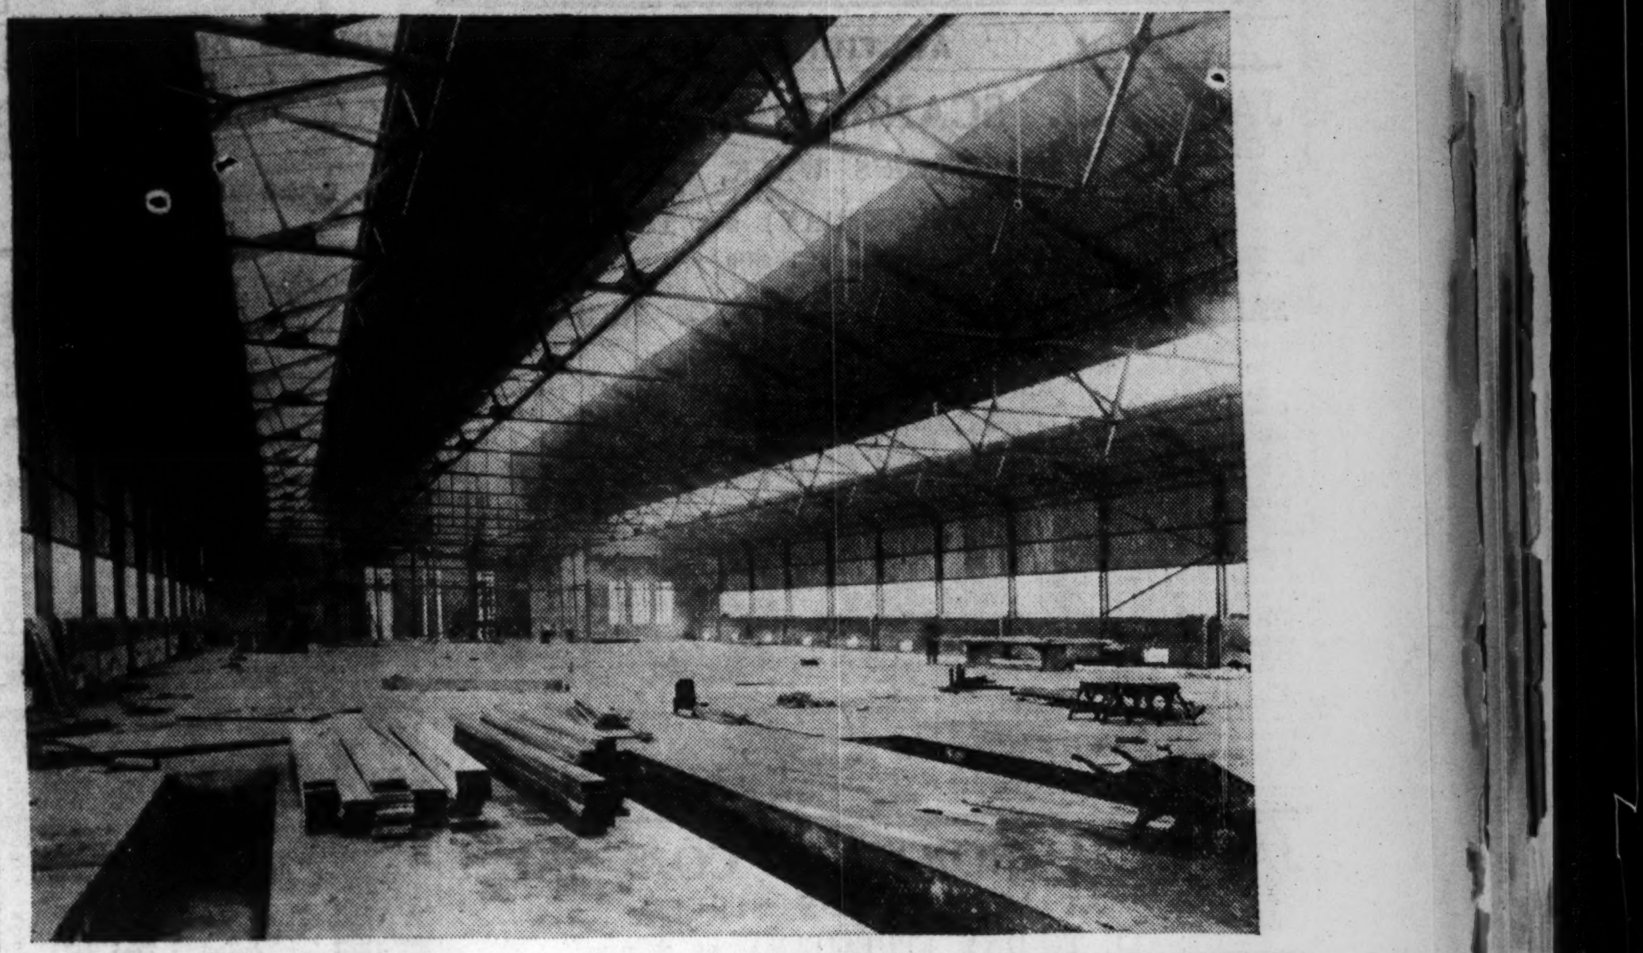
NEW GARAGE AND STORES FOR DUBLIN TRAMS



THE illustration shows the new building at Donnybrook, which is to be occupied as a garage, permanent-way shop, electrical stores and cement stores for the Dublin United Tramways Co., Ltd.

The main building is 360 feet long by 105 feet wide by 20 feet headroom to underside of roof trusses; the washing shed in front is 61 feet long by 53½ feet wide by 20 feet headroom, and at one side of this are the timekeeper's office, men's room, lavatories, 48 feet long by 21 feet wide.

The total floor area covered is 42,070 sq. feet. Of this, 22,154 sq. feet is taken up for garage, including 840 sq. feet for garage stores; 3,263 sq. feet for washing shed, 1,008 sq. feet for timekeeper's office, men's room, lavatories; 1,260 sq. feet for electrical stores, 1,680 sq. feet for cement stores, and the remaining 12,705 sq. feet for permanent-way shop, including lavatories.

A reinforced concrete floor was built over cement stores and garage store, and a carpenter's shop formed on same.

Particular attention had to be given to the stanchion foundations of the large building, on account of the bad nature of the ground and the large single span trusses, 105 feet centre to centre of stanchions, which were used to leave clear floor space.

The foundations were given a wide spread, and all bound together with concrete walling under floor level.

The floor is six inches thick, reinforced with No. 9 B.R.C. fabric. Repair pits and four washing platforms were formed in same, and the whole floor of garage and washing shed laid to levels to drain into catch pits, which were trapped with a petrol interceptor near connection to main sewer.

A concrete wall, 5 feet 6 inches high by 12 inches thick between stanchions, is formed all round large building, and the walls of washing shed, offices and front gables were carried up to roof level.

The sides and end of large building over concrete wall are closed in with "Bigsix" corrugated cement asbestos sheeting and patent glazing, 5 feet 6 inces high on steel framing.

The steel roof trusses are carried on stanchions, and the roof covering is of "Bigsix" corrugated cement asbestos sheeting, with four stretches of patent glazing, 8 feet wide, the whole length of large building, and two stretches, 8 feet wide, the whole length of washing shed roof, carried on steel purlins.

The gutters and rainwater pipes are cement asbestos.

The roof over timekeeper's office, men's room and lavatories is covered with three-ply ruberoid, laid on timber joists and sheeting.

The front gable of large building and all walls of washing shed and offices were plastered, the panels coloured a brick-colour.

The plastering contract was carried out by Messrs. W. Carroll, Drumcondra.

Two 5,000-gallon petrol tanks were installed in underground concrete chambers, near front entrance, connected with pipes to petrol pumps in washing shed.

The garage portion of building will accommodate 38 'buses, leaving space for repairs.

The steel-work was designed by the Tramway Company's Engineer, Mr. P. F. O'Sullivan, M.Ins.C.E.I., and the same along with roof and side covering and glazing and entrance gates were provided and erected by Messrs. Smith and Pearson, Ltd., Newcomen Iron Works, Dublin.

The building work and drainage were carried out by the Dublin United Tramways Company's Building Department, and the entire work was carried out in accordance with the plans, specifications and details prepared in the Engineer's Office, under the supervision of the Company's Engineer, Mr. P. F. O'Sullivan, M.Inst. C.E.I.

The Clerk of Works was Mr. P. J. Murphy.

Mr. Thos. Cashell, Barnacullia, Sandford, County Dublin, supplied the sand and gravel.

Steelwork by SMITH & PEARSON LTD.

Here's another addition to the long list of big Irish industrial buildings for which Smith and Pearson have been contractors. The steelwork for the new D.U.T.C. 'Bus Depot at Donnybrook was fabricated and erected by us, to the design and under the supervision of P. F. O'Sullivan, Esq., M.I.C.E.I., Engineer in Chief to the Dublin United Tramways Co. There's a reason why so many of the big contracts come to Smith and Pearson! Let us quote for your next job.

KU KLUX KLAN CRIME?

EX-POLICEMEN ON TRIAL

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

TAMPA (FLORIDA), Monday.

Three ex-policemen come up for trial here to-morrow, charged with kidnapping and second degree murder in connection with the death last November of Joseph Shoemaker, a Labour leader

Shoemaker, with two friends, was kidnapped outside the local police station, taken to a desolate spot fourteen miles from here, stripped and flogged with raw hide whips. Afterwards their lacerated bodies were covered with hot tar and feathers.

Worse injured than the others, Shoemaker lay for seven hours in the cold and darkness before he was found and taken to hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate a leg. He died in agony nine days later.

A revival of the Ku Klux Klan activities is declared to be at the bottom of the crime.

BRAZIL "STATE OF WAR" MYSTERY

Hint of fresh trouble in Brazil is given in the following message received by Reuter early this morning:—

RIO DE JANEIRO, Monday.

A "state of war" was decreed here to-night.

The message was despatched from Rio de Janeiro at 9.20 Brazilian time (twenty minutes after midnight this morning G.M.T.). There has been no news of any trouble in Brazil since the short-lived red revolt of last November, when rebels were for a time in control at Natal and Pernambuco.

BRAY ROAD ACCIDENT

Eric Christian, a young man, of Convent road, Bray, was knocked off his bicycle near Cabinteely, County Dublin, last night and injured. He was unconscious when taken to Loughlinstown Hospital, but recovered consciousness shortly after admission. His condition is not serious.

Charged with the murder of a policeman who surprised him while carrying out a robbery, Albert Mahieu was condemned to death yesterday in Paris. When he heard that the death sentence was to be passed on him he tore free of his guards in the prisoners' waiting-room and flung himself against the wall, trying to break his skull.

SCULPTOR THREATENS ACTION

COVE MEMORIAL CRITICISM

COVE, Monday.

Mr. Jerome Conor, designer of the Lusitania Memorial now under construction at Cove, arrived here to-day to superintend further work on the monument.

Replying to criticisms passed at Friday's meeting of the local Council, Mr Conor said that one of the members, Mr. McCarthy Morrogh, had stated that the monument in its present state was dreadful-looking. That public statement would result in considerable damage to the sculptor and builder of the monument "I will give its author another opportunity to get into the limelight by making him defendant in a legal action for libel and damages."

At the meeting referred to it was proposed and unanimously adopted that the originators of the memorial be notified that if the work was not completed within six months permission for the site would be withdrawn.

OIL FOR ITALY

AN ARRANGEMENT WITH ALBANIA

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

TIRANA, Monday.

One of the three loans which the Italian Government is making to Albania under the terms of the recently concluded financial and economic agreements is of 10,000,000 gold francs, payable in five yearly instalments, to be devoted to the development of agriculture. This loan is repayable in 50 years, interest being at the rate of one per cent. It is guaranteed by oil concessions.

Further, an economic agreement signed with the Italian State Railway includes a concession in a new oil-bearing zone and an extension of existing concessions. A refinery is to be established in Albania to produce oil to meet the country's needs at specially reduced rates.

WAR MINISTER AND CLERGY

SYMPATHY WITH HENRY II.

Mr. A. Duff Cooper, Minister for War, last night criticised the action of the Dean and Chapter of Liverpool Cathedral in omitting prayers for the Cabinet at a Service on Sunday night.

Speaking at the annual political dinner of the Birmingham Conservative Club, Mr. Duff Cooper asked: "Who are these ignorant clergymen who presume to give His Majesty's Government advice on foreign affairs? I am a devout and loyal member of the Church of England, and in ordinary circumstances should hesitate to give any clergyman my opinion upon a religious subject, but since they have burst in upon politics and made their voice heard, and expressed opinions in a way that has made them the laughing stock of the country, I would venture to advise them and say I always understood it was the teaching of our religion to pray even for our enemies, certainly for the people who had made, in our opinion, a great mistake.

"Really, the attitude of some of these clerics who barge in on the political arena makes me feel some sympathy with Henry the Second, who in a moment of haste expressed an opinion which led to an unexpected vacancy at Canterbury."

GOVERNMENT DEFEATS IN INDIA

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW DELHI, Monday.

The Government was defeated twice to-day in the Indian Legislative Assembly.
